

CATTLE MEN MEET FOR CONVENTION

Discuss Many Subjects That Pertain to Various Sides of Business.

CONSIDER FOREST RANGES

Gathering at Los Angeles Most Complete Ever Held—Officers for New Year to Be Same in Many Cases.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—The American National Livestock Association listened today to a series of addresses upon a variety of important subjects in connection with the industry, and adjourned tonight, awaiting the report of the committee on resolutions, which will be made to the convention tomorrow. It is expected that the question of the adoption of the resolutions will bring a contest on the subject of indorsing Federal control of the public domain.

Ex-Senator William H. Hammond, of Colorado, a prominent member of the Colorado Cattle and Horsegrowers' Association, is leading the fight against the indorsement of the Government's industry. Tonight he appeared before the committee on resolutions and argued at length, submitting a series of resolutions upon the subject of public lands. He is expected to appear before the resolutions committee, which will vote down, probably by a unanimous vote, all resolutions opposing Federal control. The contest will probably then be shifted to the floor of the convention tomorrow.

The Colorado Cattle and Horsegrowers' Association stands practically, if not entirely, alone in its attitude. Several livestock associations in Colorado which were members of that association withdrew from it and became independent members of the American National Livestock Association because of the present contest, prior to this convention.

Indorse Fulton Bill.

The executive committee made its report today and its recommendations will constitute the principal part of the report of the committee on resolutions. The recommendations include an indorsement of the Fulton bill empowering the Interstate Commerce Commission to suspend a railroad traffic rate until its reasonableness can be determined; indorsement of the Calverton-Smith transportation bill, providing for better railroad service; approval of the Curtis-Scott bill, providing Federal control of grain and stock with loading and rental privileges; favors the retention of the protective tariff on livestock, wool and hides, and a reciprocity agreement with foreign nations extending the markets for livestock and meat products to those countries; favors liberal appropriations by Congress to enable the Bureau of Animal Industry to continue the war on fever ticks; recommends the passage of a law in the states providing appropriations for payment by the state for condemned animals.

There is no doubt that all of these recommendations will be adopted as embodying the views of the association on these subjects. Goolery, of Idaho, believed there should be a provision in the law prohibiting an assignment of leasing privileges of public domain, thus preventing monopoly; that there should be a limit in the amount of acreage that could be leased by one individual. Sheehan of Wyoming expressed the opinion that the small tranchers and speculators of the country were almost unanimously in favor of Federal control, and if there was any opposition it came from the holders of large acreage.

Speaks for Pinchot.

N. C. Barnes, of the Forest Service, Washington, D. C., addressed the convention in the absence of Gifford Pinchot, who was programmed for a speech upon the plans of the Forest Service. Mr. Barnes said that he wanted to disabuse the minds of the stockmen of the idea possessed by some that the Forest Service of the Government was administered from information secured from Pullman car windows. He discoursed at length upon the work of the service and said he had been sent to the meeting to learn the wishes of the stockmen with reference to the conservation of forest and range.

Talks on Cattle Disease.

Dr. C. M. Haring, veterinarian of the University of California, addressed the convention at the afternoon session upon the subject, "Veterinary Science and Its Relation to the Livestock Industry of California." Dr. Haring said that ticks, anthrax, sheep scab and other diseases of stock were growing less in California. "The Future of the Cow Man" was the title of a paper read by J. C. Underwood, of Wyoming. Mr. Underwood pointed out that one of the big problems confronting the cattlemen is the lack of grazing lands. He illustrated with figures the amount of land in the West available for grazing.

Benefits of Organization.

Dr. Dixon was followed by I. T. Prior, president of the Cattlemen's Association of Texas. His address was devoted to the "Benefits Derived From Livestock Organization and Co-operation." Denver and Fort Worth are in warm rivalry for the next annual convention. St. Joseph, Mo., is also a candidate. The recommendation of the executive committee for the election of officers of the association for the coming year, which doubtless will receive the sanction of the convention, provides for the reelection of President Jastro, of Bakersfield, and First Vice-President Mackenzie, of Trinidad, Colo. Second Vice-President M. K. Parsons, of Salt Lake, will be succeeded by ex-United States Senator Joseph M. Carey, of Cheyenne, Wyo. Treasurer W. E. Hughes, of Denver, and Secretary T. W. Tomlinson, of Denver, and Attorney Sam H. Brown, of Fort Worth, will be re-appointed.

Bill to Conserve Surplus Waters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—To conserve the surplus waters of navigable streams in time of flood and store them in water-sheds until time of drought, Representative Lever, of South Carolina, has introduced a bill which provides for the cooperation of states with each other or with the United States for the protection of watersheds of navigable streams. The bill provides a commission, to be known as the National Forest Reservation Commission, to pass upon lands which are necessary for the regulation of navigable streams, as recommended for the purchase by the Secretary of Agriculture.

About Bovine Tuberculosis.

Dr. O. E. Dixon, of Chicago, spoke on the subject of "Bovine Tuberculosis." Dr. Dixon said that tuberculosis was now appearing among the improved breeds of cattle direct from the range and that the danger of spread of the

Prescription for Stomach

Digests Any Meal in Five Minutes. (Medical News.) This simple but powerful prescription will enable those with "finicky" stomachs to eat what they please, when and where they please, without any distressing after effects. Says a noted medical man: "Always prescribe the following for indigestion, acute or chronic dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, depression, languor, blues, wind and gas on stomach and bowels, heart palpitation and biliousness. The results are prompt and lasting from these harmless but powerfully blended essences. Take a six-ounce bottle and add one ounce of ginger, one ounce compound essence cardiol, and two ounces essence of pepsin. Mix and shake well; then take one or two teaspoonfuls after each meal. One spoonful before eating will give a good appetite. One or two at bedtime will relieve constipation. Give it to children who have stomachache, bad breath or bowel trouble. It may be taken freely, being entirely harmless."

he also paid them out of the international treasury. By this time the convention was in disorder again, and John Walker, of Illinois, a candidate for National president, assailed the policy of seating international organizers. He charged the international organizers were appointed by Mr. Lewis. "That is not true," declared Mr. Lewis. "Mr. Walker does not know what he is talking about."

Mr. Farrington then walked up the aisle towards the stage, declaring that as a matter of personal privilege he desired to reply to Mr. Lewis' statement. Mr. Lewis thereupon ordered the sergeants-at-arms to their stations, but further trouble was prevented by Mr. Lewis' moment later calling for the resolutions committee. After hours of dissemination, the convention adopted a resolution recommending the modification of the court procedure in regard to injunctions in labor disputes. The resolution protests against the sentence and threatened imprisonment of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison; denies that there was any violation of the law by them; protests against "the uncalled-for and extreme bitterness of the arraignment of the defendants by Justice Wright as unparalleled in judicial proceedings"; denounces government by injunction as un-American, unconstitutional and void; denies the right of courts to enjoin officers or members of labor organizations while contending for their rights, for alleged offenses not committed in the presence of the court, without notice; denies that the convention has any desire to attack property rights, saying: "They must be safeguarded; but there are other rights that should be guarded—the rights of man."

Demands Change in Law.

The resolution denies the right of courts to punish for offenses not committed in their presence except after jury trial, and demands a change in procedure in contempt and injunction cases to this effect and that contempt cases be tried by a Judge other than the one issuing the writ, unless the contempt is committed in the court's presence on hearing. The convention unanimously placed itself on record in opposition to the removal of Lincoln's picture from the postage stamps. The convention adopted a resolution calling on Congress to create a Bureau of Mines. It also declared in favor of rivers and harbors improvement.
