

The Oregonian

PORTLAND, OREGON.

Entered at Portland, Oregon, Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.

Subscription Rates—Invariably in Advance.

(By Mail) Daily, Sunday included, one year, $1.00

How to Reach—Send postage money order, express order or personal check.

Postage Rates—10 to 14 pages, 1 cent; 15 to 20 pages, 2 cents; 21 to 24 pages, 3 cents.

Eastern Business Office—The E. C. Beckwith Special Agency, 1000 Broadway, New York.

Portland, Saturday, Jan. 23, 1909.

THE PROTEST AGAINST THE ROOSEVELT HUNT.

Professional humanitarians may sometimes be too awfully mild, pitiful and humane to permit them the use of their customary good sense when dealing with their favorite topic of kindness to animals.

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

Our humanitarians of Oregon are disposed to second and support the protest that comes from similar societies in other states against the intention of President Roosevelt to go to Africa on a hunting expedition for "big game."

from the long historical past. It is not likely ever to be so regarded. But torture of animals, even of ferocious animals, is matter of another kind. Universal humanity protests against it.

But, admitting man's right to kill animals that would destroy him, what right has he, on the doctrine of our life of any kind, to the future to lead him to cease his unremitting labors for the creation of more millions than he can ever spend, even in a quiet life at a health resort.

With all due respect to Mr. Hill, he has never allowed the food and clothing of the people of the future to lead him to cease his unremitting labors for the creation of more millions than he can ever spend, even in a quiet life at a health resort.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

socialists and make a raid on the other hard-working, thrifty man who has not been spending his principal along with the interest. In the opinion of Mr. Isensee, Mr. Roosevelt is today the greatest and best industrial socialist we have in the United States.

With all due respect to Mr. Hill, he has never allowed the food and clothing of the people of the future to lead him to cease his unremitting labors for the creation of more millions than he can ever spend, even in a quiet life at a health resort.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

business, and it has and can prove the ability to get better results than have only a slight interest in the matter. Portland has grown in size and strength since the late Captain Flavel with a paid lobby so successfully maintained his pilotage and towage monopoly at the entrance of the river; the tail no longer wags the dog.

Mene Keeshol, a young Eskimo, who is the sole survivor of a band brought to New York by Peary in 1895, is studying civil engineering in New York. As soon as he finishes his education he will start on a polar expedition of his own.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a deputy in the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, is at Salem, to urge that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 a year, because he has so many arduous labors to perform.

FIRST STEPS IN NEWSPAPERDOM.

Discomragement of One Young Man Knocking at the Gate. PORTLAND, Jan. 19.—(To the Editor.) It is not so much yourself to whom I would address myself, as others in the newspaper business, who may read a statement such as this in your far-reaching publication, and who may be favored with a more generous amount of time to think over a matter that is comparatively unimportant.

It happens that I wish to be a writer in the newspaper business, and to that end I have advertised in "want ad" columns of The Oregonian. By this medium I have secured several interviews with gentlemen who run newspapers—and if I am not improving, I should like to tell of an experience or two.

One gentleman I recall in particular, who had an immediate inclination to pull me along up the steps of a train en route to his town and paper, only to push me back again with the chill invitation to wait until he had time to consider my qualifications. He said that he would like to see me, but that he was not at home, and when they return, write books and magazine articles. Keeshol will vary the monotony of this type of polar search by going as far as he can each year and making a permanent camp, from which he will start the following year, and by this method he seems confident that he can reach the long-sought northern will-o'-the-wisp.

The refusal of Attorney-General Bonaparte to appear before the Senate committee on judiciary and explain the Tennessee Coal & Iron deal does not fail to excite criticism. It is a transaction of National importance. If it was conducted in accordance with law, there is no reason for concealing the particulars from the public. The mere fact that neither the President nor his Attorney-General has shown a willingness to have the affair thoroughly ventilated will cause a far greater commotion than anything which the investigation would bring to light.

A man who has been growing fruit in Oregon for thirty years has moved to Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, and proposes to introduce Hood River methods in apple-growing. He is nearly three-score years, but has the optimism of the West, and will show his neighbors how he can get as much for a box of apples as they get for a barrel. Proximity to the big markets is in his favor, and it is safe to say his old age is assured for many years, and by this method he seems confident that he can reach the long-sought northern will-o'-the-wisp.

In support of the enormously increased cost of the Health Officer's department as compared with the economical administration of Dr. Wheeler's present incumbent asserts that Dr. Wheeler's statistics was improper. The increased cost of the office amounts to several hundred dollars per month, a sum which would employ a large number of statisticians if that is what the city needs when it employs a health officer.

Mr. Stephenson, who spent over $100,000 to get the primary nomination for Senator in Wisconsin—and got it—has escaped investigation by the Wisconsin Legislature, which has decided to let the matter of his campaign expenses drop. Stephenson is Wisconsin's great producer, and naturally they don't want to worry him.

