

HOUSE FIXES DAY FOR TARIFF NOTE

Will Decide Fate of Payne Bill Friday, 20 Republicans Opposing Rule.

the result of compromise. There was an uproar when Randall asked if Clark believed in the doctrine that if a Representative here gets some swag, he ought to go with the Republicans in making this bill.

Clark objected to the word "swag" and said the people of the South, who bear the burden of the protective tariff system, at least ought to have a division of the benefits. Amid applause from the Republicans, Clark declared: "I am in line with the Democratic party, but I am not in line with the Populist element that has controlled it recently."

Evidently referring to Clark of Florida, Fou of South Carolina said that any man who supported the bill belonged on the Republican side. He likened Clark to the Arab chief who had surrendered his companions for a part of the booty.

Remarking that he placed his patriotism above selfishness, Chairman of Washington defended the special order. He warned the members against putting lumber on the free list.

Fitzgerald Denounces Bill.

Republican handclaps greeted Fitzgerald of New York, the new Democratic member of the committee, when he said Clark, the minority leader, had refused him time to speak, whereupon he sought and received time from the same source as the minority leader, and that was Dalgell.

"Whatever differences I may have with my party associates in the House," he said, "I shall settle at an appropriate time. I think to my own satisfaction."

Fitzgerald denounced the Payne bill, charging that it was a "tariff bill" reported to be "Confident that the tariff was to be revised by its friends," he asserted, "this capital has seen a complete absence of the great industries representing the combined corporate wealth in the United States."

Calling attention to what he said were the jobs in the bill Randall of Texas said the measure was full of fraud and deception.

Clark of Missouri argued that every member had the right to vote on the bill "from a toss." If members insisted on using their hands, he said, they could do so, but he would not do so.

"When you go back to your constituents," he exclaimed, "don't be so cowardly as to undertake to lay this whole thing on Mr. Cannon's shoulders. He called attention to the 'outrageous raises' in hosiery and gloves. The House, he said, had a right to say whether steel rails should go on the free list. He charged that the delay in bringing in the rule was for the purpose of 'making trades' of bulldozing and 'wheddling men on to the reservation."

Payne Answers All Critics.

Answering all the arguments against the rule, Payne declared that the Republican party would be held responsible for the bill before the country. He asserted that every fact and every source of information had been sought in order that a bill might be presented that would do simple justice to the consumer and the laborer. Responsibility on the Democratic side, he said, was different. The Democrats had shown some diligence, courage and patriotism, they would have presented to the country their idea of a tariff bill. He defended the glove and hosiery schedules, and declared that under the bill they would be sold as cheaply as they were in any other American workmen and better workmanship. He pleaded with his colleagues to look beyond their districts and "for God's sake" back to the people of the country.

Dalgell moved the previous question, but before the vote was announced, Clark of Missouri moved to recommit the rule and became involved in a controversy with Dalgell and the Speaker over whether the motion was in order. Clark, amid Democratic applause, withdrew his former decision of Speaker Cannon holding that a similar motion to recommit was in order. In an elaborate decision, Speaker Cannon held that the question was in order.

"This is not an ordinary rule," he said, and Clark's motion was overruled.

Vote on Adoption of Rule.

On the motion for the previous question the Democrats forced the rollcall. The vote rested ayes 186, nays 130, and the previous question accordingly was ordered.

Another rollcall was forced by the Democrats on the adoption of the rule. The order was adopted, ayes 184, nays 178.

Twenty Republicans voted against the rule and four Democrats for it, as follows:

Republicans—Austin (Tenn.), Carey, Cooper, Lemmon, Moore, Newson (Wyo.), Dawson, Good, Haugben, Pickler, Woods, Hubbard, Kendall (Iowa), Hinshaw, Norris (Neb.), Lindberg (Minn.), Murdoch (Kan.), Parsons (N. Y.), Poin-dexter (Wash.), Young (Mich.). Democrats—Broussard, Estopinal, Pule and Wickliffe (La.).

On the previous question Copp (Wis.) and Wilson (Minn.) joined the Republicans just named voting against the motion. The Speaker then ordered the bill be taken up and considered.

Fordney Strikes Snag.

Fordney of New York at once moved to strike out the countervailing provision of the lumber schedule. A snag was immediately encountered by Payne's moving that the committee rise. This was for the purpose of laying the bill aside and moving an adjournment, but the Democrats stoutly resisted and avoided themselves of all preliminary tactics to thwart him.

Payne's motion prevailed, 192 to 144, and he immediately thereafter moved to adjourn. The Democrats forced another rollcall. The motion, however, was carried ayes 186, nays 130, at 4:53 P. M. until tomorrow.

Standpat insurgents were busy trying to rally their forces before the rule was brought in, but some of them foreseeing defeat, got "back on the reservation" and voted for the rule. Their main efforts today were directed towards keeping the lumber schedule from coming to a vote, which they feared would put that commodity on the free list.

Representative Rodenberg, of Illinois, circulated a petition to the ways and means committee, signed by 25 members, asking that the drawback on lin-plate be reduced from 99 per cent to 55 per cent.

DEMOCRATS READY TO HEDGE

Simmons, of North Carolina, Writes Against Free Lumber.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—That the Democratic Senators who have local interests which might be injuriously affected by a reduction of the tariff on them, will not feel called upon to allow the declarations of the Denver platform to stand in the way of their opposing such reductions, is indicated by a letter which Senator Simmons of North Carolina has written on the subject of the tariff on lumber. He takes the position that the Democratic pledge of a tariff for revenue only was made with reference to the whole tariff system and therefore it does not apply to any individual article.

