BISHOP POINTS TO EVIDENCE OF GOD

In Sermon to Non-Catholics. Prelate Says Belief Is Universal.

PRIESTS SHOULDN'T MARRY

Speaker Contends Clergy Should Devote Selves Solely to Church and That Wives Might Divide Their Affection.

"Evidence of the Creator's Existence," was the subject of the sermon preached at the Cathedral last night by Bishop J. J. Keane, of Cheyenne, Wyo. He is delivering a series of sermons to non-Catholics on the Catholic religion. To-night he will endeavor to answer the question, "What Manner of Religion Can Satisfy a Man's Need?" Before begin-ning the sermon proper last night Bishop Keane spoke in brief of the reason priests do not marry. He said in part: The priest should be like Christ. The avior is the only man in whom you can ace no specializing line, no national chartrace no specializing line, no national characteristics. In all he said and did there is nothing which can be claimed by any caste or nationality. It should be the same with the priest. I had a good neighbor in Cheyenne, whom I met on the street one day. He said he was going to leave the state. I was both surprised and disappointed. He said that his wife didn't get along very well with the ladies of the congregation. If he had been a priest, and had been married, conditions might have been the same. I once purchased three books to read on the train. They were written by non-Catholics, and told of the evangelism of China. They all agreed that the evangelism for China. They all agreed that the evangelism to China. China was a failure and that the cause was

China was a failure and that the cause was a woman. There are many reasons why a priest should not marry, for there are many temptations which would draw him away, were he married. Any one who has read and observed will not question the wisdom of separating those who voluntarily give themselves to works of charity and religion. The Catholies have tried it, and they

ion. The Catholies have tried it, and they have justified the experiment.

"I believe in God, the Father Almighty. Creator of heaven and earth." These opening words of the apostles' creed express a truth, or, at any rate a conviction, which is the most universal, the most firmly fixed, of all the convictions upon which the heart of man has rested, and which has guided his life, morally and socially. The belief that there is a God is at the basis of all man's relations, religious, social and political. It has given color to all philosolitical. It has given color to all philosophies that have ever been honored by any following. It has contributed more to the formation of human character, and the following. It has contributed more to the following. It has contributed more to the shaping of human destiny, whether you look at it in the individual or in the nation, than all the speculative philosophies I have ever known.

The latest word from those who have studied the question closely is that the conviction there is a God is universal. It is a fact that the trees all lean to the east where the prevailing winds are from the west. Savage people all share our conviction that God exists, and an illiterate man's senses, regarding things which come close to his life, are more safe than the arguments of the philosopher.

This is a magnificent universe. Scientists have counted 18,000,000 stars in the Milky Way. Light traveling 186,000 miles a second would take 15,000 years to travel from the extreme to the other over the length of the Milky Way. Stars have been found 18,000,000 times larger than our world. Man has found that the laws which govern the earth govern the stars. We have already counted 87,000,000 of them, all in motion, each around its system. They all constitute one magnificent whole, a universe.

constitute one magnificent whole, a universe.

The flower has the power to convert the elements of the earth into its own substance, adding to its beauty. It has the power of reproduction. Yot science sizes it was not always thus. The universe was once one mass of nebulous matter, a million miles of a single element. Then it formed. The crust of the earth was in a state of igneous combustion. Every germ of life was impossible. All the stars were formed in the same way. And hore the scientists theorize. One man would have you believe that astral ashes carry life. He is put to that extremity to account for God. Scientists would have you and me believe that it was a fortuitous concurrence of this nebulous matter that gave us what we have. But the Christian says that order is the fruit of intelligence. Which is easier, to admit that God is, or to make a god of every act and multiply dieties?

The Bishop then spoke of man's in-

The Bishop then spoke of man's in-tuitions and instincts, of a conscience which convicts men, though their fel-lows do not. He said every man in-stinctively knows right from wrong, that life is a riddle and that the Chris-tian's God is the solution.

MINISTER ASSUMES PULPIT

Rev. Mr. Cudlipp Makes Debut at Grace Methodist Church.

Dr. J. H. Cudlipp, recently called to the pastorate of the Grace Methodist Church, occupied his new pulpit yesterday morning for the first time. His theme was "The Function of the Church," and his text I Tim. ili.15, which says that the church is the foundation and pillar of the truth. Dr. Cudlipp, who comes to Portland from the Methodist Church, of Wichita, Kam., said that the rich are in much greater need of the gospel than are the poor. A portion of the sermon follows:

If we would have a strong, powerful, saving church, we must give ample attention to the worth of intellect. It is a significant fact that God has never yet given to ignorance the real leadership of the church. Dut has always been deferential to the worth of the trained mind. I find ample proof for my cialm in the history of the church—Moses, Paul, Erasmus, Wesley—and I take it that we shall do well to give beed to this, now that so much is being said concerning the relation of the church to the rich and the poor.

