ALASKAN PILOTS LEAVE FOR NORTH

Advance Guard of Steamboat Men Will Go in Over Valdez Trail.

SEASON IS FAR ADVANCED

Captain Julius Oliver, of Portland, Will Be First to Arrive at Fairbanks, on Tanana River. Marine News.

Captain Julius Oliver, accompanied by Chief Engineer James Gilbreath, will leave Portland this evening for Seattle, en route to Fairbanks, Alaska. The two men will form the advance guard of the steamboat men who annually leave for service on the Yukon and Tanana rivers, in Alaska. Captain Oliver will assume command of the first steamboat to leave Fairbanks and Mr. Gilbreath will act as chief engineer.

Sailing from Seattle on March 16 the men will be compelled to go into Fairbanks over the Valdez trail. It is expected that navigation on both the Yukon and the Tanana will open several weeks in advance of the regular season and it is the intention of the company to be prepared to handle river business as soon as the ice clears out.

Captain James T. Gray, formerly master of the steamer Lurline, is employed as a master on the Yukon and will leave at the same time as Captain Oliver and Mr. Gilbreath. Other pilots who will leave for the North will not start from Portland until the first week in April.

STRANDED IN INLAND SEA

Steamship Empress of China Suffers Damage to Plates.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 12.—With silk valued at $1,566,382 forming part of a valuable cargo, and 13 saloon passengers, 217 Chinese, of whom only ten will pay the Canadian head tax, the Canadian Pacific Railroad steamer Empress of China reached port this morning, six days behind her schedule.

The vessel stranded February 19 on Hineshima, in the Inland Sea of Japan, which resulted in three plates being corrugated in waves for 60 feet, but causing no further damage than the starting of a few rivets, resulting in leaks in two ballast tanks, through which the steamer made but three inches of water an hour. The steamer backed off and continued on her voyage to Kobe. The passengers were landed and the steamer docked for the necessary repairs, which occupied five days.

CAPTAIN JACOBS ACCUSED

Master of Wrecked Schooner Soquel Complains of Treatment.

ABERDEEN, Wash., March 12.—(Special.)—According to Captain A. T. Stream, of the schooner Saginaw, now in port, the American Shipmasters' Association will file charges before the United States Treasury Department against the officers and crew of the revenue cutter Manning for alleged indifferent treatment toward Captain Henningsen, and survivors of the crew of the schooner Soquel, recently wrecked off Vancouver Island.

In reply to a letter of protest, Captain W. V. E. Jacobs, of the Manning, denies the charges and says the officers and crew did all they could for Henningsen.

T. S. McGrath Returns.

T. S. McGrath, who has been mentioned as taking a prominent part in the purchase of steamships for the Portland and San Francisco run, returned to Portland yesterday. When seen relative to the steamship situation and the alleged purchase of the steamships Yale and Harvard from the Metropolitan Steamship Company, of Boston, Mr. McGrath stated that he had nothing to say. He declared the interviews published in San Francisco and other papers were not authorized by him.

Captain Tozier Sells Indian Curios.

Captain D. F. Tozier, retired, of the revenue cutter service, has disposed of his collection of Indian curios to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce for $40,000. In the collection are 10,000 pieces, which include everything from baskets to totem poles. The collection is now in the hands of the Ferry Museum at Tacoma. An effort was made by the Government to secure this valuable collection, but the Chamber of Commerce of Seattle had an option.

San Pedro Shipping.

SAN PEDRO, March 12.—The steamer Coaster arrived this morning from Portland. The steamer Quinault arrived from Grays Harbor with lumber.

Departures today include the steamer Casco, for Willapa Harbor; Bowdoin, for Astoria; Majestic, for Portland; Olympia, for Bellingham.

The steamer Hoquiam arrived from Grays Harbor with railroad ties.

All Craft Must Obey Rules.

All craft propelled by steam and operating on the waters of the Willamette River will hereafter be compelled to pay strict attention to the speed limit and not operate faster than eight miles an hour in the harbor. Captain Speier has notified masters of all craft of the new law and hereafter will see that the same is enforced.

