BET 17 YEARS OLD PAID .- To have made a bet 17 years ago and have the loser remember the incident and pay up was the unusual experience of W. W. Cotton, the unusual experience of W. W. Cotton, general counsel for the Harriman lines in the territory. He made a bet with a prominent Portland man 17 years ago that within 15 years the bulk of Port-land's retail business would be trans-acted west of Second street. At that time, this seemed a rash predicti-However, Mr. Cotton's contention over paid the wager, the omisized of a din-ner. Mr. Cotton declines to tell who the man was with whom he made the by, fearing the latter's business judgment might be called into question if his name were known.

MAT USE OREGON STONE.—The building committee for the new stone Sunnyside Methodist Episcopal Church has about decided to use Oregon stone for the structure. The walls are to be two feet in thickness, reducing to 13 inches thus making a good, substantial wall with lasting qualities for all time. The solicit-ing committee is having much better suc-cess than was anticipated. It is ex-pected now from indications at a meeting of the committee held last night that much more than half of the funds will have been subscribed by next Sunday, when the amount will be announced in the congregation. This will be one of the distinctive and representative churches of Portland. MAY USE OBEGON STONE.-The building distinctive and representative churches of Portland.

BIG INDOOR TRACK AND FIELD MEET.

GRAND CENTRAL PARK NAME.-After a ong discussion the North Albina Push Club Tuesday night decided that the new Club Tuesday night decided that the new park purchased by the Park Board, in the W. K. Smith tract, in that portion of the city, should be called the Grand Central Park. A vote was taken as to what name should be selected, and a great variety was suggested. Among these was one that the park be called vaught, Park, in honor of Councilman W. T. Vaught, but this name only received one vote, that of C. L. Daggett. The name Grand Central Park seemed to strike the popular chord and it was voted as the choice of the club, although local in its application. At this meet-ing J. H. Nolta, C. L. Daggett, Charles Pye, D. and S. L. Osborn were appointed to solicit funds to aid the Peninsula Rose Festival Association in carrying out its plans at the coming Festival.

HEAVY STREET WORK.-Heavy work is in progress on East Stark street, which is to be improved between East Twentieth and East Forty-first. At East Twentieth and for some distance east there will be a cut of about 20 feet. This part fronts on Lone Fir Cemetery. A uniform grade will be the result, which will harmonize with the remainder of the street toward the Willamette River. The dirt will be used to fill up East Pine street, between East Twentleth and Twenty-first streets, where an improvement is being made. The improvement of East Stark is con-The improvement of East Stark is con-sidered the most important undertaken so far this year on the East Side. It is understood that an effort will be made to continue the improvement on out to West avenue, at Mount Tabor, first by making a street out of it, thus taking it out of the jurisdiction of the county, and then by starting necessing in the City Court

The first few days of her work at the key on the Indianapolis marked a change in wireless telegraph communications in the Northwest, for Mrs. Tucker's pres-ence at the receiving instrument served to purify the upper atmosphere. Rough language is strictly tabooed on the wire-less systems and the general employment of men as operators, it is said there filt-ted through the air all sorts of naughty words-until the men at the stations learned that a woman was likely to over-hear. She learned telegraphy prior thereto while working with her husband as Spokane as bookkeeper in the office. When the wireless began to spread on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Tucker took it up and Mrs. Tucker soon followed. Both are en-thusistic over the aerogram business. "I can't see why more women do not take it up," says Mrs. Tucker. "Maybe is because they are afraid of the in-struments, but I never was. Yes, there is always a danger in working with the dynamo. There isn't enough current to kill, but one can get an äwful shock." Mrs. Tucker tells of one of the United men who put his hand on the exposure, which he was cleaning. It made tattoo-like marks all over his arm and caused his hair to stand out straight for a time.