My own conviction is that we are actually relation of the church to the rich and the poor.

My own conviction is that we are actually heglecting the rich and the educated. That is to zay, we have somehow gotten the notion that they will look after themselves, when the fact is they do not. I know of no reopie in more need of the gospel today than the rich and so-called educated. Fifth avenue, New York, needs the missionary as much as does the alum.

But again, if it is time that the church must have healt. Moses was provincial and always would have been, had not God louched his heart. Moses was provincial and always would have been, had not God louched his heart. Paul would have died intown only to a few of his countrymen had not God touched his heart as well as his head. Erasmus was a scholar, and God shore knows how much he did to bring about the reformation, but it was for Luther, the great heart, to set fire to the stubble which Erasmus, by his logic, had fried up.

Dr. Cuddipp's subject last night was,

Dr. Cudlipp's subject last night was; Tomorrow, via Yesterday." He sald: Someone has said that "the soul of man is monarch of three kingdoms." Man lives at once in the present, the past and the foture. Memory presides over yesterday, today is ruled by reason, tomorrow is under the sway of hope.

My disgrace now is not that I am imperfect, but that I am content to remain so. The victory of life is to climb out of man's nothing, toward God's all-complete. Everything we have and enjoy is the product of hope. Millions of men would die of despair tomorrow morning were it not for the hope that something will turn up.

M. C. A. yesterday afternoon with speci-mens of his verse and epigrams. Mr. Cooke based his talk on the subject, "In-Cooke based his talk on the subject, "Individuality, With Some Apt Baseball H-lustrations," Individuality was not popular, the speaker thought. "If we see a man with courage to follow his convictions we dismiss him with an epitaph, "the crank," was the way Mr. Cooke expressed himself on this subject, and added the couplet:

You'll make no hit believe it true.

added the couplet:

You'll make no hit, believe it true.
By doing just like others do.

"John D. and John L." said Mr. Cooke,
"won their success by the same methoddriving all their opponents from the ring —only John L.'s ring was a square one."

Some of his phrases were: "I hope a little substance from my address may stick to your spiritual ribs;" "A man owes it to himself to look himself in the face and ask himself if he is himself;"
"It sounds well to call yourself one of the flock—you're really only a sheep after all, and we're all mutton on the block;"
"If you and I were selling commodities and we were to change the things we sold, I'd still believe that you had a little the better of me;" "I cannot escape a suspicion that you never see things for yourself."

B. Polying medical distributions.

R. R. Perkins was introduced to the meeting as the religious director of the association. Mr. Perkins comes from Toledo, O., and will address the men's meet-steamship Daniel Kern, formerly the lighthouse tender Manzanita, would be fitted out as a freight and passenger boat and would operate between Portland, Bay City and Yaquina during the coming Summer. This has been denied by Daniel Kern, owner of the vessel. In an interview last evening Mr. Kern said: "We are placing a new boiler in the steamer and by the first of April will put her in commission towing rock to the jetty at the mouth of the Columbia, She is badly needed by our firm for that work and will be for the next two years. When our contract with the Government is finished I suppose we shall be compelled to find some business for the boat. She will not be engaged in any run except towing until after a year from next. copt towing until after a year from next

At present there is no steamer con-nection between Portland and points on Yaquina Bay. The gasoline sloop Conformerly operated on the run, she has been tied up for the last three months. Between Portland and Tiliamook the business is handled by the steamships Sue H. Elmore and Argo. They are capable of handling all the business that offers business that offers.

New Steamer Turns Over for First

Time-Official Trial Next Week. In command of Captain Blaine, and In command of Captain Blaine, and Captain Groves acting as pilot, the new steamer H. B. Kennedy, built by the Willamette Iron & Steel Works, for the Seattle-Bremerton run on Puget Sound, made a trip down the Willamette River yesterday. As guests of H. B. Kennedy and the Iron Works, several members of the Port of Portland enjoyed the trip.

The voyage was a preliminary to the trial trip, which will be held next week. It was for the purpose of testing the engines and boilers and to ascertain what was needed in way of alterations. The boat operated on low steam pressure and made better than 17 miles an hour.

From Coos Bay ports the steamship Breakwater arrived last evening with a large passenger list and a quantity of freight. The steamship Argo is loading at the Oak-street dock for Tillamook. She will sall tomorrow night.

At Rainier the steamship Yellowstone is loading lumber for San Francisco. With general cargo from New York via Salinas Cruz, the steamship Riverside arrived up yesterday morning. She is discharging at the Columbia No. 1.

The British steamship Yeddo, from Portland for Australian ports, arrived at San Francisco yesterday, where she will receive the American and English mails.