Columbine Loads for Tillamook.

The steamship Columbine, Captain Charles Richardson, of the United States Engineers' Department, is loading derricks and heavy machinery for delivery at Tillamook Rock. The Columbine will leave down Tuesday morning. She has on board a quantity of engineers' supplies for the rock.

Marine Notes.

The tug Goliah, with the barge Quatsino in tow, sailed from Astoria yesterday for Victoria.

With a full load of freight and 250 passengers, the steamship Rose City sailed for San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

The steamship Argo arrived up yesterday from Tillamook. She brought a full load of freight and a number of passengers.

It was announced yesterday that the steamer Bailey Gatzert would be placed on The Dalles run in place of The Dalles City on March 23.

John Brooke, statistical clerk of the local Customs House, left yesterday on the steamship Rose City for San Francisco. Mr. Brooke will spend a month in Southern California.

CHAS. H. WOODARD CALLED

PIONEER DRUGGIST IS SUDDENLY STRICKEN.

Old-Time Wholesale Merchant Calls on Friends, Suffers Stroke and Gives Up Unequal Battle.

Charles Henry Woodard, for many years in the drug wholesale business in Portland, formerly a member of the firm of Woodard, Clarke & Co., and later a member of Schnell, Heitshu & Woodard, died at his home in the Morrison Apartments at Seventeenth and Morrison streets at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon of apoplexy.

Hale and hearty, although 77 years old, Mr. Woodard was calling on friends Thursday afternoon and night, and seemed in the best of spirits. He went home later in the evening and complained of a pain in his back. He then called upon the family physician, Dr. A. E. Mackay, to whom he told his trouble. The pain was thought to be caused by rheumatism, and Mr. Woodard was given some medicine.

He then went to bed, but did not sleep much on account of the pain still lingering in his back and shoulder. In the morning it was no better, and he was moved to one of the south rooms in order to place him in the sunlight. When

Charles Henry Woodard, Well-Known Druggist, Who Is Dead After Long Career in Portland's Industrial Life.

Mrs. Woodard entered the room 10 minutes later she found her husband lying in the chair lifeless.

Help was immediately called and Dr. Macleay was summoned, but too late to be of any assistance. He was as much surprised as any one at the sudden ending.

Mr. Woodard was a member of the order of Masons, and this lodge is making all arrangements for the funeral, which is to be held Sunday.

His first entrance into the drug business was when he joined the firm of Woodard, Clarke & Co. He sold out his interests in this company and purchased an interest in the Schnell, Heitshu & Woodard Company. Later he sold out and established a surgical instrument store on Second street.

Brown & McCabe Must Pay $1750.

Because a heavy stick of timber fell on Frank Miller's leg last August and broke it, Brown & McCabe must pay $1750. This was the verdict of a jury in Judge Cleland's department of the Circuit Court, which has been trying the case. The jury was out two hours. Miller sued for $5000 damages. At the time of the accident he was working on the steamer Ilford, assisting in loading her with lumber at the dock at the Portland Lumber Company's mill. The timber was so heavy that the winch failed to hold it, and it dropped.

BAD COFFEE GETS BEATING FOR WIFE

Clara H. Snyder Says Husband Threatened to "Lick" Her Every Day.

SEEKS RELIEF IN DIVORCE

He Gave Her Black Eye, She Avers, Because She Tried to Clean Up Bits of Whisky Bottle He Dropped When Drunk.

Knocked from her chair at the dinner table by a blow from the heavy hand of her husband, who made the consoling remark that "If you can't make better coffee than this I'll lick you every day," Mrs. Clara H. Snyder has sought relief in the divorce court. She filed a complaint against Walter H. Snyder yesterday morning, in which she tells of his numerous acts of cruelty, and asks the court to permit her to resume her maiden name, Clare Pfleger.

