

TIDAL WAVE RISES; BARCELONA SWEEP

Terrific Earthquake Shocks Are Reported Throughout Provinces of South.

LOSS OF LIFE UNKNOWN

Second City in Kingdom Scene of Fearful Panic When Waters Pour Over Land, According to Vague Bulletins.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A dispatch from Tunis says that Barcelona has been overwhelmed by a tidal wave. The loss of life is unknown.

Subterranean rumblings preceded the tidal waves, causing a fearful panic on the promenade and in the buildings of the city.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A special dispatch received here from San Sebastian, Spain, says that a terrible earthquake has devastated several towns and villages in South and Southeastern Spain.

A tidal wave practically submerged the coast near Barcelona and a great landslide at Ceuta buried the village of Rosaria and several hundred inhabitants.

News from Malaga says that many houses were damaged in the town of Tetana and several villages in the Province of Murcia.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—No official advices have yet been received at the Spanish legation in this city in regard to the earthquake in Southeastern Spain.

IS "MANCHESTER OF SPAIN"

Barcelona Leading Manufacturing City of Southern Europe.

Known as "the Manchester of Spain," Barcelona is the second city of the Spanish Kingdom, and is its chief manufacturing center.

Some various industries centered there are large cotton, silk, woolen and paper mills, as well as manufactures of leather and glass goods.

The main portion of the city's export trade is coastal, and large quantities of iron, copper, salt, freestone, fruit, cork and liquors are each year dispatched to all parts of the world.

This harbor is over a mile in length, and ranges from 25 to 50 feet in depth, protected from the sea by two massive masonry mole.

In the census of 1900 the population of the city was given as 257,099, and since that time it has materially increased.

The general revival of prosperity in Spain attracting large numbers of artisans of all trades hither. Most of the workmen employed in the factories live in the new suburbs of Barcelona, which is thoroughly modern, and substantially built of brick.

The balance of the city is of heavy masonry, and is a mixture of the styles of the past. The streets being wide and regular, but in the old section being narrow and tortuous.

Next to Cadix, which was originally a Phoenician town, Barcelona is the oldest city in Spain, it having been founded by Hamilcar Barca, of Carthage. Upon the fall of Carthage, the Romans became the masters of the town, and held it until the Gothic invasion, when it fell into the hands of the barbarians from the North, with the rest of Catalonia.

The later history of the city has been a constant series of sanguinary revolts, it having been the scene of bloody civil wars in 1322, 1324, 1348, 1349 and 1351. At the present day it is regarded as the center of Continental Anarchism, and is closely watched by the police of all European powers.

WOMAN SHOTS PEACOCK

Dr. Peacock glanced around and then started on a run for the back door, throwing his left arm up to guard his head. Longtime fired two more shots at the retreating figure, one going wild and the other striking Dr. Peacock above the left elbow and coming out at the shoulder.

Strange Men Seen in Town.

The shooting occurred in Captain Ingram's store, and was witnessed by several persons. Mrs. Longtime calmly watched her victim as he fell and made no effort to escape.

The shooting this afternoon and the previous tragic chapters in the matter have attracted much attention all along the lower river.

This afternoon it is said two strange men went to the Longtime home and shortly after they had left the town, Mrs. Longtime followed them to the postoffice and shot him. Whether these strangers had anything to do with the case is a mystery.

Doctor Asserts Innocence.

Believing he was dying when placed on board the launch Adaline, which conveyed him to Astoria, Dr. Peacock made a declaration to the effect that he is innocent of the crimes with which he is charged. Dr. J. O. Hasking, Mrs. Fred Peacock and several citizens accompanied the injured man to Astoria.

Mrs. Longtime was committed to jail to await the result of the wounded man's injuries.

ARMY CORPS OF SKELETONS

FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION REFUGE FOR ALL

Many Exiles From Other Nations Find a Home There Free From Question.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—When a few weeks ago, 50 men of the French Foreign Legion deserted and hid up a train in Morocco, a number of newspapers referred to the "fact" that the Legion was made up of "rather more than half of deserters from the German army. This is by no means true.

