Divorce Granted Wife of H. C. Bickerton, Portland Real Estate Man.

GIRL WEDDED UNWITTINGLY

Lucy Oliver, 18 Years Old, Freed From Jack Oliver-Trial Marringe Ends in Court-Various Bad Tempers.

Iona S. Bickerton was granted a divorce from Haughton C. Bickerton by Judge Gantenbein in Circuit Court yesterday morning. He is well known in Portland real estate circles, while Mrs. Bickerton owns considerable property in Portland. Their marital woes were aired before Judge Bronaugh in the Circuit Court a year ago. Bickerton confested his wife's suif, in which she alleged drunkenness and cruelty. contested his wife's suit, in which she alleged drunkenness and cruelty. While the case was on trial he offered to reform if his wife would take him back, and a written contract to that effect was drawn up and signed. Mrs. Blekerion then dropped the case.

But when placed on the witness stand yesterday she said that his habits of drunkenness had continued, and that he often remained away from home all night. Mrs. Bickerton's sister testified that her brother-in-law came to the night. Mrs. Bickerton's sister testified that her brother-in-law came to the spartment-house where they were living early one morning, and that when she wouldn't open the door lay down in the half for the rest of the night.

Mrs. Bickerton said that he came home after one of his sprees, told her he intended to end it all now, went into the bathroom and locked the door. In a few minutes, she said she heard August 2, 1904. Didn't Know She Was Married.

That Lucy Oliver, 18 years old, did not know the import of the marriage ceremony was one of the statements made before Judge Gantenbeln yestermade before Judge Gantenbein yesterday morning in her suit for a divorce from Jack C. Oliver. The court said that it was a remarkable case, but that he was obliged to grant the decree on the showing that the girl's consent was fraudulently obtained. Testimony was given to the effect that she did not love the man, and did not know that she had agreed to a lifelong contract when she was married by Rev. W. A. M. Breck on December 28 last year.

Oliver, who is a man 29 years old, is said to have taken the girl to her sister's home, and to have proposed Trial Marriage Ends in Court.

The first trial marriage which has ever come to the notice of the Circuit Court was brought to light yesterday morning. Alexander V. Downing and Laura Smelley were married in Chi-cago, November 26, 1904, under assumed ames, that their attachment for each other and their wedding might be kept from their relatives and friends un-til they were better able to tell wheth-er or not they were suited to each other. During the four years since the wedding they have lived together only one week, according to Downing's tastimony on the witness stand betestimony on the witness stand be-fore Judge Gantenbein yesterday morning. He obtained a divorce. Downing said that for the purpose of mairimony he assumed the name of Roy A. Wingold, while his wife took that of Jennie Rice. Then they went their several ways, continuing their work as before. Mrs. Downing was known under her maiden name until April, 1905, when she became known as Mrs. Downing, and they moved to April, 1905, when are became known as Mrs. Downing, and they moved to Springfield. Ill., where they rented rooms at $24 North Fourth street, and went to housekeeping. But Downing found it very unsatisfactory, for his wife left him to do the cooking and housework. She afterward surrendered the rooms without his knowledge and went to teaching school. She told went to teaching school, him, he said, that she preferred teach-ing to keeping house. Judge Ganten-bein granted the divorce,

DOUBTS STORY OF COBBLE

COURT SYMPATHIES WITH JES-SIE CAMERON FISHER.

Man's Tale of Being Chloroformed by Woman Disbelieved by Judge Van Zante.

Just whether David C. Cobble, itinerant photographer, was chloroformed by Jessie Cameron Fisher, adventuress, at the Knickerbocker House, several nights since, or whether he took the chloroform to end a life that had become unhappy because the woman refused to favor him with her affections, proved a problem that Municipal Judge Van Zante declined to solve, when the case was heard yester-day morning. There was much evidence either way, and when it was all in the court said he would give the woman the benefit of the doubt and let her go. although he was convinced of her mer-

Cobble, who is something near 30, unhandsome and unsophisticated, told the story of his approach to the verge of death in minute detail. The woman, who may be 25, on the border line between being homely and comely, and quite so-phisticated, declined to take the stand, contenting herself with a recital of the conflicting stories told by Cobble when he came out from under the chloroform. Two witnesses, Monroe Goldstein and James V. Sayre, quoted Cobble as hav-ing said he tried to suicide. They described farewell letters which he left to his mother, the newspapers, the police

Cobble, too, was said to have planned leaving the city and avoiding the hearing of the case. He was seen to enter a ticket office, where he inquired as to the rates out of Portland. Detective Price cornered him as he left the ticket office and saw to it that he was in court.

The photographer's story was a relteration of what he had previously told the authorities. On arriving in the city he met the woman and began taking her about to theaters and grill-rooms, he said. One evening he called on her at the Knickerbocker. There was another man there. Cobbie procured a bottle of wine. While he was out of the room the woman opened it and poured out three glasses. He drank one of them, and in minutes became dizzy. That was the last he could remember until he recovered his senses in bed, to find that the authorities had taken him in charge as a would-be suicide. As to the farewell letters attributed to him, he said he re-called writing no such messages, and if they were in existence the woman must have compelled him to write them while under her control. When he lost con-sciousness be had $135, he said. When he came to he had nothing. The court said it was entirely probable the woman was of a mercenary disposition and had effected the separation that had occurred between Cobble and his

Spot wheat, while running low, as is to be expected at this season of the year, is yet of sufficient volume to provide good sized cargoes coastwise for some weeks to come.

Lamber trade south was never better than now and foreign demand is also strong. The Pacific Export Lumber Company yesterday chartered the British steamship Clan Macfarlane to carry lumber to the Orient.

The Clan Macfarlane is of 2107 net register, being a vessel 400 feet in length, 50 feet beam and 27.6 feet depth of hold and will carry about 4,000,000 feet of lumber. She sailed from a Java port January 20, and is about due at Vancouver, B. C., from which port she will come direct to Portland to load. She is a steel

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

The success of modern methods is perhaps more clearly defined in the practice of medicine than in any other

10 line of human endeavor. For instance: Years ago remedies of various kinds were used in treating consumption, and nine-tenths of the patients died. Today little medicine is prescribed and they recover. The doc-tors have learned that the best way to combat most ills is by the indirect method of stimulating the body's natural power of resistance. Consumption is much easier to prevent than to cure. Neglect of a common cold is often the starting point of this dread dis-

NERVOUS AND MALE WEAKNESS

system is the underlying cause of lost manly vitality. Nervous debility is due to lack of nerve power. There is no excuse for the multitude of men who are unequal to enjoying the health of man in the highest stage of perfection. It was never intended that man at any time should be lacking in the essential elements that constitute a robust man, nor would any man ever suffer those mortifying and embarrassing con-sequences if his nervous system did not become weak and shat-Since the nervous system con-

Since the nervous system controls the action of all organs, and is the motor from which all power of the body is derived. It is evident that the proper and only successful way to bring back vim, vigor and vitality is to treat the nervous system. We revive the vim of strength in treating men by a system that recharges the nerve force, and when we dismiss the sufferer there will never again be a sign of weakness, except brought on by imprudence.