She married Snyder at Greeley, Colo., December 20, 1903. A little more than a year later, she says, he came home at 3 o'clock one morning staggering drunk, and with several bottles of whisky in his pocket, which he broke on the floor. Like a tidy housekeeper she set to work at once to pick up the glass and to repair, as far as possible, the damage, when a blow in the face knocked her senseless. She says her eye was black and blue for weeks.

Two years later, she says, her husband came home an hour after midnight, intoxicated, and struck her in the back with his elbow with such force as to leave a dark bruise. Two months after this, in July, 1907, he started to drive his wife and her sister from Evans, Colo., to Greeley, but because he was intoxicated and drove carelessly, his wife says, the buggy was overturned and frightened the horse so that it ran away.

Says He Threatened Her Life.

The next month, Mrs. Snyder says, she was accosted late one night by her husband, who said, as he pointed a loaded revolver at her head, "If you move from your tracks I'll blow your brains out." She said that he satisfied himself by beating her on the head with the butt end of the weapon, and with pummeling her with his fists.

It was a year ago last January that he complained of the coffee, but although he complained of its quality, Mrs. Snyder says he did not provide the cash with which to buy it.

Circuit Judge Gantenbein granted nine divorces yesterday, and will probably grant the tenth today. This is the suit brought by Sylvia Loneyto Durocher against Jean B. Durocher, whom she married February 18 last, according to the complaint. The marriage license was issued on February 8, however, and the ceremony was performed by Judge Morrow. Both the parties are 26 years old. The wife was formerly Sylvia Loneyto Wright, and had been married before. Judge Gantenbein said he could not understand how a woman of her experience, who had lived with her first husband for three years, could make such a poor choice as she said she had made in her second husband. She said she went home one night and, finding that her husband had retired, sat down by him and asked for a kiss. She said the response was a blow which knocked her to the floor.

One Divorce to Husband.

Only one man secured a divorce yesterday. He was Arthur Lavy, the proprietor of a haberdashery at 486 Washington street. He said that the stock is worth $2000, and asked that his wife be cut off with none of it. He said she frequently informed him that she had been feeding him for the last seven years and that she was tired of it, and that in February, 1904, she chased him with a butcher knife, threatening to stab him. Then she brought her insane sister home, he said, and even to the store, where the sister swore in the presence of customers.

Besides testifying as to his wife's ability in handling the butcher knife, Lavy said she is also somewhat of a pugilist. It was in August, 1907, he said, that she went to the store, threw two hats in his face, broke the showcase and umbrella rack and made herself generally obnoxious. He said he formerly conducted a store in Wisconsin, where his wife kept away trade by berating him in the presence of would-be purchasers. The couple married in Chicago, June 26, 1900. The husband was given the custody of the two children.

Sarah Dunphrey secured a divorce from John H. Dumphrey, a locomotive engineer. She said his salary is $140 a month, and was given $50 a month alimony. She said he deserted her a year ago. They were married at Vancouver, Wash., February 20, 1894, and have one child, a girl 13 years old.

Beaten and cursed, Corta M. Clark was obliged to leave John S. Clark, she said. She was given a divorce and $30 a month alimony. The couple were married in Hamilton County, Ill., July 8, 1894, and have four children ranging in ages from 12 to 4 years.

Calls Husband Habitual Scold.

Ernestine Luedke said Albert Luedke is a habitual scold, and that she was frequently kicked and abused. She married him at Green Bay, Wis., September 1, 1891. The divorce was granted.

Amelia Anna Berndt was granted a divorce yesterday afternoon from Francis J. Berndt. They were married at Milwaukee, Wis., March 5, 1893. She testified that while they were living at 461 East Twentieth street, North, he slapped, beat and choked her, and informed her that his love for her had flown, and that he preferred to die rather than live with her. She also told of going East to her father's funeral, and said he would not send her money on which to return to Oregon.

Other divorces granted were: Sarah J. Tawney from T. W. Tawney, married January 12, 1907, desertion, former name Ward; Susie Geer from William Geer, married December 24, 1903, desertion, former name Green; Gertrude Alice Carter from H. G. Carter, married January 17, 1906, desertion; Hazel Ray Thompson from Lloyd A. Thompson, married June 12, 1907, desertion, maiden name Wilkinson.

