FOREIGN HOP MARKET CONDITIONS.

Better Feeling in the London Trade—Continental Markets Quiet,

Hop market conditions in England are reported by the Kentish Observer of January 21 as follows:

The steady demand for useful copper hops continues, and there is some disposition on the part of brewers to fill their requirements for the season. Prices are consequently firm for all healthy hops, and even the very lowest in color are seiling where quite free from discuss. Continental markets are somewhat quiet, but there is no alteration in prices of best sorts. Pacific Coast hops continue to arrive, but few gree offered, arrivals being to fill previous contracts.

The latest circulars of the London trade says in part:

Wild. Neamo & Co.—The low level of values has induced a rather better inquiry and the expectation of a fair volume of business to be transacted in the next few weeks has imparted a somewhat firmer, tone to our market.

W. H. and H. Le May.—The principal inquiry is for the lowest-priced English hops suitable for copper purposes, consumers availing themselves of the opportunity to cover their requirements below the cost froduction. Yearlings and old olds are also being taken, the low prices ruling for them being very compting.

Exchange and Hop Warehouses—Now that nearly all the best hops are cleared from off the market, business is fairly quiet. The london market was dull and a shade lower classes confilming, prices obtainable for which are exceedingly low A few lots of yearlings have been sold during the week, but there is little netivity in these. Very little business is being transacted upon the foreign market.

A good deal was made today of what was A good deal was made today of what was called an improvement in the copper trade situation, but reports on this subject are contradicted and the impression conveyed was confused. Directly conflicting reports whre in circulation of large sales of copper on the one hand and of a hopeless singuation of demand and sagging values on the other. The dealings in London copper warrants are said to be speculative transfers of the earne holdings and at fettileus prices. Another claim was that substantial amounts of American copper had been placed in that way with foreign purchasers. The copper should remain the opposite the foreign lead upward at the cepting, but afterward developed hesitation and uncertainty with the suspicton aroused by the opposite reports of trade conditions.

Several infinential houses with Northwestern connections were liberal buyers, and there was also a decided expansion in demand from miscellaneous commission houses. There was a slight slump early, but prices were at no time more than '16 %c below the previous closing. Renewed profit-taking by the leading loting was responsible for the early weakness. Toward the end of the first hour trading became active, and prices advanced at a rapid rate until May touched $1.10. or nearly 2 cents above the low point of the day.

Strength was due to milling demand for the cash grain, particularly at Kansas City and Minneapolis, sating that traders there were inclined to cut former estimates on the Argentine exportable supply of wheat, had some effect.
