The new tenants were admitted by the attendants and went at once to the private portion of the house in which Fresident and Mrs. Roosevelt received their guests with the simple cordiality and tact of ceremony which long and intimate acquaintance has established. Mr. and Mrs. Taft were invited by the Roosevelts, who realized the convenience of velts, who realized the convenience of such an arrangement.

President-elect Taft and Mrs. Taft had a day filled with personal interests. The Boardman residence, where he has made his home since his arrival, was flooded with callers and the demands of friends, talesume, and notificiars with callers and the demands of friends, statesmen and politicians were greater than he has experienced since his election. The news of the day, so far as appointments were concerned, was summed up in the statement by Mr. Taft that Beekman Winthrop, who recently declined the position of Assistant Secretary of State, has accepted the second pince in the Navy Department. Ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick, of Ohlo, who declined to be considered for the position of Secto be considered for the position of Secretary of the Treasury, refused Mr. Taft's offer to make him an Ambassador. It was desired that Mr. Herrick should go to Rome in place of Mr. Griscom.
Willis Moore, Chief of the United States Weather Bureau, notified Mr. Taft that the weather tomorrow would be clear and cold. This was received with appreciation in view of the steady downpour throughout the evening.

Taft Takes Oath at 1:10.

At 12:35 the Vice-President will direct he sergeant-at-arms to execute the order of the Senate for the inauguration. It is expected Mr. Taft will take the oath of office at about 1:10 P. M. and that his speech will require about 20 minutes.

Luncheon will not be served at the Capited for the new President, which has been the custom of the past, and Mr. Taft is expected to start immediately at the head of the procession for the White House. Mr. Roosevelt will begin his march to the Union Station at about the same time.

Gives Credit to Knapp.

Among the many persons received by President Roosevelt today were the mem-bers of the Interstate Commerce Com-mission, Chairman Knapp told the President that the country was indebted to his persistent efforts and commanding in-fluence for notable measures of regula-tion. In response, the President said:

The last Roosevelt dinner in the White House was served tonight with 14 persons present, constituting members of the families of the retiring and incoming Presidents. Mr. and Mrs. Taft were the principal guests.

A heavy rain began late in the even-ing, but a vast throng of visitors tramped the gally lighted streets just the same. It was estimated that fully 200,000 people had arrived and each incoming train and boat was adding its quota.

ANGRY WIFE TAKES ACID

FORBIDDEN TO ATTEND DANCE, SHE SEEKS SUICIDE.

Mrs. Milton Henderson Is Saved by Prompt Attention, but Is in Serious Condition.

Considering her life not worth the living, just because her husband had forbidden her to go to a dance Mrs. Milton Henderson who lives at the Pacific Hotel, First and Columbia streets, attempted suicide a little before 11 o'clock last night. To the fact that the bottle containing car-bolic acid, slipped spilling the fiery liquid over her cheek, she probably owes her life.

Mrs. Henderson succeeded in awallow-ing, in her husband's presence, enough of the fatal draught, to make her recovery doubtful. All of the neighboring roomers were in the house and were witnesses to some of the scenes which followed the

"The result of quick decision and action must have injured the success of Mr. Roosevelt's career, if it had not been that he has been freer than most men from that pride of opinion which prevents many men from admitting their errors, reversing their judgment and changing their course. I have had to do with a number of Presidents and with a good many chiefs and I am well within a good many chiefs and I am well within the truth when I say that I never met a man who, under proper presentation, would reverse himself as willingly and with as little trace of obstinacy or un-reasonableness as Mr. Roosevelt.

Difference in Tastes.

"The relation between Mr. Roosevelt than the previous mark. and myself has been one of close and sweet intimacy. It has never been ruffled the slightest degree and I do not ink we have ever misunderstood each other, Mr. Roosevelt's tastes and mine have not been the same. In the matter of athletics he takes to those games more violent than I am suited to, and more violent than I like. He has the strongest literary sense, and a power of application in reading current literature that to me is marvelous. He loves the woods; he loves hunting; he loves life akin to that of the pioneer; I don't.

Impatient With Lawyers.

"Mr. Roosevelt never had the educa-tion and practice of a lawyer. His in-tense desire to reach practical results for good has made him at times impatient of the restraint of legal methods, while I have been trained as a lawyer and as a judge and a judge and am as strongly imbued with the necessity for legal methods as II years on the bench are likely to make one; and yet in spite of this difference of method and difference of temperament, it is quite remarkable to me, and we have frequently commented on it to each other, that we have been in agreement in our views as to the results that ought to be obtained in the matter of government and political progress, even to de-talls, much more than other men who have come into association with both of
