-Reciting that allegations of serious misconduct in the office of the Insurmisconduct in the office of the lossiance Commissioner were being made in the press, a resolution was introduced in the House today providing for the appointment of a legislative investigating committee to report to the next session of the Legislature.

Investigation was defeated by a margin of three votes, the resolution being indefinitely postponed after those who had opposed it had declared that the Local Option Fight Drags.

The local option fight promises to drag out to the close of the session as a result of the House action today. as a result of the House action today, when the public morals committee's two reports were made a special order for next Tuesday. There will be but eight working days left after disposing of the question, if it is accomplished on that day, and with the issue in its present shape it will probably require several days for the Senate and House to get together, and they may possibly hang on until the last hours.

The majority report of the committee recommends the substitution of a new bill for the one that passed the Sensite. The new bill is that drawn by a act. The new out is that drawn by a self-apointed committee of Schatters composed of a few members from both sides of the issue. The minority of the House public morals committee rethe House public morals committee report recommends the passage of the Nichols bill, with important amendments. Jackson, floor leader of the local optionists, wanted consideration on Monday, but falled to get support. By a unanimous vote the House today passed the bill prohibiting the operation of bucket-shops. Palmer of King objected to the bill on the ground that it should also prohibit gambling on the stock exchange, but voted for it for the purpose of moving reconsideration. He was shut off from the latter purpose, however, by friends of the bill moving its reconsideration immediately and voting down the motien.

Railroads Permitted to Merge.

The merging of hon-competitive rail-road lines in this state will be made permissible with the sanction of the Railway Commission if a bill that passed the House today receives the same consideration in the Senate.

In discussing the measure House members today expressed the opinion that the bill was designed to counter-act the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Northern Securities case, but this claim was denied by the author. Tennant of King, who as-serted that its object was to permit a parent company to take up subsidiary ompanies.

It was claimed in oposition to the bill that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific would not be considered competing lines in this state by reason of their wide divergence between Spokane and Scattle, and that with a similar act passed in Iduho, Montana and North Dakoia the effect of the decision in the Securities case of the decision in the Securities case could be nullified. The bill passed, 73 to 8.

The Senate today passed the Senate appropriation bill providing $30,000 for the entertainment of the delegates to the National Irrigation Congress at Secret Conference Held on Call of Acting Governor Hay.

OLYMPIA, Wash, Feb. 26.—(Special.)—
A conference at which every member was bound to a pledge of secrecy was held in the office of Acting-Governor M. E. Hay today, when the proposition of the state officials asking that the Legislature appoint a committee to investigate all departments was gone over and discussed. No action resulted. All the elective state officers, with the exception of the Attorney-General, who is out of the city, were present, in addition to about 20 members of the Legislature, including Speaker Melgs, of the House, and President Ruth, of the Senate.

PINCHOT METHODS RAPPED BY SENATE

Agricultural Appropriations Passed After Grilling of Forestry Service Plans.

TELLER LEADS IN ATTACK

Colorado Senator Says State Is Developed Only Because Present Laws Were Not in Force During Pioneer Days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 .- After an entire day devoted to discussing the forestry provision of the agricultural appropriation bill, the Senate tonight passed priation bill, the Senate tonight passed the measure.

The Senate rejected the increase of $500,000 in the appropriation for the Forestry Service, as recommended by the committee, and then a curious parliamentary situation arose. Heyburn had offered an amendment directing the Secretary of Agriculture to eliminate from all forest reserves the public lands not tumbered and to restore such public lands. timbered and to restore such public lands to location and purchase under the land laws of the United States, and the amendment had been accepted by Warren, in charge of the bill.

When the amendment was laid before the Senate, Flint, of California, made a point of order against it, which was sustained by the Vice-President.
"If I had known that the amendment would not be voted on. I never would have concurred in the unanimous consent agreement," declared Heyburn.

The Vice-President then put the question to the Senste, which declared the amendment out of order.

Carter Loses Out.

Carter Loses Out.

Carter's amendment to reduce the forestry appropriation from $3.985.000, as passed by the House, to $3.150.000, was laid on the table by a vote of $2 to 25.

During the discussion of the bill Teller called attention, to the denunciations made against men who had cut timber on the public land in mining districts. He declared the timber had been cut legally and had yielded the Government in precious minerals many times the value of the timber. He said he had drafted and procured the passage of the act of 1878, which allowed the people of the West to do what they had been doing without any law, in the cutting of timber on public lands the cutting of timber on public lands for mining camps.

for mining camps.

"The men who swept these hills bare of timber," he said, "were not public robbers, but they acted in accordance with statutes, and they returned to the Government more than the timber was worth. There has been no willful destruction of timber in Colorado. The people of that state are more interested in the conservation of their timber than any people outside of the state could possibly be."

Teller Raps Pinchot.

Condemning the Forestry Bureau, Teller said if Pinchot's pian had been applied to Colorado during the days of its development, that state would still be the home of the coyote, the panther and the bear. The system, he said, was destroying the prospects for settlement in the future.

Reforestration, he said, had been a failure in Colorado. The farmers raise more timber in that state than is raised by the Forest Bureau.

FREED FROM ITCHING BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I have been successfully cured of dry eczema. I was inspecting the removal of noxious weeds, it being part of my duty, from the edge of a river and was constantly in the dust from the weeds. At night I shook out my trousers and cleansed my limbs, but for a prickly sensation. I paid no attention to it for two years, but I noticed a scum on my legs like fish scales. I could scrape it off, and yet I did not attend to it until it came to be too itchy and sores. My ankles were all sore and scabby and I could not wear shoes. I had to use carpet and felt slippers for weeks. I was then on particular police duty and was compelled to be on duty. I got a cake of the Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment. In less than ten days I could put on my boots and in less than three weeks, though on duty all the time, I was free from the confounded itching.
