SUNSHINE CAUSES FIGHT—As a result of insisting on sunshine during the time the sun was at its brightest yesterday morning Robert Young, a mission Chinaman, landed at St. Vincent's Hospital. Not that he was sunstruck. The sun was not hot enough for that; but A. C. Klett, Young's straw boss, developed sufficient heat to severely injure the man from China. Klett and the Chinaman were together in a bathroom at Fourth and Washington street. Klett presides at the bar and Young at the free lunch counter. Young insisted that the sun ought to be let in the door and proper to open. Having that temperament peculiar to veteran mikologists, Klett didn't want too much daylight in the place. He shut the door quickly, reprimanded the Chinaman and words led to a combat in which Klett demonstrated a high courage by seizing a heavy glass and breaking it over the Chinaman's head. Young was picked up by Patrolmen Gruber and Harms and taken to the hospital, while Klett was taken to the police station and booked on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

OBVIOUS to the unavoidable delay caused by the congestion of traffic on the Steel bridge, due to the closing of the Burnside bridge, commencing Friday, March 5, the Woodlawn and Alberta cars will run to the east approach of Burnside bridge and return. Passengers will be required to walk across the Burnside bridge to transfer cars on the West approach of the bridge. These transfer cars will run via Burnside st., Fifth st. and the Steel bridge to Union ave., and Holladay ave. to accommodate passengers who would rather ride over the Steel bridge and be delayed than walk over the Burnside bridge, and take cars on East side of bridge—Portland Railway, Light & Power Co.

NEWCOMERS MEET TODAY.—The Newcomers' Club will hold its regular meeting today at the Commercial Club, and expects to enroll a number of new members. The membership, according to Secretary Muller, is increasing rapidly, and much interest is being displayed by recent arrivals in the city. The recent lowering of the rates by the railroads has brought in many visitors from the East and the Middle West, and some of these will of course make Portland their permanent home. To these, the idea of the Newcomers' Club appeals irresistibly, and the officers and members of the club anticipate many accessions to their ranks from this source. The plans for the entertainment to be given on Thursday next, March 11, have been partially outlined and will be taken up and completed at today's meeting.

KENWOOD WANTS GAS COMPANY.—Application has been made to the street committee of the City Council by the Kenwood Land Company for a franchise to install in that suburb a system of gas mains and a gas-manufacturing establishment. The object of the company is to furnish gas for the Swift Packing Company and its other, and others who may wish the service. It was discussed by the street committee but briefly yesterday afternoon, and was then referred to City Attorney Kavanaugh for checking over.

TO CIRCULATE PETITIONS—State Senator Kellaber said yesterday that he was making arrangements to circulate the initiative petitions for a vote on the removal of the state government to Portland. He has a few petitions printed for circulation in Multnomah County, but these will not cover the whole state, including Eastern and Western Oregon. He announces that he will have enough petitions for this purpose within a few days, when they will be sent out. Mr. Kellaber says he has no doubt but enough signatures will be secured in a short time to authorize a vote on the question at the general election November, 1910, at which time he is confident that it will carry by a large majority. Mr. Kellaber proposes that the state capitol building should come to Portland first and then the other institutions afterwards as fast as provisions for them could be made. He is very much in earnest and has not the slightest doubt of the outcome.

GOOD TEMPLARS FIGHT SALOONS.—At a meeting of Scotch Lodge of Good Templars, held Thursday night, that organization placed itself on record as opposed to the licensing of saloons and favorable to a campaign for state-wide prohibition in 1910. OREGON PIONEER OF 1851

Funeral of Robert Foster, Who Died From Surgical Operation.

The funeral of Robert Foster, a pioneer of 1851, was held yesterday afternoon, and the remains were incinerated at the Portland Crematorium. Mr. Foster died at St. Vincent's Hospital March 3, after submitting to a surgical operation March 2, from the shock of which he was unable to survive. He was born August 21, 1841, near Montreal, Canada, and the family moved to Wisconsin in August, 1844. On March 5, 1851, the Foster family started with ox teams from Wisconsin across the plains for Oregon, reaching Oregon September 6, 1851, and locating for the winter on the Clatsop Plains, near the mouth of the Columbia River. In March, 1852, the family moved to the town of Milwaukie, and remained there until September of that year, when they moved to the Peninsula, settling near what is now known as University Park. Mr. Foster, father of Robert, taking up a donation claim of 287 acres at this point.

Mr. Foster and Robert went to Salmon and Boise mines and followed mining until 1864, when he returned to Columbia Slough. In 1865, he purchased 160 acres and farmed the same until 1877. He then moved to Sauvie Island, where he remained three years, and then went back to Columbia Slough. In 1881, with his brother, George Foster, he purchased a farm near Clatsop County, Wash., where he lived till death.

