BAND GOES TO IDORA PARK

De Caprio Will Play Engagement There and at Vancouver, B. C.

Signor A. De Caprio received advices yesterday from the management of Idora Park, Oakland, Cal., to the effect that his band of 30 pieces would be given an engagement at that resort of two and probably three weeks, beginning about June 6. This local musical organization was the administration band at the Lewis and Clark Fair, and band at the Lewis and Clark Fair, and for two seasons played concerts under an arrangement with the Park Board of Portland at City Park and other public grounds in the city.

As soon as the California engagement is over De Caprio will take his band to Vancouver, B. C., where he is under contract to furnish music at the Recreation Park in that city. The band ranks with the best concert organizations of the country, and its fame ganizations of the country, and its fame is spreading rapidly. To supplement band music Mr. De Caprio Intends to engage a soprane soloist, a cornet and a trombone soloist for the California and British Columbia engagements.

MAIL ORDERS FOR ELMAN

Mail Orders for Violin Recital Will Be Taken, Beginning Thursday.

Mischa Elman's coming to the Heilig Theater on the evening of May 10 has certainly eclipsed everything else in the musical world, for never before has Portmusical world, for never before has Portland had the opportunity of hearing an artist in the very first year of his great Eastern successes. Elman has been the sensation everywhere this Winter, and, ever since the first drawing of his bow across the violin strings, the world of art and music has sat enthralled over his playing. The famous young Russian will play here May 10, at the Heilig Theater, and mail orders for seats for the concerts will be accepted after next Thursder. will be accepted after next Thursday morning, April 22, if sent with check or money order to Lois Steers-Wynn Coman. 208 Columbia building. These mail orders are for in-town as well as for the benefit of out-of-town music-lovers.

PLEADS GUILTY, IS FINED

Fred Wilcox Must Pay $100 for Mailing Obscene Letter.

Fred Wilcox, 20 years old, member of a well-known family of Grass Valley, Or., pleaded guilty in the Federal Court yeserday morning to an indictment charging him with sending an obscene letter through the mails, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and imprisonment in the County Jail for 30 days. He declared that he was ignorant of the fact that the act constituted a crime. He asked for an immediate centence, and, in view of his previous good character and youth, the court imposed a light penalty, although Judge Wolverton took occasion to lecture the young man severely on the gravity of Menace to Navigation.

John McNulty, nautical expert in charge of the local branch of the Hy-drographic Office, has published the following notice to mariners:

Captain Gaukreger of the British ship Asia, reports that on March 28, in latitude 34:34 north, longitude 142:52 east, he passed a waterlogged Japanese ampan, about 30 feet long and 8 feet beam.

A telegram from Redondo, Cal., dated April 17, states that the ship Vanguard passed what appeared to be part of a wrecked vessel about eight feet out of water, which is a great menace to navigation. Position about ten miles northwest by west from Point Arguello.

More Would Be Councilmen.

Candidates for Councilmen continue to announce themselves almost daily. The latest to enter the field are F. J. Brady, member of the late Legislature, who seeks the nomination of Councilman-at-large, and Eugene Cohn, who would be ward Councilman from the Fifth Ward, to succeed Dr. W. I. Cottel.

Orpheum.

TWO turns of unusual quality and a number of others that compel attention are offered at the Orpheum this week, and the ultimate result is a pleasing entertainment. With the Kirmess over and Lent a thing of the past, there should be a marked increase in theater attendance, and the merit of the Or-pheum's show will undoubtedly draw its full share of the patronage. The big attractions mentioned above are "Cupid at Home," a farce which sat-irizes the suffragette fad deliciously. It is presented by Angela Dolores, Harry English and Edward Moran. Miss Do-lores is a handsome young woman who possesses unusual talent and wears some very attractive sartorial creations. Her methods are those of the legitimate stage and represent considerable of a departure from the customary vaudeville skit. Mr. English portrays the henpecked husband udicrously and also shows the results of good schooling.