The French Foreign Legion numbers 13,500 men in all, of whom not quite 6000 are Germans; and of these not more than 500 are deserters from the German army. About 4000 of the Legionaries are Frenchmen and the rest comprise Austrians, Swiss, Englishmen, Italians, Spaniards, Belgians and Poles.

There are also a few Serbians, Bulgarians and Roumanians.

The Legionaries get very little pay—a daily dose of just over a penny—but when they have served 10 years they get a pension of $100 a year. It is a mistake to believe that France ill-treats the soldiers of its Foreign Legion. Discipline is, of course, fairly severe. It has to be so in a corps of soldiers of which are recruited these soldiers are. Any forger between the ages of 18 and 40, whom the doctors consider strong enough to become a soldier of the Legion, and nothing about his past, not even his name, is asked of him.

There are life-tragedies in the French Foreign Legion more touching than any in fiction. The Legion is a refuge for all those whom life has treated ill. The case of one Polish Legionary may be cited. He had been the priest of a little parish near the German frontier, and had preached resistance against German and Russian despotism. He had been ejected from his church and tracked by German, Austrian and Russian police until he finally took refuge in the Legion.

But the love of his country and the hatred of Russia and of Germany were too strong for him to return to Russia. He was in St. Petersburg in January, 1866. He is now serving his time in a lead mine in Siberia.

HUNTERS ARE ACQUITTED

Witnesses See Deer Meat, but Jury Promptly Frees Accused.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—J. Lantz, Will Lantz, Will Riles, Clarence Riles and Will French, accused of unlawfully killing deer and having the meat in their possession, were tried today before Justice A. C. Beck and acquitted.

Deputy Game Warden Louis Fritz insists that big quantities of deer have been slaughtered in the deep snow in the Mount Hood district this winter, but that it is impossible to get a jury to believe in conviction. Fritz states that the meat which was placed in evidence was found on the premises of one of the men, covered up with a board of wood. At the trial, several witnesses swore that the meat was deer meat, while others swore they were unable to tell what it was, although they had killed many deer.

Fritz says that he has received many complaints from upper valley residents recently of deer killing out of season and that he will continue to make vigorous efforts to secure conviction.

DOUBLE MURDERER HANGS

Slayer of Wife and Mother-in-Law Admits Penalty Deserved.

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Jan. 29.—Charles Baldasar, who murdered his wife and mother-in-law at Stockton on September 20, 1908, was executed today in the state prison here. He kept up a brave appearance almost to the last, but showed signs of weakness when ascending the scaffold to receive the fatal shot before the trap was sprung. He did not deny his guilt and said that he deserved hanging.

As he weighed only 125 pounds, he was given an unusually long drop—eight feet. The trap fell at 10:04 o'clock and 15 1/2 minutes later Baldasar was pronounced dead. His neck was broken by the fall.

COSGROVE'S PLAN BLOCKED BY HAY

Split Between Sick Executive and Lieutenant-Governor Over Patronage.

HAY WANTS HIS OWN WAY

Willing to Name Cosgrove's Men Unless They Are Personally Distasteful to Acting Governor.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—A split occurred today between Hay and Cosgrove that will temporarily, at least, block the prospective appointment of Cosgrove's selection of Kenneth MacKintosh for Superior Judge of Seattle and L. J. Birdseye for Judge at Spokane.

Hay refuses to make these appointments, claiming the laws creating the positions will take effect after Hay becomes Acting Governor and that under such circumstances Hay alone should determine the appointments.

Howard Cosgrove announced tonight that Governor Cosgrove has determined upon the appointment of J. L. Mohundro as State Bank Examiner, to succeed A. W. Eagle, of Seattle. The formal appointment has not yet been made.

Tonight at 7:30 in the private car California, Governor Cosgrove and Mrs. Cosgrove left via Tacoma for Paso Robles, Eugene Lorton will accompany the party as far as Portland.

No appointments were made today by the Governor, but Howard said tonight his father had determined upon a selection for Grain Inspector, but was not yet ready to announce the name, and that no other selections had been determined upon. He referred further inquiries to Lieutenant-Governor Hay.

Hay says that when Howard Cosgrove first came back from Paso Robles, at a time when it was not expected the Governor would come here to be inaugurated, he promised Cosgrove to make all his appointments at the special request of Governor Cosgrove, provided, of course, such appointments were not personally distasteful to Hay.

