

Port of Portland Rejects Offer of Wallula and Will Build.

CONSIDERS $80,000 HIGH

Commission May Also Buy Ockinhama-Sends Driscoll to Salem to Work for Passage of Pilotage Bill.

Rejection of the offer made by J. P O'Brien, of the tug Wallula, for $80,000, ordering bids for two ocean-going tugs on plans and specifications furnished, au-thorizing a survey to be made of the river towboat Ockiahams and the ap-pointment of Joan Driscoll to go to Sa-lem in the interests of the pilotage bill now pendiag, were features of a special session of the Port of Portland, held yesterday afternoon. It was the comean-sus of opinion of the members that it is wise to use much pre-aution in the se-lection of tugs and towboats, and, accord-ing to the action taken, there will be no ordering bids for two ocean-going tugs lection of tugs and towboats, and, accord-ing to the action taken, there will be no purchases of boats until a thorough in-vestigation is made to determine a proper price. W. D. Wheelwright, speaking on the subject, expressed what proved to be the general desire of the other members when he said he would favor buying new craft to the exclusion of old.

Offer of J. P. O'Brien.

A letter was received from Mr. O'Brien, A letter was received from ar. of the light general manager of the Harriman lines in the Northwest, offering the tug Wal-lula for $80,000 and the towboat Ockla-hama for $30,000. Mr. offerin said he regarded both as very fair prices. He thought, he said, it would be impossible for the port to build a tug as good as the Waltula for less than $100,000. In this regard, however, he was believed by Chief Engineer Lockwood, to be in error, as Mr. Lockwood declared that its equal or better can be purchased for $41,000. Therefore, the offer was rejected.

fore, the offer was rejected. As to the Ocklahama, it was thought that the price named for her is reason-able, and the recommendation of En-gineer Lockwood, that a survey of her-be made, was authorized by the port. Plans and specifications were on hand for an ocean-going tug of the first qual-ity, drawn by Engineer Lockwood, and after acting upon the offers by Mr. O'Brien, it was ordered that bids be requested on these specifications for O Brien. It was ordered that this be requested on these specifications for two vessels, sho setting a price on a single vessel. These bids will be opened at the regular meeting March II. After the bids are awarded, nine months will be allowed in which the contractors shall deliver the craft.

Will Create Sinking Fund.

Will Create Sinking Fund. The port also decided to create a sink-ing fund to pay off the bond issues for the Port of Portland and the port dry-dock. The first named issue will require an annual sum of $17,500, and the other will require $10,000 a year. John Driscoil was delegated to go to Salem today and look after the interests of the port in regard to the pilotage bill, now pending before the House. A tele-gram from Speaker McArthur, received while the meeting was in progress yeater-day afternoon, said that the bill will be up for action in the House today. It will then go to the Senate, and it is highup for action in the House today, will then go to the Senate, and it is high-ly important, it was explained, that it puss speedily

Does the premeditated action con-sider the real characteristics, attri-butes of the divine personality as viewed from a spiritual standpoint? A little reflection might convince one that more is involved in such an un-dertaking than at first appears on the surface, and to a bystander like the DISCUSSES WORK surface, and to a bystander like the writer it seems only another evidence writer it seems only another evidence of the many substitutes that have from time to time been presented, possibly honestly, as the genuine brand of sal-vation. Now, to do as some great personage has done means an equip-ment for doing similar to the equip-ment possessed by that great person-age. Most mortals are minus such equipment. If a train of cars is to be run at the rate of 50 miles an hour it can't be pulled by an engine with a normal speed of only 20 miles an hour. How impossible for the ordinary or even extraordinary mortal to imitate Shakespeare, or do as Newton or Edi-son has done, and though there be Shakespeares, Newtons, and Edisons there is only one Jesus. Mr. Bristol, filed a petition in the United States Circuit Court yester-day and Judge Wolverton issued an order upon Ross to show cause why he should not produce the books in ques-tion. February 23 was the day set for the hearing.

By these reports it could be seen that the question of "applied Christianity" is what is interesting the "masses." Some of these reports read as naively and went as straight to the heart as a Dickens Christmas story. It was amusing, and it was pathetic as well to hear about fathers in humble circumstances who appreciated highly the fact that their girls had learned to cook, or to sew, and who were not passionately interested in the Sunday school carsers of these daughters. The paper on Christmas visits was a simple, artless story of going into the homes of nakedness and despair, and bringing the glow and happiness of Christmas miracles into them. It was the most unpretentious of recitals, but in its fast analysis, un-consciously, it was an awful indictment against the city.
