ROSE FESTIVAL-June 7-12. '00.

MORRISON STREET ROADWAY .- Concentration of travel from the Madison bridge on East Morrison street and the Morri-son bridge has hastened the destruction of the plank pavement on East Morrison street. There are broken planks all the way between East Water street and Union avenue. Yesterday afternoon a driver was thrown from his vehicle by the front wheels dropping down through a broken section of the roadway. He fell between the horses, but was not hurt. It required an extra team of horses to pull the wagon out. At present the street carries double the traffic it ordinarily has. It is one of the complications bequeathed from the closing of the Madison bridge. Shortly the street is to be replanked. It is proposed, instead of closing up the enthe street, to have portions of the plank hald at night one block at a time when laid at night, one block at a time, when the travel is not so great as during the while the repairs are being made it would cause widespread inconvenience.

ATTEMPT TO "SQUARE" CASE.—Deputy District Attorney Frank D. Hennessy yesterday morning refused to countenance the "squaring" of a charge of forgery pluced against the name of William Well. a traveling man, who was arrested or complaint of H. E. Walter, who charges the man with passing a bogus check. When the case was brought before Judge Van Zaise yesterday morning the court released the prisoner on his own recog-nizance, the complaining witness having nizance, the complaining witness having agreed not to prosecute. A few minutes later Deputy District Attorney Hennessy demanded that he se remanded for trial. According to the District Attorney's office these cases have become too frequent and it is the intention to prosecute all hereafter, whether the complaining witness is willing or not. MRS. WALKER ACQUITTED .- After a jury trial which occupied the entire afternoon in the Municipal Court yesterday, the jury in the case of the City against Mrs. Mary Walker, charged with conducting a disorderly house, brought in a verdict of not guilty without leaving their seats. Mrs. Walker, who is proprietress of the Kingston lodging-house at Third and Taylor streets, was arrested by a squad of plain clothes men on the night of De-cember 24 for maintaining a bawdy house At the time of the arrest several couples At the time of the arrest several couples were found in rooms engaged in drinking beer and other liquors, but no other evidence was secured. Sergeant of Detectives Baty attempted to prove that the house had a bad reputation, but nothing in the testimony of some 15 policemen and several civilian witnesses tended to support this contention in the least, and the jury brought in a verility accordingly. the jury brought in a verdict accordingly

FEDERATION COMMITTEES MEET.-Joint committees from the seven Push Clubs of the Seventh Ward will hold a meeting to-night in the hall of the Brooklyn Republican and Improvement Club, corner Powell and Milwaukie streets, to draw up a constitution for the proposed fed-eration. FAIRBANKS-LEWIS ENGAGEMENT.—One of the most prominent engagements of the year was announced yesterday afternoon by Mrs. C. H. Lewis, it being that of her youngest daughter, Miss Frances Lewis, to Henry P. Fairbanks, of New York. The Lewis family have long been leaders of Portland society, having been identified with the growth of the state. Miss Lewis with the growth of the state. Miss Lewis is a handsome and exceptionally charming and popular girl. The bride-elect is a sister of Mrs. A. L. Mills, Mrs. George Goode, Mrs. M. J. Bingham, Mrs. Sherman R. Hall, of Kansas City; Miss Sallie Lewis, John Lewis, L. Allen Lewis, Mrs. Robert W. Lewis, Hunt Lewis and David C. Lewis. Much entertaining has been done for Mr. Fairbanks since his arrival some weeks ago as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Lewis, and later of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Lewis. Mr. Fairbanks is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Fairbanks, of Boston. His father was a member of the Bigelow Carpet Company, of Boston, of which H. P. Fairbanks is the New York representative. He is a Har-

In his fourth lecture at the White Temple last night, Professor Riddell discussed "Psychic and Spiritual Phenomens." Rev. D. L. Rader acted as chairman and assisted in the "question box," which is conducted each evening is minutes before the regular lectures. Queries many and varied are asked touching all branches of thought and activity, from wanting to know what a man can do to grow lean, to the deeper meaning of the stonement and the trinity of the Godhead.

Last night's lecture was pronounced one of the most interesting and scholarly of the series, and the auditorium was crowded. Mr. Riddell's ideas on his topic of "Psychic and Spiritual Phenomena" are in part as follows:

Mazamas Adopt Plan for Next Annual Outing.

WILL FOLLOW EASY ROUTE

Dr. Harry Fielding, Noted Scientist, Expected to Join Mountain Club in Climbing Scenic Peak From South Side.

The Mazamas have decided to ascend Mount Baker, Washington, next Sumthis decision is the fact that the south and the southeastern sides of this great mountain offer an unusually easy and safe route to the Summit.

"The ascent from the south and southeast is far safer and easier than the ascent of Mount Hood," said M. W.

Gorman, president of the Mazamas, at a special meeting of the society.

"Therefore we can reasonably expect a large gathering of Mazamas and their friends on Mount Baker, and can promise them every assurance of a successful ascent to the summit without any special difficulties encountered en route.