The "home talent" among the Central and Southern Oregon lawyers ought to be strongly in favor of Senator Kellaher's bill, which is intended to keep Judge Webster in Portland instead of permitting him to spend so much of his time on private legal business in remote parts of the state.

Mr. Shanahan should read closely the news of the primary nomination for Senator in Wisconsin—and got it—has escaped investigation by the Wisconsin Legislature, which has decided to let the matter of his campaign expenses drop. Stephenson is Wisconsin's great producer, and naturally they don't want to worry him.

Governor-elect Cosgrove has started north to take the oath of office. Several hundred expectant office-seekers will start for home soon after Cosgrove's arrival, for the offices in Washington, as in Oregon, have never been equal to the number of men who wanted them.

The Northwest Sabbath Association, whose petition for a "proper" observance of the Lord's day will be sent to the Legislature, makes two fine distinctions in stopping everything else. They should include streetcars, for those who desire can walk to church.

Ten dollars a day pay, four-dollar rooms and one-dollar meals for Democrats who are members of the Oregon Commission at the Seattle Fair, and think of the Republicans who should be spending that money! The world feels cold on the outside!

Another of those timely vetoes by Mayor Lane came yesterday, when he refused to sign the ordinance appropriating $3000 to remove the snow from the streets. Fine judgment to stop payment before the chinook presents its bill.

The frolics of the rich make the virtues of the poor. The nasty details of the latest London scandal had served to show that idle time is the most expensive thing a woman may have, unless it be a French maid who wants to tell.

Mr. Hopkins, people's choice for Senator in Illinois, continues to be shy about fifteen votes at Springfield. In these days of Statement No. 1, and the like, it is well enough not to overlook the Legislature.

The dead-end overhead wire continues to levy its tribute now and then. But then we suppose it would be hazardous to put the wires underground on account of the danger of earthquakes.

WHY DID SOME SCHOOLS FAIL?

Composition Contest Disclosed Weak Spots in Portland Schools. PORTLAND, Jan. 22.—(To the Editor.) The contest in composition writing by the pupils and students of the city schools, inaugurated by The Oregonian, has given much public information, relative to literary work in the schools, that is of use to all of us for good reading. The simple story was easy to reproduce, but the deductions from the teachings of the Christ have to be supplied by instruction by principals and teachers. No doubt, the public figured in making the awards, since this would show the originality of the composition.

The Oregonian has accomplished a composition contest in the schools for public information and has given the students an opportunity to see the living story with its proper deductions. The Oregonian has done more; it has inaugurated the first composition contest in the schools, whereby patrons and citizens can estimate the teachings of this particular subject of the school curriculum.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

Among the schools that failed to win any recognition—three have attended the contest—were the schools of Portsmouth, Oakley Green, Thompson, Atkinson, Kerna, Montavilla, Mt. Labor, Vernon, Astoria and Chapman. The Blythe, Lewis, and the other schools, having attendance that ranges from 250 to 750, won one reward each. Davis school with an attendance of 100 won one reward, and the schools with attendance ranging from 150 to 250—Almsworth, Creston, Glencoe, Peninsula, South Mt. Labor, Terwilliger, and Woodstock—were awarded one reward each.

NOW, FOR A PSYCHIC REST ROOM.

Chicago's Latest Movement for Bantishing Mental Ills and Worries. Chicago Tribune. A psychic rest room, where one's worries and mental ills are to be bantished by that subtle power which everybody is supposed to contain within oneself, is to become a fact in Chicago. This rest room—the first of its kind—is to be maintained in connection with the classes in Christian psychology which meet at the Immanuel Baptist church.

It was at last evening's session of the class, the first to be held at this church, that the Rev. Johnston Myers announced that the rest room would be established in the near future. While it was not expected to become a panacea for all ills, he said it would be maintained by the same theory that has permitted him to keep in such a physical condition that he could remain in his pulpit until the present.

Just where the room would be Dr. Myers did not know. It has been suggested, however, that the room be opened in the business district, so that, as well as shoppers, may seize upon a leisure moment in the day and bantish all worries and troubles for a brief period. "I have insisted on such a room, as a part of this sort—two, if possible—at all times, myself, and I credit my present good health as much to this practice as anything else," said Dr. Myers. "I shut myself in a room, close the doors, and forget that there is such a thing as an outside world. I tell everybody about the house that I am not to be seen by anybody."

"The result is surprising to anybody who knows nothing about this practice. I arose myself at this point in the hour my work again. It isn't that I have been relaxed, but that I have learned to relax myself in such a manner as to be able to do my work as usual. I can't say I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."

"I read of a similar practice by District Attorney Jerome, of New York City, and believe it has been just as beneficial to the indefatigable worker. His busiest times it is said of him, that he will retreat into his office, lock the door and refuse to see anybody, no matter how important the mission. The visitor places his ear to the keyhole, however, it is probable that he will hear deep, long breathing, the title of the prosecutor's postal conviction."