ROSE FESTIVAL-June 7-12. '09.

MAKE FORTER ROAD BOULEVARD.-The Pleasant Valley Push Club has started agitation to make the Foster road, which onnects with the Powell Valley road at Creston, a boulevard extending from the city into that beautiful valley. The Foster road after leaving the Powell Valley road extends eastward through the Mount Scott district, Lents, McKinley Park and on to a point near Sycamore Station on the Gresham electric railway and then enters Pleasant Valley. The first en-deavor of the club will be to secure joint action by Multnomah and Clackamas counties to improve the Foster and other roads that are partly in both counties. Pleasant Valley is settling up rapidly and fruit orchards are being set out, but the roads to and in the valley are not in good condition. The Foster road is the main road into the valley. It has been im-proved between the Powell Valley road and Lents with crushed rock, making it one of the best in the county, and it is desired to have the same improvement continued on into Pleasant Valley. The club will hold another meeting tomorrow night, when definite plans will be faid for an active campaign for this improvement.

Mrs. H. C. Eckenberger is visiting her mother, Mrs. Amanda Summers, in Fres-no, Cal. Mrs. Eckenberger will be absent Dr. James Withycombe, C. I. Lewis and C. El Bradley, of the Oregon Agricul-tural College, Corvallis, registered at the Imperial last night. HAT'S a corking good bill at the Orpheum this week-ask anybody who was there yesterday. There's scarcely an act on the programme that is not worthy of high rating. Manager Errickson must feel decidedly proud of his show this week as indeed he has El T. Judd, president of the State Dairy Association, arrived at the Im-perial yesterday from Salem. He goes to Aberdeen on private business. P. R. Johnson, head of the passenger lepartment of the Canadian Pacific Rall-The big, nevel Indian spectacle, "A

It is a tabloid romantic drama in which an American Army officer falls in love with an Indian girl and, throwing descretion to the wind, visits the encampment of har father a powerful war-chief in order to see her. He is captured by the warriors and preparations are being made to burn him at the stake when the Indian maid intervenes as did Pocahonias of old, and saves his life. The two finally depart J. H. Qualman and Z. Lalonde are guests at the Perkins. They reside at Saginaw, Mich., where they are engaged in building contracting and visit Port-land to look over the situation here along R. H. England, of Rochester, N. Y., loe-president and general manager of he Central Railway of Georgia, is in the Central Railway of Georgia, is in the city for a few days. The two finally depart for the white man's way, leaving the old chief disconsolate. The little dra-ma is very impressive, the stage set-ting and native costuming elaborate ting and native costuming elaborate and realistic and the Indian music and war-dance the "real thing."

A wealth of gorgeous costumes also forms one of the chief merits of a splendid Japanese act, presented by the Kelabanzai troupe of acrobats, equilibrists and Jugglers. Their gorgeous gold trimmed mandarin coats alone are worth going a long way out of one's way to see. They perform some remarkable feats which are characteristic of the Japanese. Ordinarily this istic of the Japanese. Ordinarily this would be a head-line act and even in such good company as it appears with this week, it is notable. There are eight clever people in the troupe. Another act strictly in the head-line class is the novelty song and dance turn, listed as "Six Little Girls and a turn, listed as "Six Little Girls and a Teddy Bear." Everett Scott, a remarkably fine animal impersonator, makes a big hit as the "Teddy Bear" and the six girls support him delightfully in a number of sprightly songs and dances. A fascinating little violinist and vocalist is Nonette, until recently featured with "The Vassar Girls." She dresses in gipsy garb and presents a beautiful stage picture. Her playing of the violin is calculated to arouse the enthusiasm of the most critical. NEW YORK, Feb. 22 - (Special.)-People from the Northwest registered as follows here today:

He would be more successful, however, if he would use something else than the threadbare "Alwaya Leave them Laughing" song to close his turn. That's a good show at the Orpheum and you'll like it.

Pantages.