'Mount Baker is regarded by all those who have visited it as the most interesting and fascinating mountain in the Cas-cade Range, because of its wonderfully picturesque scenery, idyilic camping-grounds, and magnificent giaclers, snow-fields and ice-cascades. There are two craters, and there have been many reports of quite recent volcanic disturb-ances and changes in the neighborhood of these craters. Glacial phenomena of various sorts are to be found there in abundance, forming a most attractive study for all lovers of nature and scien-

It is hoped that Dr. Harry Fielding Reid, of Johns Hopkins University, a friend of the Mazamas, who has an international reputation as one of the leading glacial experts of the world, will join the Mazamas on Mount Baker this Summer in order to study the geology of the mountain. Those who took part in the memorable outing on Mount Hood in 1901 will recall with keen pleasure the explor-ations of the glaciers under his guid-ance. Herbert Gleason, the noted artist and fecturer of Boston, is planning to cross the continent for the express purcross the continent for the express purpose of joining the Mazamas in the ascent of Mount Baker, and other members

John A. Lee and Rodney L. Glisan, of Portland, well-known members of the Mazama Club, vouch for the ease and safety with which the ascent of Baker can be made from the south, as they climbed the mountain by this route in 1906. sir. Lee, indeed, has made two ascents from that side, and, by reason of several visits to the mountain, knows of several visits to the mountain, knows its environment like a book.

Lost Summer the Mountaineers of Scattle took a party of 34 men and women, many of them inexperienced, to the top by the southeast route, with great success, and without any unpleas ant incident to mar the pleasure of the outing. So easy is the southeast route that Asahel Curtis, chairman of their outing committee, declares that, by starting from a certain advantageous camping-spot, he could take a party to the summit by noon of the same day.

The Mazamas camped on the northeast slope of Baker in 1906, and at that time made their first official ascent of the mountain. The remarkably brilliant feat in mountaineering performed by Fred Kiser and a small party of adventurous Mazamas, who scaled the terrible north-east precipics of ice, will long be re-membered, as it was one of the most daring exploits in mountaineering ever achieved on the Pacific Coast. That side of the mountain was found too dangerous for a mixed party of climbers, many of them wearing ice-screws for the first time. Hence it was then resolved to return to the mountain in the near fu-ture and prove the practicability of taking a large party to the summit by a safe route. This coming season will see the successful fruition of the long-cher-

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

Mrs. Max Hirsch, President, Tells of Success of Settlement Work of Council.

The annual open meeting of the Coun-cil of Jewish Women was held last night at Temple Beth Israel, and attracted a large audience. An able and interesting paper was read by Mrs. Max Hirsch, the president of the council, in which she gave a resume of the work accomplished during the past year, showing the social betterment along religious, ethical and educational lines. Mrs. Hirsch laid par-ticular stress on the excellent results accomplished at the Neighborhood House in South Portland, which is the center of the council's activities.

This non-sectarian settlement work is bringing forth splendid results, the membership having considerably increased. One hundred foreigners are now enrolled in the night classes, where they are being taught the rudiments of the English language. Forty-seven children of vari-ous nationalities comprise the kindergarous nationalities comprise the Kindergar-ten, while the Monday sewing class, with its corps of volunteer teachers, boasts of over 100 pupils. Much interest is mani-fested in the library, where leisure hours are advantanceously occupied. The cook-ing school still continues in popularity, as well as the gymnasium, which has been provided recently with increased appa-ratus.

Mrs. Hirsch also announced that plans had recently been consummated whereby two lots on the northeast corner of Secand Wood streets were purchased as a foundation for a new Neighborhood House. The membership of this settlement house at present numbers 308 pro-teges. Mrs. Hirsch concluded her remarks by urging co-operation in the moral uplifting of humanity irrespective of creed.

AS RESULT TWO MEN ARE IN FEDERAL COURT.

Warren Davis and Ray Ramsden Are Accused of Selling Firewater to Chemawa Students.

Warren Davis and Ray Ramsden, dealers in liquid goods in the vicinity of the Chemawa Indian School, were yesterday bound over to await the action of the Federal grand jury, which convenes February 15, charged with selling whisky to one of Uncle Sam's wards. It seems that several of the young bucks, with a real burning thirst for the white man's firewater, have been giving the school authorities no end of trouble lately by going out and getting drunk. They were followed February 6 and were seen to waylay Farmer Ramsden, pass him over $1 with instructions to purchase from Davis, the saloonkeeper, a bottle of Farmer Ramsden performed the service requested of him by his little red brother, Paul Queashpalama. He found Saloon-keeper Davis obliging and strangely not a bit curious as to who was going to drink the whisky or where it was going to be drunk. He was there to exchange liquid goods for silver and that ended the matter as far as he was concerned. Farmer Ramsden was also indifferent to the fact that the Government was en-deavoring to make white ribboners of Indian braves. Now, at any rate, both Saloonkeeper Davis and Farmer Rams-
