SAYS TAX BURDEN IS AT VERY LIMIT

Charles K. Henry Declares It Time for Every Citizen to Give Heed.

WILL KEEP INVESTORS OUT

Clamor for Free Bridges, Parks, Boulevards and What-Not Grows Serious for Property-Owners. Says Reaction Is Certain.

PORTLAND, Feb. 8.—(To the Editor.)—The editorial article published in The Oregonian today under the heading, "The Non-Taxpayer's Interest," is worthy of the best thought and attention of every citizen of Portland, taxpayers or otherwise. The ground is covered thoroughly in the article, and it is high time for every person in the City of Portland that has the welfare of the city at heart, to pay attention to this question of excessive taxation.

The first question asked by an investor, manufacturer or jobber coming to locate in this city, is: "What are your rates of taxation and insurance rates?" Portland is being "soaked" to the uttermost limit. The demand for more free bridges, free ferries, a bridge across the Columbia River, parks in every locality, boulevards, more official positions and increased salaries, is certain to check and stop the splendid growth that we are getting.

This city is doing more than any other city in the United States. In New York City people crossing in vehicles on either the Brooklyn or Williamsburg bridge have to pay toll. In Pittsburg, with its enormous population, even persons on foot have to pay toll, and in St. Louis, with a population of over 750,000, pedestrians, as well as vehicles, have to pay toll to cross their bridges, while the City of Portland, struggling to upbuild, is now supplying four free bridges and three free ferries, and yet there is a "howl" for more free bridges, one at Hancock street, one at the foot of Russell street, one in South Portland and another at Oswego.

Who is paying for all this, if not the taxpayers? Let us see. The taxes this year on the quarter block that I bought in August, on Fourth and Oak streets, are $2200, a fortune to pay out as taxes on an unimproved quarter block. This is an increase of $638.40 over the taxes of last year. Can anybody point out in what way this property has benefited over last year to the extent of over $50 a month? It is ridiculous.

The writer has induced as many families to locate here and as many investors to invest here as perhaps any other possible agency in the City of Portland, and is leaving for California with a view of inducing others to invest in our city, and to secure the location of other industries here. In fact, two are expected to locate here this Spring. One of the largest houses in the United States, with large houses in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and Minneapolis, will locate here, if I can bring it about.

What kind of an argument will these non-taxpayers furnish me to induce those concerns to locate here, with taxes being raised from 20 to 50 per cent in a single year? If we are to have a big city, and are to give labor and employment to the great throng of people that we are hoping to have here, we must have factories, jobbers and wholesalers here, and in order to induce them to come, we must have reasonable taxes and reasonable rates of insurance, or else they will not come here, as you very aptly stated.

"A day of reckoning is coming for the non-taxpayer." A high tax levy will surely increase rents and the laugh will not be altogether on their side, as it seems to be at present. They may think it is very easy to order new high bridges costing millions, and parks to every little addition that has nerve enough to clamor for them, and boulevards that contemplate the taking of such expensive property as the Holbrook and Charlton property, on the heights, reaching on down and taking Judge Bronaugh's and his mother's fine homes and similar properties of that kind for driveways. They think it is easy to sell bonds for these, but people who have struggled for a lifetime to accumulate a little property are getting tired of paying for these things.

Let us see how this works. The property that I bought on Fourth and Oak streets, for $125,000, is assessed at $113,000, being over 90 per cent of its actual selling price; while the Ainslie mill property, for which it is stated in this evening's Telegram, $95,000 was refused, was assessed at but $29,700, or about 40 per cent of its value. As another illustration, the property of Mrs. E. C. Masten, on the south side of Overton, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, for which she is asking $100,000, is assessed at $29,500, or less than 33 1-3 per cent; and a half block in the same vicinity owned by Beno & Ballis, on Twelfth street, for which they are asking about $300,000, is assessed at $33,870. Why should not these people be made to pay taxes in proportion to the prices property-owners have to pay for property in the center of the city?

Taxation should be uniform and fair. Every person in the City of Portland should carefully inspect their tax statement, and receipts now, and see how they have increased in the last year, and bethink that if they have the right to increase from 20 to 50 per cent for one year, what is to prevent them from increasing them in the next year in like manner? How can we expect to sell property and induce the location of new factories, new industries and new business, if they may be subjected to immense increase in taxes?

Insurance rates are altogether too high here. The Pacific Coast Insurance Union has been arbitrary and high-handed, and large concerns like Marshall-Wells & Co., Pacific Paper Company, and others are endeavoring to avoid paying these excessive rates by insuring in the Manufacturers' Mutuals, which require sprinkling system, and necessitates the building of high and expensive water tanks that are disfiguring our city in order that they may escape from the grasp of the Pacific Coast Insurance Union rates.

The Taxpayers' League of this city should be upheld and aided in their efforts to reduce taxes in this city. We have enough bridges, ferries and enough public utilities if they are put into a higher state of efficiency. Taxes must be reduced or the city will be set back.

CHARLES K. HENRY.

ASK CONGRESS FOR ROAD

Pacific County Waxes Desperate and Makes a Last Appeal.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 8.—Pacific County, Washington, has enlisted the services of Congressman Jones to obtain for it permission of Congress to open a road through the Fort Columbia Military Reservation. This fight dates back to territorial days; and the road now desired was in fact established in 1855 by an act of the County Commissioners. Nine years later the road was closed by the Government, which included it in the land needed for the military reservation. Since then all attempts to have the route of travel reopened have failed, and now an appeal is being made for Congressional permission as a last resort.

Agree on Urgent Deficiency.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—In the House today the conference report on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill was agreed to without debate. The bill goes to the President. The report finally disposed of the item of $12,000 for automobiles for the White House by authorizing the necessary appropriation.

PACKARD

Pianos

What would afford you more pleasure in your home than music and story and song. Music gives to the home life an atmosphere which nothing else can supply. Your children will be better, brighter, happier if they sing and play. Mother and father will likewise be happier. Music indeed has charms—power to drive "dull care away." We suggest a piano or a player piano. A new piano will find its way to your home if you will bring us but $10 cash; a player piano if you will bring us $25 cash. Why should you be without music during 1909?

This is a personal invitation for you to call to see and hear our pianos.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

A new disturbance has made its appearance over Western British Columbia and the danger of a cold wave in Eastern Washington, Eastern Oregon and Northern Idaho has passed, as it does not now appear as if any more cold air would drain into this district from the severe cold wave now being felt in Montana and the Dakotas. The barometer is rising rapidly over Southern Idaho, Nevada and Utah and in Southern Idaho it will be much colder for a short period. Light rain has fallen at scattered places in Western Oregon and Western Washington and moderately heavy snow has fallen in Southeastern Idaho.

The indications are for light rain or snow at scattered places in this district Tuesday, with lower temperatures in Southern Idaho.

FORECASTS.

For the 28 hours ending midnight, Feb. 9: Portland and vicinity—Rain; southerly winds.

Oregon and Washington—Rain west, light rain or snow east portion; easterly winds, increasing along the coast.

Idaho—Snow; colder south portion.