TO SEE a successful dramatic sketch written by a Portland woman who has achieved success on the stage and who appears in a creation of her own pen in company with an actor who has achieved high favor in the dramatic world is a topline act worth while. Such a fea-ture forms the most pressing of several good reasons for dropping in at the Pan-tages this week. Virginia Drew Trescott, good reasons for dropping in at the rational tages this week. Virginia Drew Trescott, a former Portland woman, who has many friends of former days in the city, and Melbourne MacDowell, star with the late Fannie Davemport in Sardou repertoire, are playing "A Man of the People," in which the problems of the relationship which the problems of the relationship which the problems of the relationship of capital and labor are taken up and dealt with in a manner that is sympa-thetic, forceful and direct. As many people as could possibly got into the thea-ter (hundreds were turned away) saw the initial performance yester me initial performance yesterday after-moon and accepted the presentation with enthusiasm. The sketch is in many re-spects a duologue, but it has a plot, a striking and ingenious climax and the cution is not imposed by didarticism, as action is not impeded by didacticism, as so often is the case where a social lesson is preached. Mr. MacDowell was quite the same MacDowell as in his days of Baron Scarpia or Loris Spaneff and his portrayal of the laborer is a thing to be rememembered. Mrs. Trescott, as the pampered daughter of millions, who has a will of her own, has never been seen here before to greater advantage.

The bill which supplements this act is in every way up to the Pantages standard. The Johnsons, colored people, are among the very few colored people who among the very lew colored people who are able to make a real go of darky comedy. Alsace and Lorraine, musical artists, play a number of instruments well, particularly the 'cello. They pre-sent a new magophone violin, which pro-duces wonderful 'ones. Clarence Oliver, as a monologist, has an excellent presence, and it seems a shame that he snakes his jokes from the Ladies' Home Journal of St years ago. The Rich duo, billed as "that happy pair," live up to the billing. Jean Wilson sings the usual weekly installment of plotured song and the motion pictures spin off a real lively, little tragedy.

Grand.

CAPACITY houses taxed both the aff the new week's bill at the Grand. The stellar act, "The Sexton's Dream," repesents to tower of old Trinity Church, in New York City, on Christmas eve. The scenic effects are most elaborate, repretheir stores at Portland, Seattle, Spekane, San Francisco, Calgary, Alberta and Vancouver, B. C. The last American-Hawaiian steamer, which arrived in Portland a few days ago, had a consignment of safes, some of which were landed at San Francisco and the balance at Portland and Seattle. It is a well-known fact that the Norris Safe & Lock Company are the largest dealers in safes in the United States. They are exclusive Northwest agents for the Hall's Safe Company safes and vault doors and the Elv-Norris Manard Manganese steel bank senting a birdseye view of that vicinity in the picturesque glow of nightfall. The aged sexion grows reminiscent and, feel-ing his youth again, bursts into song, to the accompaniment of the church choir Carroll and Cooke are comedians who have some new jokes and songs to offer, Thelma Wheeler swings into favor with the audience with her singing and dancing apecialty. Harry McDuffee, the new singer of pictorial ballads, has a good voice and found ready favor with his hearers.

Howard Truesdell, in conjunction with Celia Griffith and H. D. Crosby, presents a comedy sketch by Louis Wesley, called "Two Men and a Bottle." The skit has considerable plot and abounds with bright lines.

Another playlet is offered by Frank Mayne and company, in Owen Kildare's sketch, "The Tipster," Caroline Nielson as "a society lady" acts as a foll for Mayne's wittleisms and his outbursts of clever unadulterated slang. Averagely interesting Pathe films complete the

EARLY TOURIST TRAVEL

Spokane Chamber of Commerce Secretary Makes Predictions.

That tourist travel to Portland and the That fourist travel to Portland and the Pacific Northwest will be unusually heavy this Summer is the statement of L. G. Munroe, secretary of the Spokaric Chamber of Commerce, who, with his wife, visited Portland yesterday. While in the city they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Richardson.

"The cold weather in the East and Middle West during the Winter drove many people to the warmer sections of the Pacific Coast," said Mr. Munroe, who has just completed a trip to Los Angeles with the Spokane excursion and is now on his way home again. "In Southern on his way home again. "In Southern California today there are 100,000 tourists. Many of these travelers will return home California today there are 160,000 tourists. Many of these travelers will return home by the northern routes and will visit Portland. Because of the attractions here this Summer, the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition and the Portland Rose Festival. I expect this travel to be much heavier than usual. Not only that, but because of the presence in California at this time of the large number of tourists. I look for an earlier movement of tourists, it look for an earlier movement of tourists this way than ever before."

Mr. Munroe said the Spekana excursion to Southern California was an entire success and despite the many warm receptions tendered the travelers throughout the Golden State, they did not forget their welcome in Portland, which they much enjoyed.
