Charge Gorden Bribed Reot.

One of the matters submitted to your committee was a rumor that Judge M. J. Gorden, formerly coursel for the Great Northern Railway Company for the Great Northern Railway Company for the district of Western Washington, had been found short in his accounts with that company, and that he had in his possestion documents showing that he had used part of the money in question corruptly by jaying it over to Judge Root, and that the same was accepted by Judge Root, while a member of the Supreme Court; that Gorden also had in his possession documents of some character showing that officials of the railway company were accessory to the crime, and that Gorden was making use of his possession for his alleged shortage.

of such documents to escape prosecution for his alleged shortage. In order to ascertain if there was any truth in the rumor of the corruption of Judge Root, it became material for the committee to inquire as to the existence or non-existence of the alleged shortage. The president of the railway company stated that he had no personal knowledge of the matter, although he did inform the committee that the sudding committee was investigating it. The rumor of the shortage has been current for a period of at least four months, and Gordon's connection with the company ceased over four months age. ### ARE ANXIOUS FOR UNION

EVANGELICAL CHURCHES MAY BREAK WITH EAST.

Independent Organization Is Considered Likely West of the Rocky Mountains.

The outcome of the movement for ciation and United Evangelical and Association and United Evangelical and United Brethren churches in this state may result in the formation of an independent organization west of the Rocky Mountains. This hinges on the action that may be taken in the East by these branches. In Oregon, and especially in Portland, the movement for organic union has become very insistent, and this is strong among the young men who had nothing to do with the causes which led to the spilt in the Evangelical denomination about 13 years ago. They are insisting on the branches coming together at once, and not sometime in the dim future, but the leaders in the East are holding back, especially in Pennsylvania and in other states who have little sympathy with the action that is being taken in Oregon, where the movement is being watched with much interest by the Eastern branches.

Rev. C. C. Poling, of Portland, who is one of the leading spirits for organic union, has just received a letter from Bishop R. Dubbs, of Pennsylvania, strongly commending the movement for organic union. Bishop Dubbs was the organic union. Bishop Dubba was the man about whom the storm broke 18 years ago which resulted in the division years ago which resulted in the division of the Evangelical Association. He is anxious for union. Dr. Poling declares that union must come, and that the West is becoming dissatisfied with the slowness of the movement in the East. He said:

"Of course, there is no such condition in the East as we have to meet here in Oregon and west of the Rocky Moun-tains. The churches there are old and tains. The churches there are building and under the present conditions we are duplicating our work. In Portland on the East Side, there are three Evangelical churches—the First English, Memorial and First United, all in the same neighbors. borhood, where there should be one strong church, with one pastor and one organization. We have a college at Mc-Minnville and the United Brethren have minwille and the United Brether have one at Philomath. These ought to be united, and must be united, if they are to make progress. I look for the forma-tion of an independent church organiza-tion of the Evangelical Association, the United Evangelical and United Brethren west of the Rocky Mountains unless the Eastern leaders move faster. We shall be compelled to unite in this way for conservation of our forces, the union of our educational institutions and for the elimination of so much waste and dupli

There will be a report today at the meeting of the association on the matter of a magazine to be printed in Portland in the interest of organic union, which will be a step further than has been taken any where else, and will probable and the associations to the East awaken the denominations in the East