Mr. Foster was married in Clark County, November 2, 1870, to Miss Agnes Kerr, who died October 5, 1878, leaving four children, three of whom are living—Grant Foster, Miss Belle and Minnie Foster. His brother, George Foster, with whom Robert had been partner for many years, died in 1881, in Clatsop County, Wash., and Mrs. Hannah Larter, of Lewis County, Wash., are sisters.

LANE SHIFTS BLAME

Mayor Refuses Responsibility for Moral Squad Raids.

MEN MUST USE JUDGMENT

Declares Laws Relating to Social Evil Will Be Enforced, but That Investigations Should Be Thorough in All Cases.

Enforcement of the law relating to the social evil but the use of good judgment by the police in the investigation of all complaints. That is the way Mayor Lane summarizes his ideas concerning the operations of the moral squad.

It was learned authoritatively last night that the Mayor declined to accept responsibility for the indiscriminate operation of the moral squad, the matter that is now a subject of investigation by the grand jury.

Investigation in the enforcement of the law in regard to unlawful practices in rooming-houses and elsewhere, is what he told the grand jury. "All complaints should be investigated, but good judgment should be used. The only investigation I ever issued were for enforcement of the law and intelligent investigation of all such complaints. I can't be responsible or accountable for the mistakes and shortcomings of individual members of the Police Department," he added.

Mayor Explains Position.

Mayor Lane admitted last night, when asked, that these were the words he used in explaining his position as regards the reform wave when he was before the grand jury. "That was all I had to say to the jury," said he.

As regards the raid on the room of the Walpole, married people with a child," continued the Mayor. "I regard that incident as an unfortunate mistake. Complaint was made to the police and an investigation was made. I believe the investigation had not made the investigation. As to Sergeant Kielen, who has been cursed and abused up and down for what he did, I think he is the victim of an unfortunate circumstance. He was sent to investigate the Walpole. He did so. Bad judgment may have been made but I believe the officer is hardly to be blamed. It was merely an unfortunate mistake. Any man is liable to make mistake."

After shifting the Walpole incident to the bottom it seems that everyone concerned has passed the responsibility along until the burden rests upon the shoulders of Captain Slaver, in charge of the second night relief. He is the officer who issued instructions for the Chief.

Chief Dodges Responsibility.

The Chief, with characteristic adroitness and unwillingness to back up his subordinates in anything where an element of blame exists, says he was not behind Captain Slaver in this case. Chief Gritzmacher is always on hand when any of his men do a piece of creditable work. But when there is any blame, he knows nothing about it. Someone blundered but not he.

As the matter now rests with the grand jury the Mayor and T. G. Green, the jury the Mayor and T. G. Green, the Police Committee man who is reputed to operate the strings whereby a paper mache departmental head performs, have passed responsibility along to the Chief.

Will Restrict Night Raids.

Unless the grand jury takes some unusual and radical stand in the moral squad investigation, the system of night raids will not cease. The Mayor says so. But it will be restricted. He is not in favor of the law and intelligent performance of their duty. But I do not intend to stand for the shortcomings and lack of judgment of officers who get into the wrong places without justification or good knowledge that there is an infraction of the law. These officers are not custodians of the public morals, nor are they paid to prescribe the moral code that shall be followed. They are intended merely to see that the law is not broken and to do that in an intelligent fashion.

"Bootblack King" Sighs for Loving Mate

Sad Because Portland Girls Don't Suit, Peter Panekas Will Buy an Auto Tackle Park in His Wife Hunt.

THE "King of Bootblacks" is sad. For a long time he has wished to take a good, congenial girl to wife. But though he has looked for her a very, very long time, he does not think that he can find such an one in Portland. For though there are many Portland girls who might be inclined to look with favor upon Peter Panekas, as the "king" is merely to see that the law is not broken and to do that in an intelligent fashion.

Myers Will Case Is Certain to Be Appealed.

The George T. Myers will case was taken under advisement by Judge Bronaugh in the Circuit court Thursday and he proceeded at once to the trial of another case. The Myers case was appealed from the County Court. The reading of the extended testimony and the arguments have taken seven days. Whichever way the case is decided, it will probably be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Judge Webster set aside the will of the late George T. Myers, the wealthy salmon packer, and at one time State Senator, on the ground that he was laboring under the mental hallucination that his wife was murdered and that his daughter, Mrs. Georgia Frances Stevens, had befriended a physician whom she believed responsible for her death. Mrs. Stevens was cut off with only $20,000 of an estate worth more than $200,000, the balance being bequeathed to George T. Myers, Jr., a son. If Judge Webster's decision is upheld, the estate will be divided equally between the son and daughter.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

Protests have come from all directions regarding the enormous increase in taxes. We are paying from 40 to 100 per cent more taxes this year than last, and there seems to be no end to it. What assurance have we that they are not to be increased fully as much, if not more, next year? There would not be so much objection if we were getting value for the taxes we are paying now, but we are not. There will be a mass meeting of the property-owners at the Heilig Theater, Tuesday evening, March 9. This is a matter that is of the most vital importance.