CHARGED WITH ROBBING BANK

Virgil Claud Wells Indicted and Held in $5000 Bonds.

Virgil Claud Wells, accused of complicity in the robbery of the East Side Bank, was indicted by the March grand jury and the indictment filed in the Circuit Court at 2:30 P. M. yesterday. Presiding Judge Gantenbein fixed his bail at $5000. He is accused in the indictment of having robbed the bank of $5310 on December 8, last. It is evident that the grand jury believes four men participated in the robbery, for they also indicted John Doe, Tom Roe and James Doe to cover other captures which may be made between now and the time of trial by Sheriff Stevens, or the officers of the law in other parts of the country. The witnesses subpenaed and examined by the grand jury were President H. H. Newhall, of the bank; Mrs. Agnes Holmes, Clyde Jenkins, Ralph Mattison, Tony Arnaud and Sheriff Stevens.

Eleven indictments, and one not true bill, were returned by the grand jury yesterday. Only three of the indictments were given out for publication, however, as eight of the indicted persons are not in custody. Among the indictments is one against D. H. Williams, accused of having embezzled $1000 from Local No. 56, United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods. At the time of the alleged embezzlement, October 1, 1904, there were 167 members in the union, three of whom are named, E. M. Hogue, J. M. Davis and John Lorch. Williams' bail was fixed at $5000. To preclude the possibility of the statute of limitations being brought forward as a reason why Williams should not be tried, the indictment states that he has been in hiding in another state ever since the commission of the crime. He was brought to Oregon from California, and is now in the County Jail.

Sam Boue is accused by the grand jury of having assaulted Sing Jim with a revolver February 17, last. His bail has been fixed at $7000.

A not true bill was returned in the case of H. C. Giese, who was placed on trial a short time ago on a charge of arson. He was accused of having set fire to the showcase factory of James I. Marshall. The case was dismissed by Judge Cleland because of a faulty indictment. The fire occurred January 20, last.

Suit to Recover Balance on Bill.

Suit against M. L. Kline, the Gauld Company and the Crane Company to recover a $14,123.70 balance has been commenced in the Circuit Court by L. B. Barde through J. N. Barde, his guardian. It is alleged that Barde sold to Kline and the Gauld Company a stock of plumbing materials at 119 North Third street, at invoice price, and with the stipulation that the defendants were to be permitted to occupy the premises up till March 1. The goods totaled $15,955.15, it is alleged, this amount including the price of a car of lead standing on the track. It is alleged that only $1831.87 has been paid on the bill.

Linnton Man Arraigned.

W. A. Miller, a Linnton dry goods merchant, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Olyson yesterday and pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault upon William Gorman. Miller's bail was fixed at $1000, and he was bound over to the grand jury. Attorneys John F. Logan and John A. Stevenson appeared for him. He is said to have shot Gorman, who is a swamper, in a saloon at Linnton, with a derringer about noon last Tuesday, while crazed with drink.

Mount Hood Road Sued.

The suit of Fred A. Williams and S. S. Dill, of the Dill Contracting Company, against the Mount Hood Railway & Power Company and the Mason Construction Company, is on trial before a jury in Judge Gatens's department of the Circuit Court. The plaintiffs demand a $3936.26 balance, which they allege to be due upon a contract for construction work. The case will probably go to the jury today.

HA, HA, BIG PLOT!

Lawyer Davis Scents One in Paving Contracts.

HE WANTS AN INJUNCTION

City Executive Board Considers General Question of Street Improvement and Members Banter Counsel of Concerns.

Charging a conspiracy among contractors to maintain a high price for Belgian blocks, Lawyer W. M. Davis appeared before the City Executive Board yesterday afternoon and served notice that he will seek an injunction in the courts, to restrain the awarding of contracts to the Montague-O'Reilly Company, to lay stone blocks on certain streets in Portland. Mayor Lane will hold a special meeting of the street committe soon, at which an investigation will be made, and the City Attorney will render a written opinion on the matter. Mr. Davis formerly represented the Denny-Renton Coal & Clay Company, of Seattle, which firm came into competition with the stone block concern in the effort to secure the award for paving the large wholesale district in the north of the city.

