Great Carpet Sale That Has Beaten All Past Records

Including Rugs, Linoleums and All Kinds of Floor Coverings at Most Remarkable Prices Some of the Reductions in Carpets

To surpass all previous records in our Third Floor Carpet Store, in the way of sales, we have determined upon a plan for the next six days that will eclipse any of our previous efforts-The most important reason that prompts us to inaugurate the sale at this time is to adjust an already over-crowded floor space, so as to make room for our Spring stocks which are due to arrive most any day-So that this event may be the biggest of the season we have quoted prices so ridiculously low that we cannot see any reason why hundreds of economically inclined people should not buy at this time Floor Coverings of every description, such as Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, etc., all included in this Six-Day Sale-Arrange to be among the first of the enthusiastic buyers that will avail themselves of these exceptional values-Taking it all in all, we do not believe that Portland has seen as great a sale as this in the Carpet and Rug line in many a day-This is an event that by all means you should share

NEW JUDGE ACTIVE

Daily Court Sessions.

TAKES UP DUTIES TODAY

If He Has His Way, He Will Mount Bench at 9:30 A. M. and, With Short Recess for Lunch, Will Work Until 5:30 P. M.

If it were left for Circuit Judge W. N. Gatens to prescribe the hours for holding court one material step would be taken toward relieving the con gested condition of the Circuit Court in this district-a situation that was urged as a reason for providing an additional judgeship. Judge Gatens would have the five departments begin work at 9:30 A. M. and work until noon. He would reconvene at 1:30 P. M. and hold court until 5:36 o'clock. However, the hours the Circuit Court of this district shall be in session are fixed by the five judges, and Judge Gatens will abide by the decision of s majority of his fellow jurists.

Judge Gatens will assume his official duties in Department No. 5 of the Multnemah County Circuit Court this morning. He subscribed to the oath of office before the Secretary of State last Friday and the requisite credentials certifying to his appointment have been filed with County Clerk Fields.

"I am here and ready to go to work, and I expect to make good," said Judge Gatens on his arrival from Salem last night. "Of course, I have my own ideas as to how the work in the Cir-cuit Court should be conducted, but it is not my desire or intention to come down here and tell the other judges how they shall conduct their respective departments. I expect faithfully to serve the people and give a good accounting of the office.

Will Not Try to Dictate.

"I am of the opinion that the sessions of the Circuit Court should be pro-longed, but that is entirely my own idea, I understand that the judges constitutwish.

"Recognizing that my appointment came through legislation declaring an emergency and knowing something of the congested condition of the Circuit Court here, it will be my purpose to do what I can to assist the court to dispose of that congestion. It is for that reason only that I have suggested longer hours for the court. The bill providing for the appointment of an additional judge ortappointment of an additional judge originally called for two, its friends demanding that two more judges were needed. Now with five members on the bench, the services of a second additional judge at this time would be made up if the five departments should hold slightly longer sessions daily. If each of the judges should hold court for one and a haif hours longer each day, the aggregate of seven and a haif hours would amount to an average day's work for another judge."

Although Judge Gatens, while serving

Presiding Judge Gantenbein last night said that so far as he was advised no change is contemplated in the working hours of the court, which, at present, are as follows: 9:30 A. M. until noon and from 2 to 5 P. M. The judges are expected to be in court, engaged in the

"If the judges of the Circuit Court are to be allowed any time in which to look up the law necessary to the decision of cases and attend to the other details connected with their offices," said Judge Gantenbein, "I cannot see how they can spend any more time in the courtroom. With the addition of Judge Gatens, one with the addition of Judge Gatens, one more case will be set for trial every day. At this rate it will take some time to catch up with the work, but we will clean up the business as rapidly as pos-

While Judge Gantenbein is serving as presiding judge, and his term as such will not expire until April 15, Judge Ga-tens will hold his court in the former's courtroom. This arrangement is only temporary and is made possible from the temporary and is made possible from the fact that under the present system the duty of the presiding judge is to pass on motions, demurrers and the preliminary steps that are necessary before cases are at issue. This work ordinarily can be conducted in chambers. For the purpose of providing for an additional courtroom the five judges will confer probably this week. It has been suggested that the two rooms now used by an emergency courtroom.

Before leaving Salem yesterday Judge Gatens was presented with an elegant silver-handled umbrella by Superintendent Steiner and the assistant physicians at the State Insane Asylum.

Baker Believes in Popular Vote on Charter.

MATTER IS NOW HELD UP

As Nearly All Members of Council Are Favorable to Referendum Vote on Adoption, Resolution Is Expected to Pass.