"Did the Democrats," he asks, "mean to promise free lumber without any regard to the character of the general measure of which it was to be a part, or their declaration that would result if that measure covered with highly protective or prohibitive duties other articles in the same general classification?" He answered his own question in the negative.

WILL PREACH SEMI-CENTENNIAL SERMON SUNDAY.

Bishop J. M. Thoburn.

Bishop J. M. Thoburn, formerly of Portland, will preach his semi-centennial sermon at Meadville, Pa., April 11, and this will be the first in a series of sermons to be given on the 50th anniversary of the Bishop's graduation from Allegheny College. They will conclude with a banquet in his honor April 13. It was in 1857 that the Bishop graduated and two years later he immigrated to the United States and devoted his life to missionary work. Among the speakers at Allegheny Sunday will be Dr. S. J. Herbert, Miss Lavast Slings of Lucknow, and Assistant Secretary Stuntz, of the board of foreign missions.

negative and says that "to give the declaration that construction is being held to the letter of that promise while disregarding the spirit." He then declares that the tariff on lumber is already low as compared with the duty on other building materials such as steel, iron and cement, and adds: "If we are to have a tariff for protection, it would seem unjust to protect one industry and not another, or to protect the industries of one section of the country and not those of another."

He declares, however, that even the present duty of 20 per cent on the revenue basis, and he promises to do all that he can to maintain the rate.

FILIPINOS URGE AMENDMENTS

Manila Chamber of Commerce Wants to Limit Free Trade.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Messrs. Legario and Ocampo, the resident Philippine Commissioners, today received a cablegram from the president of the Filipino Chamber of Commerce transmitting a resolution urging the following amendments to the Payne bill: "Free entry into all ports of the United States of Philippine sugar and tobacco in conformity with letters A B C of joint resolution No. 11 of the Philippine Legislature, passed March 18, 1908."

"And with a view of protecting importations already on hand, we request that the bill, with the amendments suggested above, should be in force until six months after its passage."

The letters referred to in the cablegram relate to clauses limiting the yearly importations into the United States from the Philippines, under the free list, to 400,000 tons of sugar, 7,000,000 pounds of raw tobacco and 50,000,000 cigars.

PROTEST AGAINST FREE COAL

West Virginia and Washington Members Combine.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Protest against the free importation of Canadian coal, as provided for in the Payne tariff bill, was made at a meeting today of the Representatives of the West Virginia and Washington members of a Representative of the State of Washington.

Eighty-five per cent of West Virginia's business is said to be in its coal mines. A committee of coal men will appear tomorrow before the Senate finance committee.

Iron Ore and Barley Men Retreat.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Protests against the Payne tariff bill were prominent in the proceedings of the House today. Smith read a vigorous declaration of some of the iron ore interests of Michigan against placing that product on the free list, and West Virginia members equally strong petition from his constituents of Minnesota objecting to taking the protective tariff law from barley.

Senate Confirms Two.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Senate confirmed today Charles S. Dyer Norton, of Illinois, to be Assistant Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, and James T. Dubois, of Pennsylvania, to be Consul-General at Singapore, Straits Settlement.

TOWNSHIP VOTE IS FINAL

Judge Decides Action on Prohibition Will Stand in Court.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 5.—(Special.)—The action of a township on the liquor question is final, and the township that voted "dry" at the town meeting in March must remain dry for one year, according to a ruling of Judge Kennan, this morning in finding John W. Critzer, of Elk Gulley, guilty of selling liquor contrary to law. Critzer was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs. This ruling of the Superior Court is in Former Resident of Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 5.—(Special.)—Miss Mabel Crawford, formerly a resident of Vancouver, died Sunday at Bellingham. The body will be shipped to this city and funeral services will be held here tomorrow afternoon. She was the daughter of James Crawford, who was in business in Vancouver during the Civil War. Her brother, J. M. Crawford will accompany the body here. He is superintendent of the state fish hatcheries of Washington.

NELSON FLEECED OF COIN

Believed to Have Been Victim of Blackmailing Scheme.

TACOMA, Wash., April 5.—(Special.)—That Andrew P. Nelson, the wealthy switchman who died searching for his wife, was besieged and perhaps the victim of blackmailing, developed today when Chief Detective Fitzgerald made public Nelson's dealing with the police department. But a few weeks before his death, Nelson received an anonymous letter stating that if he would deposit $500 in gold tied in a canvas sack under the steps of a school house near his home, he would receive information concerning the whereabouts of his wife. The letter stipulated that Nelson must keep his dealings with the writer secret and go to the school house alone at night. The next night he was to call at the rendezvous and Coroner's Verdict Is Delayed.

MARSHFIELD, Or., April 5.—(Special.)—Report of the Coroner's Jury on the autopsy performed on the body of Mattie L. Barnes, who fell dead at the home of her parents, has been delayed by the sending of the stomach to the state chemist for analysis. Suspicion that the young woman's death might not have been natural was aroused by gossip that the girl had received medicine through the mail and incoherent remarks of the girl at the time of her death.

Six yaks have just been put on the Canadian government's experiment farm near Ottawa.
