

Over $309,000,000

New Life Insurance

Written and Paid for in 1908!

The Most Remarkable Year

In the History of

The Prudential

Paid Policyholders Over 160 Million Dollars

THE PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE CO. OF AMERICA

Incorporated as a Stock Company by the State of New Jersey

JOHN F. DRYDEN, President

HOME OFFICE, NEWARK, N. J.

Agents Wanted. Good Income. Promotion.

BRANCH OFFICES IN PORTLAND:

JOHN PAUER, Superintendent, Rothchild Building

P. M. HOWARD, Manager (Ordinary Dept.), Corbett Building

The New Monthly Income Policy Provides Support for Your Family or for Your Own Old Age. INVESTIGATE IT!

112

INTERSTATE FISH TREATY PROPOSED

Two Resolutions Introduced at Olympia Favor Such Course on Question.

BOUNDARY LINE INVOLVED

Washington Shy on Latter Question, Fearing Oregon Would Object to Reopening the Matter Now.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR JONES

Washington Legislature Formally Declares Yakima Man Elected.

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ALYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special).—

ing of yesterday. The galleries of the House, where the session convened at noon, were filled with spectators, numbering among them the Governor, Mrs. M. E. Hay and the wives of many of the members. The canvass of the vote consisted merely of reading the minutes of the separate sessions of yesterday and the making of a formal announcement that Wesley L. Jones had been elected United States Senator, to succeed Levi Ankeny.

This announcement was made by Lieutenant-Governor Hay, as presiding officer, and it brought forth energetic handclapping from the floor of the House and from the galleries.

WAR OVER WATER PROBLEM

Eugene Councilmen Discharge City Treasurer.

EUGENE, Or., Jan. 20.—(Special).—The City Council of Eugene is meeting with considerable difficulty in securing the right of way for the new municipal power plant from the McKenzie River to Eugene. This, however, is not from the property-owners along the proposed route, but from City Treasurer Reiser, who refuses to pay warrants drawn on him by the Council. There have been some exceptions taken to the action of the Council by those who think that the Council is exceeding its authority.

Bonds were voted by the city for a water supply adequate for the needs of the city. The Council, through the City Attorney, interpreted this to mean that it conferred the right to install a power plant sufficient for pumping the water, and has gone ahead with the intention of providing power sufficient not only for the present, but also for the future needs of the city. To this some have taken exception and have presented a petition to the Circuit Court to have the Council enjoined from proceeding with the proposed power plant. The members of the Council have been notified of such petition, but claim that they have not been served with any restraining order from the court.

The Council has accordingly gone ahead and secured the right of way from all the property-owners, with one exception, and has filed the deeds and issued warrants for payment of same. But the City Treasurer, afraid of laying himself and his bondsmen liable, yesterday refused to pay a number of these warrants, when presented, though he had previously been advised by the City Attorney that he was not personally liable for any warrant legally authorized by the Council.

Suicide Had Romance.

RAWHIDE, Nev., Jan. 20.—Investigation into the affairs of Thomas H. Niblock, the broker, who committed suicide, shows that his real name was Thomas H. Frooban, of the well-known family of that name of West Downs, Ireland. He served in the Commons from West Downs and in the zenith of his career eloped with a celebrated Irish beauty. Four years later he left her in Paris and went to New York. The day he left his companion was killed in a train wreck and a man crushed beyond recognition in the same compartment of the wrecked train was buried as Frooban by the members of his family. Frooban read of the affair, but maintained silence and allowed his family to continue in the belief that he was a victim of the wreck. He came to Nevada and won and lost a fortune before he committed suicide in a fit of despondency.

Save money at Rosenthal's shoe sale.

INSPIRING CHARGE TO NEW PRESIDENT

Bishop Hughes Outlines What Leader of Willamette University Can Obtain.

TASK WORTHY OF EFFORT

Boundless Influence of College Training Shown, and New President Urged to Be Loyal to His Trust.

Large Constituency.

Continuing, the bishop said: "You have come here to work with eight circles of constituency. Moving from the outside in, they are as follows: The general public, the educational public, the church, the City of Salem, the alumni, the trustees, the faculty and the students. . . . No one can possibly set any boundaries to your influence in so far as the general public is concerned. The most far-reaching force on earth is a college. An institution like this furnished the man through whose hands passed the correspondence leading to the Russo-Japanese War and furnished another man who acted as spokesman of the peace commissioners on the New England coast. . . . Your college is not a large one, and yet it is so large that it will cover the earth with its power.

