SIMON PROBABLE ASSEMBLY CHOICE

Mayoralty Recommendation to Go to Him Unless Sentiment Changes Today.

Ex-Senator, Although Not Active Candidiate, Is Expected to Run if Named-Hodson, Smith and Selling Talked Of.

Joseph Simon, ex-United States Sena-tor, will be indersed for the Mayoralty nomination by the Republican Assembly today unless a pronounced change in the sentiment among Republican leaders develops this morning.

develops this morning.

Throughout the days preceding the meeting of the assembly Senator Simon has been anything but an active candidate for the honor. Yesterdhy he declared positively that he was not seeking the indorsement nor the office of Mayor, and did not see how he could accept it. When asked if he meant that if the assembly was practically unanimous in its wish that he become the Republican nominee he would decline to accept the indorsement, Senator Simon said, "Almost."

Pressure late yesterday afterneon from

Pressure late yesterday afternoon from many sources was brought to bear on Senator Simon. This came even from former factional opponents. Members of the old Mitchell wing of the party, once sworn political enemies, are among the most insistent for the indorsement

Will Submit to Majority.

In view of the almost unanimous sen-timent in his favor and the apparent cementing of the leaders of the party cementing of the leaders of the party in a common cause, it is said that Sena-tor Simon will sacrifice his personal in-clinations in the matter if the same senti-ment is expressed in the convention to-day.

In the event that Senator Simon does not receive or declines finally to accept the indorsement, the selection of C. W. Hodson, Dr. Andrew C. Smith or Ben Selling is probable, the weight of senti-ment being for the men in the order

However, none of those mentioned is an active candidate for the honor, and if it is given it will go to the one selected unsought and as representing the wishes sought and as representing the wishes the leaders and the rank and file

Those Named for Simon.

As a matter of fact it is stated that each of the alfernatives mentioned has been outspoken in favor of the indorsement of Senator Simon. Dr. Smith, the choice of many delegates, is himself a delegate to the Assembly and is an avowed supporter of Senator Simon. Mr. Hodson is known to be indisposed to accept the honor unless it comes to him as the expressed will of the great majority of the delegates and as an indication that all differences in the party have been closely cemented.

It has been predicted that Mr. Seiling might become a candidate for the nomination after the will of the assembly has been expressed, but there is a general understanding that if Mr. Simon is the candidate of the assembly Mr. Seiling will nof enter the fight as a candidate. Last night the chairmanship of the convention was in the air. Several of the assembly leaders are desirous of securing the honor, but an attempt will be made to settle the question before the assembly convenes. George H. Williams and S. C. Pier have been mentioned for chairman, and it is reported that there are others in the field. No one last night would attempt to predict the outcome.

are others in the field. No one last night would attempt to predict the outcome, other than that the question would be settled amicable.

The assembly will be called to order this morning at 1 o'clock by Chairman A. B. Manley, of the City Central Committee, and a temporary organization effected immediately. Committees on credentials, permanent organization and order of business, and platform and recolutions will be called to order of business, and platform and recolutions will be called to order of business. der of businezz, and platform and resolutions will be appointed, and a recess taken until afternoon to enable the committees to formulate their reports.

Will Require Credentials.

Suggestions made yesterday that no credentials be required of delegates does not meet with favor among the leaders. In fact, sentiment is strong even against permitting the use of proxies. Accordingly a credentials committee will be appointed and only those who have been regularly chosen will participate in the proceedings.

With the selection of a chairman un-settled the personnel of the committees is also uncertain, and the probabilities as to the tenor of the resolutions and plat-form can be given only in a general

The opinion is that the platform will

The opinion is that the platform will be short and concise, deal with live insues and only with city affairs.

A complete attendance of the delegates chosen is anticipated. After the selection of the delegates written notices were sent to all with the request that any person so chosen who found it impossible to attend should inform the central committee that their places might be filled. Only 12 or 13 of the entire 500 delegates have signified an inability fo attend the convention, and in each of these instances regret has been expressed and a legitimate and reasonable excuse given. The places of those unable to attend have been filled.

Dr. Wetherbee Steps Down.

An incident in yesterday's developments was the withdrawal of Dr. J. R. Wetherbee, not only as an aspirant for the assembly indersement, but as a candidate in the primaries. Dr. Wetherbee issued the following statement concerning his retirement from the field:

Tielding to the wishes of a great many of my friends and business associates. I con-sented a few days are to allow my name to be used as a candidate for Mayoralty, much segainst my own personal desire and at a sacrifice.

sgainst my own personal desire and at a sacrifice.

Since doing this a large number of my friends have insisted that my first duty is not to allow my name to be placed on the primary ballot but to continue to further the interests of this community through the Portland Cub and to devote as much of my time as I can spare from my private business to the advancement of Origon and the Pacific Northwest through the populor 12 Club, and laying before the publicity work the advantages of Portland. Commenting on his withdrawal, Dr. Wetherbee said:

Talks of His Candidacy.

