Canadian Article in the Local Market. Large Supply Available. Alberta Farmers Seeking to Market Their Surplus on the Pacific Coast—May Hold the Prices Down.

Canadian oats have appeared in the local market for the first time in the history of the trade. An initial lot of 2000 tons is to be marketed here in the near future and a few cars of the shipment have been already received.

Another factor that is causing some uncertainty in the local market is the quantity that will be offered for sale by farmers in the valley and elsewhere as soon as a seedling is finished.
