The fighting occurred when the Jefe Politico of the town, an officer corresponding to a Mayor, attempted to stop a religious procession headed by the village priest, Mexican laws forbidding such parades. A thousand parishioners followed the priest, wishing to witness the annual burning of Judius; and the mob, hecoming enraged, stoned and later burned the house of the Jefe. That official and his wife escaped by climbing a rear wall and seeking protection in the American colony. The rioters then stormed a Chinese hotel, losting it of all liquors and foods and terrorizing the neighborhood during the night orgy.

Police Start Firing.

The police force fired in their en-deavors to restore order. The officers were forced to retreat, leaving six of their number dead in the street. Later troops, which had been telegraphed for, arrived on a special train, and a fierce fight with the rioters ensued.

Father Valenzuela was arrested. One of his followers succeeded in smuggling in a knife to his cell and the priest stabbed himself six times in a vain attempt to commit suicide. He was discovered by the grandle. covered by the guards just in time to

It appears that the Sheik ul Islam was sent thrice to invertain the wishes of the soldiers while the Council of Ministers was sitting at the Porte and this evidence that the government considered their demands vitally important added to the enthusiasm of the demensitation.

SULTAN AGAIN HOLDS HELM

Struggle of Reaction and Reform May Cause Convulsion.

May Cause Convulsion.

LONDON, April 14.—The news from Constantinople today brings into clearer perspective the latest turn in Turkey's difficult path toward constitutionalism. The counter-revolution involves at least the temporary overthrow of the Reform party and the partial triumph of the reaction spirit. The Sultan virtually has gained control of the helm of state and, although he still affirms kis loyalty to the constitution, all Europe looks anxiously for the next move.

The situation closely resembled that of 1877, when the fall of Midhat Pasha left the constitution to a lingering death. It 1877, when the fall of Midhat Pasha left the constitution to a lingering death. It remains to be proved whether Tuesday's revolt was a factional fight between opposing sections of reformers or a real reactionary revolution. The old struggle between reactionaries and reformers must be revived with the greatest bitterness. Already alarmist reports are current concerning the possible reopining of the Balkan problem; that Bulgaria may seek to take advantage of the state of anarchy in Turkey; that the provincial branches of the committee of Union and Progress of the committee of Union and Progress may make reprisals, creating new outbreaks, which would endanger the interreaks, which would endanger the intermational situation. Fears that Bulgaria may foment a rebellion in Macedonia are openly canvassed both in St. Petersburg and in Vienna, although official dispatches affirmed that the Bulgarian government has not the slightest intention of making trouble.

Patten Says He Will Sell Out, but Advance Will Not Be Checked.

WHY HE HAS PUT UP PRICE

Object Is to Prevent Exports, for Market Conditions Justify High Price-No Man Can Keep It Above Natural Level.

CHICAGO, April 14.-(Special.)-James A. Patten, veteran of the Chicago grain pit and so-called wheat king of the world, today announced his intention of getting out of the wheat market, and coupled he was out of the market would go even higher than it is seiling today. May wheat closed last night at $1.27%, opened at the same figure this morning and within an hour had gone up half a cent, seiling at $1.28.

Denies He's Running Corner.

Mr. Patten reiterated his former declara-

Mr. Patten reiterated his former deciarations that he was not running a corner in wheat; said he did not intend to put the cereal any higher, and deciared he had kept it at a high figure to prevent exporters from getting hold of it and shipping it out of the United States.

The United States, he asserted, exported between 150,000,000 and 200,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, and, if he had not kept the price above the export figure, the country would be paying a higher price for wheat than it is now doing. He ascribed the present market price of wheat to supply and demand. He said that, while the supply of wheat had not materially increased, the world's population and demand had grown, and the present price of wheat was merely the natural result of these conditions.

Just as High Elsewhere.

"'Old Hutch," he said, "put the price f wheat up to $2. I have no such inten-ion. I have said all along that I was not perating any corner. Wheat is just as tion. I have said all along that I was not operating any corner. Wheat is just as high, or nearly so, in Portland as it is in Chicago. It is $1.25 in Winnipeg. I am not in that market. Nobody can accuse me of influencing the Winnipeg market, can he? Wheat is $1.25 in Buenos Ayres. I am not in that market, am I? I have never sold or bought a bushel of wheat there.

"No individual living can keep the price of wheat above the natural level and exist. Those who have tried it falled. But these are natural conditions. The population of the country has increased. The supply has not kept pace with it."

Bakers May Cut Loaves.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Master bakers NEW YORK, April 14.—Master bakers in New York have reached no decision, in fact, have hardly considered the probability of reducing the size of loaves, as the result of the so-called "Patten wheat corner." A few individual bakers have cut the size of their loaves, but no organized movement has been taken by the Master Bakers' Association. The organization declined to give out the names of these who had made reductions.

to bridge Chambers Creek, which Pierce and his associates say is navigable, until the railroad's plans are accepted by the War Department.

Chambers Creek empties into the Sound on Tacoma's west coast and has never been developed as a navigable stream. It has become a joke to Tacomans as the site for factories since A. P. Gillies, alleged bubble promoter, first began promoting the imperial building, a 24-story structure large enough to house 50,000 people, and later, when he planned to build a mammoth flour mill, a steel mill of enormous proportions, and other factories along Chambers Creek. Millers Predict Another Raise in Few Days-Prospects Bright for Big Crop and Boom Times Are Prophesied by Authorities.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 14.—
(Special.)—A party of the most prominent grainsrowers and buyers in this section of the country today made a trip over the valley in an automobile and upon their arrival in this city reported that never in the history of the country has the shortage of grain been so pronounced, the entire amount being not over 40.000 bushels.

The surplus is nearly all exhausted and

The surplus is nearly all exhausted and in only a few of the warehouses is any grain stored. This is the case in nearly every instance, and some of the houses which were filled last Fall with the which were filled last Fall with the enormous crop are now entirely empty. This fact is emphasized by the condition of one of the Eureka Flat houses, which handled as much grain as any in the Inland Empire, and now contains but one lot, comprising about 400 sacks. Because of this shortage, local millers yesterday advanced the price for a sack of flour 10 cents, or 40 cents a barrel, and it is predicted another raise will be made in a few days.

"The prospects for a good crop and high prices were never better," declared one of the local authorities yesterday. And because the surplus is so low at the present time, and as the people must have wheat, there is no reason why we should not have it. Grain must be had at any cost, and with the enormous crop in sight, for the evidence shows the yield should be colossal, this country ought to experience one of the greatest booms ever known here."

The only lot of wheat in this valley is owned by Harvey & Welch, two farmers of the Upper Flat country, who possess 39,009 bushels. Their wheat is of the Bluestem variety and it was stated recently by one of the owners that it would be held until next May, when the price is expected to soar to $1.25 per bushel.

PROMINENT MEN ACCUSED

Nick Oswald Tells All About Graft in Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Indictments of men who have been prominent in the official life of the city are expected to be returned by the present grand jury within the next 48 hours. District Attorney Fredericks stated today that the grand jury should finish its investigations by the end of the present week or the first of next. Nick Oswald, the ex-saloonkeeper and owner of property in the "redlight" district, who confessed and related all the details of the organization and operation of the alleged corrupt ring, gave today what will probably be the last of his testimony. Three other minor witnesses were also heard.

District Attorney Fredericks said he understood ex-Mayor Harper and ex-Chief of Police Korn would decline to appear before the grand jury.