The audience was especially enthusiastic over Lew Sully, veteran minstrel man, who introduces a new act which he calls "Words and Music." He appears in "whiteface," but in costume, and sings his own songs, all of them new to Port-land. The best of them is "Wise Old Robinson Crusee." The others are "The Merry Widow Craze." which has become a triffe passe, "Adam Was a Lucky Man," and "Gris." His monologue is mirth-provoking without ever becoming silly, "Jealous About Nothing," a melodious comedietta, is the offering of Thomas H. Persee, a well-known tenor, who has ap-peared here a number of times before. There is not much to the sketch, except that it gives Mr. Persee an excuse for singing a number of songs very well. Hawthorne and Burt sing and dance and indulge in airy persifiage quite suc-cessfully, the eccentric steps of the He-brew impersonator being the particular feature. Robert Rosaire and Phil Doreta are comedy tumblers who carry a good stage set and perform some difficult and unny stunts. Helen Herndon opens the performance n some passably entertaining impersona-ions, and the Melnotte Twins and Clay Smith do a rather thresome act much like a hundred others that consist chiefly of imitations of the impossible George M. Cohan. Attractive Orpheum moving pictures conclude the performance, as usual.

Grand.

THE main attraction at the Grand this week is May Ward's eight Dresden Dolls, featuring Jessie Morriss, a dainty comedienne. The act consists of a mustical fantasy in four scenes, combining catchy songs and a medley of old minstrelsy and plantation steps. The participants are faithful copies of large-sized Dresden Doll-bables. After each matines some lucky child who secures the present the state of th some lucky child, who secures the programme with coupon attached, is the rectplent of a handsome doll, a replica of the ones on the stage. An additional attraction this week is the playlet "Twixt Dawn and Daylight," as presented by V. L. Granville. act is a dream creation, probably result of a welsh rarebit supper, and the result of a weish rarebit supper, and the distinct characters of the spendthrift, his uncle, a process server, the butler, and the housekeeper, are all portrayed with near lightning changes by Granville.

There is another act very similar in style, given by Norton and Russell, who also are quick-change artists. They contribute several songs, and don appropriate costumes for each. In rapid succession they present a Colonial Dame, a Chinese act, a Mexicano song and dance, a Turkish gent and a sinuous, slippery scintillating "Salome," a Russian Soldier, with ing "Salome," a Russian Soldier, with Irish trousers and a trombone; the regulation and accepted East Side Bowery types, and best of all, an Italian woman organ-grinder and an animated monk.

Duff and Waish are dancers, and two better stepners never trod the local better steppers never boards; their work as a team is so much in unison that one wonders how they in unison that one wonders how ever remember which leg goes next. An act that goes well is presented by the Meeh International Trio, equilibrists.

who perform new and difficult balancing Harry McDuffee is this week singing a song that seems to please, "Gee, I Wish That I Had a Girl."

Pantages.

A LTHOUGH not appearing as the headline attraction on the Pantages new bill this week, one of the most inter esting acts is that given by Harland and Rollinson, an eccentric musical sketch which is full of surprises. Out of the most unmusical-looking objects the duo bring forth excellent harmony, from rag-time to grand opera, imitate various in-struments with the concertina, having an assortment of the latter instrument from the life-sized ones down to the tiny vest-pocket size. One of the team is genuinely funny, in addition to being gifted musically.

Billed as a European act is Rafayette's acrobatic dogs, who are an exceptionally clever aggregation, a sextet of fox ter-riers, two feroclous bulls and a white skye-terrier of the powder-puff variety. They have a number of new tricks, the skye acting as a chauffeur for a canine automobile party.

The six singing and dancing girls of Morgan and McGarry's soft and woodenshoe dancers evidently learned their singing from the correspondence school. They are all good dancers, however, and should allow this feature alone to win them hon-ors. The team-work of the two men is especially good and the girls are graceful and make six lightning costume changes. Jean Wilson, the Pantages fa-forite, sang "I Miss You in a Thousand Different Ways," and was received with enthusiasm. Scott and Wilson have an eccentric sketch. A supposed Rube from the audience being dared to come upon the stage, makes good and gives, in con-