"Your alumni will enter public service, and if they carry with them the spirit of this school, they will stand for civic righteousness, be valiant servants of civic reform and help to bring in the golden age of civic life. . . . To the educational forces of your state your relation is to be intimate. You will cultivate friendly feelings toward the other higher institutions of learning. You will not attack the State University; for you will feel that it is un-American to demand that all of our students be trained in denominational institutions. You will not attack the great privately endowed universities of your state; for how can a man cast a stone at his partners? You will not decry other church colleges, for are they not co-workers with this college in their very form of service?"

Appeal for Broadness.

"Some there are who know less of the five points of Calvinism and the five points of Arminianism than they know about the Five Points of New York. . . . There is no such thing as Methodist mathematics, and there is also no such thing as Oregon chemistry. But there is a University of Oregon, and there is a Willamette University, and both institutions have their spirit. Let us give each spirit its own freedom, and above all let us stop talking nonsense. . . . A man must live with the worst both in his city and his college. The large people in Salem will be with you in genuine sympathy; it may be that you will have to be patient with some very small and some very good folk whose nearness to your work is a doubtful institutional blessing but a certain personal discipline. . . . "If ever some impudent fellow, seeing that you take part in local civic affairs and stand on your feet to speak like a man, shall intimate that you are a foreigner, give him no heed. A college presidency disfranchises no man; and it should not be allowed to sap his independence. . . . Owing to the recent difficulties in the school, resulting in the suspension of several students for certain pranks, special interest attaches to that part of the charge of the bishop relating to the relations of the trustees and the president. "These men have made you president," declared the bishop. "Be president. But do not tell anybody that you are going to be president. Just be; that's all."

The inaugural address of President Hoeman was a scholarly effort, dealing in part with the career and life work of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist Church.

Bishop W. C. Smith, of Portland, presided.

