Two years ago Mr. Reed sustained a slight stroke of apoplexy, from which he never fully recovered, although he was not incapacitated from attending to his official duties. His last illness required him to take to his bed less than a week ago. Mr. Reed was the son of Cyrus A. Reed and the grandson of Stephen Coffin, one of the original town-site proprietors of Portland.

SOTHERN DATES EXTENDED

Actor to Be Seen Here Tonight and Tomorrow Night.

An extended ergagement of America's eminent actor, E. H. Sothern, has been arranged by Calvin Hellig, president of the Northwestern Theatrical Association, by cancelling the first two nights in Se-the Northwestern Theatrical Association, by cancelling the first two nights in Seattle and repiscing them with extra matinees. This will afford Portland theatergoers another opportunity of seeing this distinguished player and his excellent company in the delightful comedy, "Lord Dundreary." This play, which was made famous 25 years ago by Mr. Sothern's father, will be the offering this evening at the Heilig Theater.

Tomorrow (Tuesday) evening Mr. Sothern will be seen as the Cardinal in Bulwer Lytton's great play, "Richelieu." Much interest is manifested by the public in both plays, the first on account of its awakening early recollections of some of the older generation of theatergoers and the second on account of Mr. Sothern's recent portrayal of this historical character. Owing to the massive production, the curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock in "Richelieu."

Her father and his rascally partman. Her father and his raccan patterner desire to violate the immigration laws by importing coolie labor to work on a big irrigaton project when they have under way in Arizona. They seek to make terms with Matsuki, the hero, by which he is to persuade the Mikado's officient with the terms of the American which he is to persuade the Mikado's offi-cials to violate the terms of the Ameri-can treaty. In return for his services, they agree to surrender to him the plans of the fortifications at the entrance of Puget Sound. Matsuki refuses to be a party to their scheme and earns their enmity. His lovemaking to the daughter is beset with many difficulties but even-tually the girl learns that she has Japa-nese blood and the barrier of racial prejudice is broken down.

The play has much merit and with some finishing touches should become a' valuable plece of theatrical property. It has been given a beautiful production has been given a beautiful production and the Baker company gives an unusually pleasing performance in the warlous roles.

The make up of Izetia Jewel and Sidney Ayres is remarkably clever. The auditorium of the Bungalow has been attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns and a decided Japanese atmosphere has been secured. "The Jap" will be repeated every night this week with the usual Saturday matinee.

Yesterday's audiences manifested great enthusiasm and Mr. Russell was fairly swamped with curtain calls.

BIG MAIN IS PROJECTED

Sellwood and Vicinity Wants Better Water Service.

Provisions will probably be made soon for laying a large reinforcing water main for the South East Side, to extend through Sellwood. It is conceded that adfor the South East Side, to extend through Sellwood. It is conceded that additional water supply must be obtained as soon as it can be done for that district. The plan is to lay at least a 24-inch main from some point on the Section Line road, where the Bull Run pipe line is located, southward reaching East Seventeenth street north of Midway and then continuing along East Seventeenth street to Sellwood. Between the Section Line road and Sellwood there is a large and growing district, including the Waverly-Richmond, Waverleigh, Kenilworth, the Williams tracts, the Car Shops Addition and Midway, Within this district there will soon be two big sewer systems, the Brooklyn now being completed, and the West Seilwood the contract for which will soon be let.

At Sellwood the water supply comes from a ten-inch main. Last Summer there was shortage at Midway and Sellwood. Councilman Wills' plan is to open East Seventeenth street in time to lay this large main the latter part of the year. At present Milwaukie is the only street that extends to Sellwood, and East Seventeenth is the first street east of Milwaukie. Defeat of the opening of East Seventeenth would delay this pipeline, and the opening of this street is the first step in the project.

BAKER.

BY ARTHUR A. GREENE. 66THE BURGOMASTER" is practically the father of present-day musical and after a decade of almost comedy, and after a decade of almost unprecedented success, still finds great favor in the eyes of showgoers. Ruth White—dainty, debonair, dashing Ruth White—as Willie Van Astorbilt, is almost as closely identified with the piece as "The Tale of a Kangaroo." She has played the delightful little gilded youth so long and so well that when she retires from the piece it won't be at all like it is now. It might be possible to put on "Hamlet" without a Hamlet, but "The Burgomaster" without Ruth White and her smile, never—never.

and her smile, never-never. Miss White combines many rare talents. Miss White combines many rare talents. She is great to look at, dances gracefully, wears boy's clothes as if she were born to them and sings like a bird. Her work at the Baker yesterday, where "The Burgomaster" opened a week's engagement, was equal to any she has ever done in the role. Her voice is in fine trim and she seemed to be feeling very well satisfied with herself and the world. The Peter Stuyvesant this year is Harry Hermsen, who has been seen in Harry Hermsen, who has been seen in the part with signal success before. Mr. Hermsen is a rattling good musical-comedy comedian and had his audience with him during every moment he was on the stage. He sings better than most alleged musical funny men and his unctious humor makes him properly funny, a capable successor to Figman in the role. A chorus that would be hard to beat for looks, sprightliness and vocal attainments adds the finishing touch to the performance. The familiar song numbers, not to mention "The Kangaroo," were all given in a pleasing manner. No one who has heard "I Drink From My Heart to You," "Cupid Does Prom My Heart to You," "Cupid Does Not Marry," "How Many Have You Told That To?" and the other favorites to be told they are tuneful and

The Lockhart sisters give a most attractive danoing specialty in the last act. As usual, the audience filed out of the theater humming the familiar refrain about "moonbeams light and airy," as audiences have been doing since the night the Pixley-Luders piece was first presented in that dear Chicago shortly after the Spanish-American shooting match. This is the first time Portland has had "The Burgomaster" at popular prices and indications are that the Baker will enjoy a prosperous week. There will be the usual Wednesday