Hay Wants His Own Way.

When Cosgrove changed his plans and did come here, Hay made an urgent request that Cosgrove make all his appointments during his stay in Olympia. As Cosgrove has not done so, Hay feels bound under his old promise to make future appointments to Cosgrove's request. But if Cosgrove suggests men Hay cannot approve, the Lieutenant-Governor will insist the Governor personally return to the state to make such appointments.

Further, Hay has insisted that on all matters of legislation he will be bound by his own ideas, not by Cosgrove's. The demand for the resignation of Adjutant-General Hamilton has aroused a storm of protest. Lieutenant-Governor Hay says he has received telegrams from all parts of the state protesting against any change and that many legislators called during the day to urge Hay's influence to prevent ousting Hamilton.

SAYS TRADE IS PEACEABLE

Japanese Consul Would Have Further Agreements Made.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—In a brief address at the banquet of the New York Japanese Consul-General, referred to the misunderstanding that has arisen between the people of Japan and America, and the desirability of an attractive field for America and Europe," he said, "and the commercial interests are responsible for the maintenance of peace between the two nations. America and Japan, but by all the countries of Europe as well.

"The governments are important factors, but the people must be considered as the most important factor. Agreements need a better understanding between the peoples, a misunderstanding leads to difficulties. There are still many things to be desired in the way of perfect good feeling between the people of America and Japan."

FROST DOUBTFUL ON OFFER

He declared that he had informed Assistant District Attorney Elder that between July, 1906, and October, 1907, when the bank suspended, he had forged about ten notes which aggregated $5000. Campbell stated that he had forged one note for $2400 to take the place of several notes and that he had destroyed several of his smaller forgeries by throwing them into a sewer.

CHARGES AGAINST KIBBEY

Arizona's Governor Admits Changing Record to Aid Henny.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 29.—It has been reported for several days that charges have been filed in Washington against Governor Kibbey, of Arizona, whose resignation is now before the Senate for confirmation, and it was learned today that at least one charge is that while Judge of the District Court in Florence, Pinal County, about 20 years ago, Kibbey changed the court record, and that a photograph of the changed record has been forwarded to the Senate.

No denial is made of the act, but the circumstances are claimed to have been as follows:

Francis J. Henny, then a young lawyer, was defending a man in the Phoenix Court before Kibbey. Judge Kibbey lectured Attorney Henny severely in court one day for alleged misconduct before the jury.

Later Kibbey, concluding that Henny's conduct was merely an impropriety and no harm having been done, and feeling that his censure might be too severe, expunged the record of the censure with his own pen, without making an open-court order to that effect. It is this erasure which, it is stated, Kibbey's opponents have brought to the attention of the Senate.

"PLAYED POLITICS" IS CRY

MINERWORKERS WRANGLE OVER LEADERSHIP.

President Lewis Target for All Sorts of Abuse at National Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.—At the close of a day of speeches conveying veiled insinuations and open charges of abuse at the national convention of the United Mine Workers of America, President Lewis of the party in the district of the Illinois miners, declared:

"I am sorry to the bottom of my heart to have come here to find able district officers engaged in personal dispute to the extent of causing this to be the most disgraceful convention we have had in Indianapolis.

"Let us leave off personal denunciation, proceed to our business and in the support of our executive officers, whether it be Tom Lewis or John Walker."

Mr. Evans received hearty applause. He had taken the floor in the midst of a speech by Walker to correct a statement that Mr. Walker had imputed to him, the sense of which was that he had told Walker that National President Lewis had unfolded to him a plan by which he expected to be able to coerce the representatives of the miners into supporting the policy of the National president.

Evans had the convention opened today when the forces opposing the administration of President Lewis began an attack upon him and the National president.

The committee on officers late this afternoon submitted its report to the convention. It indorses the administration of President Lewis and the National president.

The demand for the resignation of Adjutant-General Hamilton has aroused a storm of protest. Lieutenant-Governor Hay says he has received telegrams from all parts of the state protesting against any change and that many legislators called during the day to urge Hay's influence to prevent ousting Hamilton.