While the question of submitting the proposed new charter to the votors is at present being held up by Councilman Belding there is every reason to believe the objection will be overcome at the Wednesday meeting of the Council. Under the rules of the Council, no ordinance can be introduced and present at the same be introduced and passed at the same meeting, without unanimous vote. Councilmas Belding objected to the ordinance to submit the new charter to a special as well as a regular election, so the mat-ter was held up.

Just why Councilman Belding held the Council to its rigid rule, or just what are his objections to the new charter, is not known. An effort was made yesterday to obtain a statement from him, but he de-clined, saying that before he voiced his objections in an interview, he wanted more time in which to consider the new charter. It is understood that a majority of the Councilmen are in favor of placing it before the people. There may be an attempt at filibustering by Belding and a few members, in the hope of stalling off the vote on the question until after the time limit expires.

Councilman Baker was the man who introduced the resolution creating the Charter Commission, and while he is not as submitted, still be contends that the people have a right either to accept reject the work of the Commission their vote at the special election. In dis-cussing the new charter, Councilman Favorable to Referendum Vote.

"While I am not in favor of all of the provisions in the new charter, still I feel that the Commission was composed of trustworthy and competent men and their efforts should be submitted to the people. I feel certain that the entire Council, with but one or two exceptions, are in favor of submitting the new charter to the people at a special election. "I think the charter is objectionable of seven people the legislative and ex-ecutive administration of the city. If it were possible to elect men that were

if were possible to elect men that were absolutely competent to fill these seven positions, there would be no objections. Four men are a majority of the seven, which practically means that four men could combine and dictate the policy of the city government. Can you imagine any greater political machine, than placing the Police, Fire, Street-Cleaning and other departments in the hands of these four men? four men? "In this new charter, each Councilman is the executive head of some particular department. Take for instance the Coun-cilman who is at the head of the Police Department. He estimates that he needs so much money with which to run his de-partment, his colleague, who is at the head of the Fire Department, must have head of the Fire Department, must have so much money, and so on down the line. The most natural outcome of this sys-tem will be, that each man, to get his ap-propriation through, will stand in with the other fellow. By doing this he will be endeavoring, and quite naturally so, to make his department the most effi-cient, and as a result the taxpayer will have to bear the burden. The recall may have to bear the current. The formal happens be argued, but no matter how large the sum of money spent, if it can be honestly shown that it was used to improve any one of the city departments the taxpayers would hardly be willing to invoke the recall on a public officer, because the money was spent in the city's improvemoney was spent in the city's improve

"I have not had time to go deeply into the merits of the new charter. It has only been before me a couple of days. No doubt there are many good points in it I would advise every voter to read all of the provisions very carefully because it is a matter in which he is vitally interested and should know exactly what he is voting before he marks his ballot. Voting on this new charter is a matter of tremendous importance to the city and its future welfare, one that should not be done without cool deliberation and

ESSAY ON BACON

Twe caught you eye; you're now my game. No, the bacon I'm going to talk about has nothing to do with that prodigy of old England, who could shake a toel scuttle in the face of our present-day legislators when it comes to grafting; he who dived into the fame of Will Shakespeare and fliched a share of his honors; he who rounded out a sagacious career with a stay in jail like many a man no worse than you or I—no the bacon I am going to talk about appeals to the innards more than it does to art and is made from Oregon's prize porkers and is cailed "Fighting the Beef Trust" brand.

Have you ever stopped to consider how much civilization, especially the western cult, owes to bacon? In the golden days of '49 the argonaut struck out for the piacers with flour for flappacks and a slab of bacon; you never heard of him carrying a ham. Our Indian war veterans went to the lavabeds with rifles and slose of bacon. The sallor has eaten bacon and hardtack since men first went down to a bedsen the menu was bacon and biscuits and coffee, for breakfast, dinner and supper. When the news of Alaska's treasure store went around the world the gold-seekers outfitted themselves with bacon, bacon, bacon, and the price went so high that we folks who were left behind could hardly afford to eat bacon. But getting down to everyday things, how many people sit down to a breakfast of bacon each morning? You won't very colocated to the first families of Africa; it will be Smith's Ham.

MOTHER KILLS OWN CHILD

Wounds Two Other Children by Accidental Discharge of Gun.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Feb. 14.-(Special.) -A later report concerning the tragedy at Moclips in which a child of Fred Poe. an Indian, lost its life and two other children were seriously injured, states that Mrs. Poe, who was in the stern of the boat, saw a flock of ducks flying over the sea and suddenly grasping the shotgun, discharged it accidentally. Mrs. Poe was injured in the arm, her baby girl was killed and two other children seriously injured.

Although Judge Gatens, while serving as secretary to Governor Chamberlain, was not engaged actively in the practice of law, he did not neglect his study and reading of law. Several times during the last seven years he appeared in court and at different times went before the Supreme Court in important litiga-trial of cases, during those hours.
