ROSS MUST GIVE UP BOOKS

Court Decides Receiver Howard Is Entitled to Them.

Howard, Jr., certain books relating to transactions Boss had with the bank before its collapse. Some lime ago W. C. Bristol and vocal selections. Parents of the community, and especially the older pupils of the South Mount Tabor school and the South deliver over the books. Ross ignored the request and the matter was taken into the Federal Court, a motion being filed seeking to force Ross to turn over the books. Arguments were made on the motion yesterday and Judge Wolverton hedded that Beckley. Howard was ton decided that Receiver Howard was entitled to examine the books, but that they could be kept from the public.
Ross, through his attorney, Wallace
McCamant, contended the books demanded by the receiver were private manded by the receiver were private property. He was willing to have them inspected by Mr. Bristol, but objected to Mr. Howard seeing them on the plea that Ross needed the books every day in his business. Mr. McCamant also objected to delivering the books on the ground that there was an ill feeling between Ross and Howard. It was noticed, however, after Judge Wolverton had rendered his decision, that the two greeted each other cordially.

LEWIS' AFFAIRS STRAIGHT

That All Interest and Fees Have Been Turned Over Regu-

Treasurer.

The office of County Clerk Fields was invaded yesterday by the county's expert accountant, J. W. Ferguson, and his assistant, J. L. Crosby. Several weeks at the very least will be required to finish operations on Mr. Fields' affairs. The accountants finished their check-ing up of County Treasurer Lewis' office early-in the day and submitted a for-mal report with the County Court, reveal-ing that the affairs of the County Treasurer could not possibly be in finer trim. Not only was all the cash in the proper channels, but there were two items above the sum that should have been on the books. These were for 20 and 30 cents. Mr. Lewis discovered the items some time ago, and being unable to account for them except that some minor mistake must have been made in making change, he placed them on his books as "unac-counted."

The report shows that Mr. Lewis has een turning in interest money to the ounty, the sum of $916.44 having been credited to the county which the Treas-urer might have put in his own pocket had his conscience been a little looser. for the only recourse the county would have had was suit to recover. But Mr. Lewis said he could not possibly figure out how interest money on cash belong-ing to the county could rightfully go into his own pockets, so he turned it all in.

BISHOP SCADDING ASKS FOR RENEWED DEVOTION.

Regrets Apathy Toward Religious ARRESTED ON AN OLD CHARGE Matters in Message to Churches of Oregon Diocese.

> In his Lenten pastoral, which will be read today in all the Episcopal parishes in the Diocese of Oregon, Bishop Charles Scadding refers to the apathy which has become prevalent with regard to religious matters and an increasing absorption in material affairs. The Bishop warns his parishioners against this and exhorts them during the period of Lent, which begins today, to renewed devotion to spir-itual things. The pastoral follows:

begins today, to renewed devotion to spiritual things. The pastoral follows:

Oregon is not an irreligious country, but the religious life is lacking in quality. As a watchman set upon the wall it is my duty to sound the note of warning against religious apathy, indifference, the spirit of implety evidenced in it ck of attendance on the part of many at public worship, the dull spiritual inertis of many, makins the mere loiterers around the barracks who in haptism were enlisted to fight manfully under Christ's bunner, and a practical maternalism which dishelieves the teachings of Christ. It would be easy, in keeping with the spirit of the age, to say these things are but figments of the imagination, that being evil they do not exist, and to cry 'peace, peace', but the word of the Lord to Ezekiel rings in my ears: "I have made thee a watchman; therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me." Oregon is developing rapidly on commercial and material lines, its resources, so largely undeveloped at present, are enormous; and are attracting thousands of settlers in whom the struggle for existence demands an attention to material, earthly things of time and scenes which tends to dull the realization of eternal realities.

In all the forms sin means a misconception of things. It is this which condemns so severely the easy-going worldiness which is clear of grosser falls, you never fastens on life's secret. It is the sin of misconception, of misdirection, of wrong perspective. Round and above us the great work of God moves, presses forward, and strains to its fulliment. Eternal Issues are at stake; voices call us to the work; angels reach out helping hands; the Holy Spirit urges, beseeches, invites. And what are we about? What feeting interests occupy our attention? On what contemptible littleness is our desire set? What folly it all is. Lost and busy in the thick of occupations that can have no issue, no fruit hereafter, we are in danger of becoming blind to the giory of our eternal destiny in Christ Jeaus. Against us, as inevitably as against him who of old saw nothing to do here but to build barns and lay up earthly treasures, it is God himself who utters the sentance, "Thou fool; how can it profit a

To rescue the soul from this loss, to release it, to recover it, to pluck it out of the snare, to open a passage by which it may escape into air and light and freedom, to save ourselves from making a fatal miscalculation—that is our Lenten work. That is worth a little pains, a little discipline. It can be done by the power and grace of God.