"Every action taken in behalf of my candidacy has been open and above board. The business men who urged me to become a candidate did not ask me for any pledges or premises of favors, and I gave absolutely none. Were I to be elected Mayor it would be only at a great personal sacrifice, and it was with rejuctance that I consented fo become a candidate in the first place. The Portland Commercial Club is engaged in a work with which I am in most hearty sympathy. I am an enthusiast on the future of Portland and Oregon, and would much prefer to take an active part in the Commercial Club's publicity campaign than to be in an office subjected to the pecking of petty politicians.

"There has been $100,000 pledged for the work of the Too,000 in 1912 movement, and I shall enter heart and soul into that work."

Dr. Wtherbee said that he believed that those who had favored his candidacy would support the nominee of the Republican assembly.

The withdrawal of Dr. Wetherbee followed a conference of his supporters. These men acknowledge that they are not politicians and know little of the political game, and they assert that they were interested only in securing for the city a businessilke administration.

Nevertheless, the political acumen of the Wetherbee supporters was such the Wetherbee supporters was such that they decided, it is said, that there was little chance for Dr. Wetherbee securing the assembly indorsement. They became convinced of this Monday night, and Dr. Wetherbee's withdrawal was practically assured at that time. It appears, however, that Dr. Weth-erbee was accorded every consideration

It is understood that he named the delegates from his own ward and was assured that his own ward and was assured that his delegates would have representation on each of the committees appointed. Arthur McDaniels, 22 years old, took Mary Eastley into the saloon and ordered two glasses of beer. While drinking the officer came in McDaniels told the waiter the girl was over 21, but when questioned by the officer she said she was not quite 18. The girl was held for her parents and her escort was put in the City Jall in default of $50 ball. The same ball was asked of the saloon man, who was also unable to procure it, and spent was also unable to procure it, and spens the night in jail.

Audubon Society Continues Its Crusade.

THREE FIRMS ARRESTED

William L. Finley, With Law Behind Him, Descends Again on Stores Offering Aigrettes and Consternation Follows Him.

Complaint made yesterday to William L. Finley, president of the Audobon Society of Oregon, to the effect that many of the prominent millinery stores of Portland were violating the agreement made by them last week when the crusade against the sale of prohibited birds and plumage was instituted, resulted late yesterday afternoon in the arrest of the proprietors or their representatives at the stores of the Meier & Frank Company, Lipman, Wolfe & Company and Alien & King.

King.

Mr. Finley, who had been out of the city for the past few days, returned late yesterday afternoon to find a host of messages awaiting him from friends and members of the society that several stores ewere offering for sale algreties and other plumage that is under legal ban. Mr. Finley went immediately to the office of the District Attorney and on authority from Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald secured the services of Constable Wagner and Deputy Constable Kiernan. Armed with the necessary papers they made a hurried visit to the stores whose proprietors were caught stores whose proprietors were caught napping.

At Lipman, Wolfe & Company a large number of elaborate creations ranging in price from $40 to $50 each, and trimmed with algrettes, were on display. Mr. Finley wanted to confiscate the entire stock containing illegal goods, but did not do so, as the proprietors agreed to remove from display all the millinery to which objection was made.

Aigrettes Are Confiscated.

For purposes of evidence, 12 algrettes valued at $50 were selzed by the officers and Will Lipman was arrested, released on his own recognizance, and instructed to appear at the Justice Court, where the case will be tried this afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was shown that the greater part of the responsibility.

The party next went to the store of the Meier & Frank Company, Algrettes and other plumage were found on sale, and Ludwig Hirsch, in charge of this department, was arrested, and one intat valued at $50 was taken as evidence. Julius L. Meter ordered the removal from view the remainder of prohibited articles, and assured Mr. Finley that the sale would stop. sale would stop.
At Allen & King's, Mrs. Behm, the pro-

At Allen & King's, Mrs. Behm, the proprietor, was arrested. She met the president of the Audubon Society and the two officers with some resentment when asked about a hat on display in her place. She offered to sell the hat to Mr. Finley for $25 and laughingly told him that she knew her business. He retaliated by telling her that he also knew the law and that he would have to cause her arrest. The astonished woman agreed to appear in court.

In each of the stores the employes maintained the algrettes on display were not the real things, but were manufactured ones, and when they afterwards saw in what a light this placed their houses with their customers, they endeavored to dispel the doubt they had tried to establish.

Meler & Frank cancelled an order for $1000. Lipman, Wolfe & Company for an equal amount, and the wholesale firm of Lowengart & Company rescinded orders for all their Fall stock containing any of the prohibited birdstuffs. Many small dealers throughout the city followed sult.

"This news," said Mr. Finley last night, referring to the cancelled orders, "is welcomed by us. We are in this fight in earnest and we propose to stop the sale of birdstuffs for feminine adornment in this state. We intend to see that the law is enforced. The things we seized will be confiscated and placed among the other exhibits in the City Hall. I cannot understand the indifference of the large stores to this law."
