SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—(Special.)
—Oakland defeated the Beavers in their first meeting of the season at Freeman's Park this afternoon by a score of 8 to 8. After the seventh inning, when the Commuters made six runs, the game looked like a cluch for them, but from the way the Beavers went after Christian in the eighth it appeared for a time as if they might tie up the game, even in spite of the hig handicap. They brought in four runs by good, clean hitting, including a home run by Buddy Ryan. But when the nisth came around they were unable to follow up their advantage, and went out in one-two-three order.

Runs All Bunts.

The peculiar feature of the game was the fact that all the runs were bunched in four innings. The Commuters made three in the first and four in the seventh, while the Beavers made theirs in the fourth and eighth. But luck was on the side of the Commuters, and, though they were outhit nearly two to one, they came out easy winners.

They were aided by the actions of Graney, which caused his retirement after he had filled the bases in the seventh, and Carson, who succeeded him, walked two men, forcing in a couple of runs before he got his arm limbered up. Christian pitched a good all-around game, getting himself out of one or two bad situations without disaster.

Fine Batting Done.

A batting rally was responsible for the four runs the Beavers made in the eighth. Johnson opened with a triple in center, Breen singled into the same territory, scering the captain. Murray also made a bit, and then Ryan gave the ball an awful slam and it disappeared over the right field fence. That was all the Beavers could do, and the ninth quickly passed without incident. The score: PORTLAND.

The game played between the Arleta and Lents schools at Creston was a close and exciting contest. Both teams appeared evenly matched, and the contest resulted in a victory for Arleta by the close score of 8 to 5. Pitcher Purcell, of the Lents team, allowed but three hits and fanned out 13 Arleta batsmen. Robertson, the Arleta pitcher, held Lents down to five hits and fanned ten batsmen. O'CONNELL MEETS TREMBLAY THURSDAY NIGHT.

Canadian Wrestler Has Reputation of Being Clever Man and Has Long Sought Local Man.

Eugene Tremblay, the Canadian lightweight grappler, who holds the title of champion of the world in that division, is expected to arrive in Portland today or tomorrow. He is scheduled to wrestle Eddle O'Connell at the Exposition Rink Thursday night, and as both men have agreed to meet at catch weights, the hout should prove one of the hardest contests O'Connell has had here this season. Tremblay, when wrestling at the lightweight limit, is able to make less than 15 pounds, but at catch weights he goes 140 pounds and over. This brings him up to O'Connell's weight, and both are fast and clever men. Tremblay brings a record of a long string of victories and has confident hopes of adding O'Connell's scalp to this collection.