"Sore head," is what the competing company says, in reply to the announcement of Mr. Davis. "He has discovered a mare's nest," said Lawyer Richard W. Montague, counsel for the Montague-O'Reilly Company, after Mr. Davis finished his declarations. "We welcome an investigation, and assure the Mayor and members of the Executive Board that we are in no wise fearful of the outcome."

The basis of the charges made by Mr. Davis is that the contracts were awarded to the Montague-O'Reilly Company prior to the incorporation of that firm, and that the firm is capitalized for but $25,000, and yet is bidding for work that costs $100,000. In a written communication, he said that he believes the new concern to be a dummy, merely a part of a scheme to keep up a high rate on stone blocks, and that, if the Mayor and Executive Board carry out the evident intention and the Mayor signs the contracts, that Mr. Davis will take the matter into the courts. The letter was originally sent to Mayor Lane, personally.

"I received this letter," explained the Mayor, "but I think the members of the Board should know if it, and I would like to know if you wish to take any action."

"I move that it be re-referred to the Mayor," said Thomas G. Greene, and there was a general laugh.

"This is a pretty serious matter," said Mr. Davis, "and if you don't think so, Mr. Greene, I will show you an interesting time before I get through."

P. E. Sullivan suggested that the matter be referred to the street committee for an investigation. Another member thought it should go to the City Attorney for an opinion.

"I have a suggestion that beats them all," said Mr. Greene. "Let the Mayor sign the contracts, and then the matter can be taken into the courts, if Mr. Davis wishes to. That is what courts are for."

"If you are interested in the good of the city, Mr. Greene, you should take a different stand," said Mr. Davis. "If you could save the city expensive litigation, you should do so."

"Oh, I've heard that before, 'Pike,'" replied Mr. Greene, "and in nearly every case the city wins. We just won a case yesterday."

The streets concerned in the threatened litigation are some for which the Seattle firm bid, but the main contention between his company and the local one is said to have been in the contest for the award of work in the large wholesale district in North Portland. The Seattle company, after arduous toil, secured a petition of considerable size for vitrified brick, but the stone block petitions were larger, and the Council designated the blocks for the pavement.

RECOMMENDED FOR THROAT TROUBLE.

People in public life, upon whose vocal organs there is more or less constant demand, consider the "common cold" one of the serious afflictions. A noted preacher in one of the larger towns in Massachusetts contracted a cold which would not yield to ordinary treatment, and in a short time became so hoarse that he was unable to make himself heard in ordinary conversation, and preaching from the pulpit was out of the question.

Acting on a friend's advice he took a couple of drops of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure on a lump of sugar, resulting in almost immediate relief from the hoarseness. It is claimed that a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, mixed with two ounces of Glycerine and a half pint of good Whisky, taken in doses of a teaspoonful every four hours, will break up a cold quickly and cure any cough that is curable. Purchase the ingredients from the Skidmore Drug Co., or any other first-class pharmacy.

Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure is put up only in half-ounce vials, each vial securely sealed in a round wooden case, with an engraved wrapper, showing plainly the name, Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati O. The mixture of Whisky and Glycerine with the Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure makes a sufficient quantity to last the average family an entire year.

Lack of Virility or Vital Power

Is one of the most depressing and important conditions with which physicians have to deal. The nerve origin being in the lower brain, the medulla oulongatia and medulla spinalis, and center of the lumbar enlargement, as well as the glandular and muscular apparatus, remedies must be used with these facts in view, and it stands to reason that treatment of these important centers should not be entrusted to quacks or experimenters.

If you have an ailment of the delicate or sensitive centers, come and talk your case over with me. If I can do you no good, I will certainly do you no harm. I will not charge you a cent for any information I may be able to give you, and if you feel convinced that I am the right man to handle your case I will do so on eminently satisfactory terms to you.