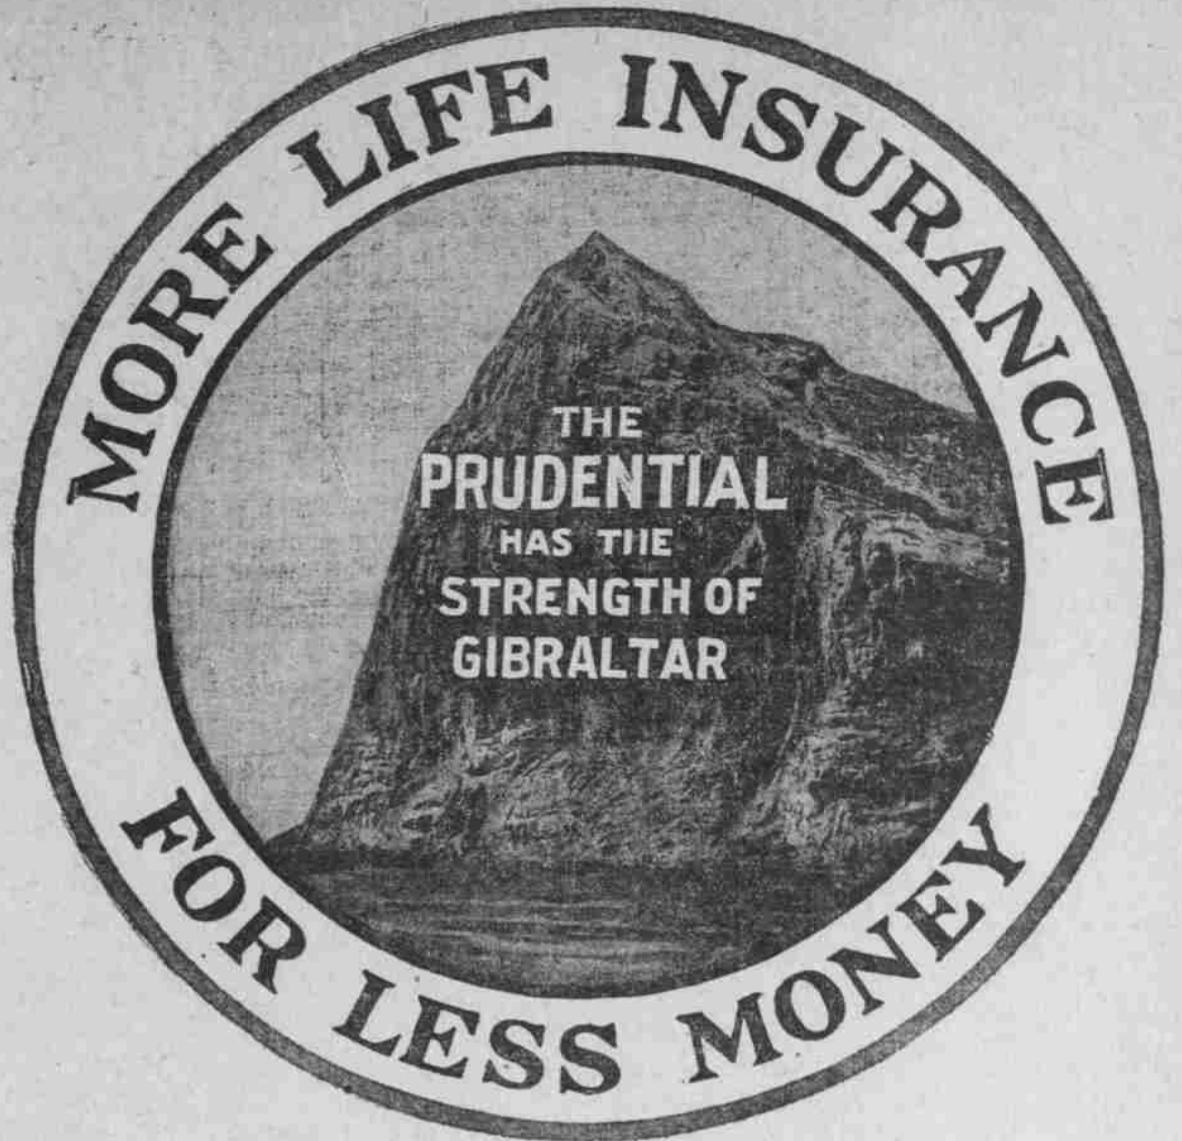

The bishops, the faculty, the trustees, the students of the university and of the High School marched from the chapel to the First Methodist Church, which was filled to overflowing when the opening prayer was said by Dr. D. L. Rader, of Portland.

Cottage Grove Buys Park.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., Jan. 20.—(Special).—A special city election was held here today on the question of the city purchasing a five-acre tract of land from J. C. Long for a park. The land is in the corporate limits and will be beautified, aided by the ladies' club, which has worked hard to this end. The land is to cost $33,000.

Rosenthal's great shoe sale is on.

"My Future Son-in-Law"

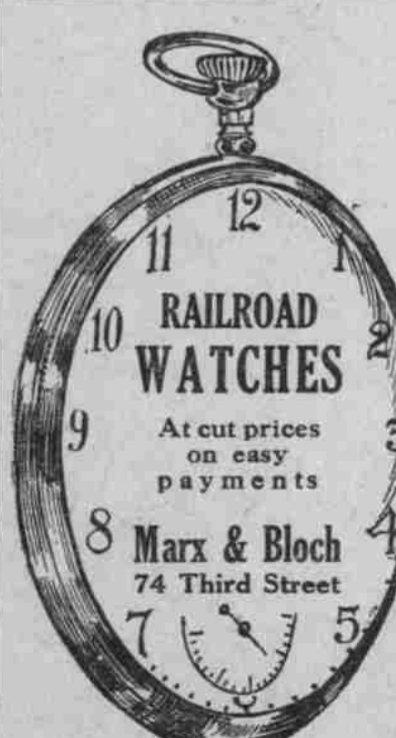

has the most refreshing mother-in-law a man could wish—at least if you can judge by what she writes in the February WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION. Her first advice to her marriageable daughter is a gem of shrewdness. "Choose a healthy one," says she. And she has other sane ideas—practical sedatives for this valentine season—which will interest every mother and daughter, to say nothing of prospective and practicing husbands. In fact,

This Special Valentine Number

is filled to the covers with features for all the family. From the "heart of hearts" cover design, by Howard Chandler Christy, to the four advertisement on the last page, it is brimful of charming pictures, strong helpful articles, and page after page of practical departments for women—all and more in the February

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

At All News-stands

BE ONE OF A HUNDRED COLUMBIA TRUST COMPANY