

HOP CROPS LOOKS BAD

Oregon May Only Have Half
Her Average Yield.

COUNTLESS ROOTS DEAD

Plants That Survived the Winter
Frosts are Dwarfed by the Pre-scent Unfavorable Weather.
Cultivation is Indifferent.

Unfavorable crop reports are coming in from the hop sections of the state every day. Unless the vines show a material change for the better, Oregon may this year produce only half a crop. It is usual, at this time of year, for the vines to look at all had, to bear plenty of new talk of a probable crop failure. However, the reports now coming in seem to be well based.

All observers agree that the number of missing hills is much larger than ever before. In many instances, where investigation has been made, the roots are found to be dead and decayed. In many of the larger yards men have been busy engaged in setting out new vines and in some of them the proportion is alarmingly large. There are yards on the east side of the river where every hill now contains new roots. At other places where the old roots are not dead they are sending out hundreds of eyes to each hill, which only exhaust the vitality of the plant.

Experts in hop-raising are at a loss to account for the great number of dead roots this year. They do not believe the cold winter caused the trouble, as the roots will stand the hardest freezing. Some of the best posted growers think the damage was caused by the severe frosts just after hops were picked last year.

Where the vines are growing the stand is generally spotty. This is attributed chiefly to the lack of rain in April and the present cold nights. Indifferent cultivation is likewise showing its effect on many of the yards. The unfavorable reports come from nearly all sections of the valley. New yards as well as old ones are suffering.

One of the largest and most conservative growers in the state, who has just finished a close inspection of the yards on both sides of the river, says that, as the crop now stands, Oregon cannot possibly produce over 70,000 bales of hops this year, and unless the year now show improvement, he will reduce his estimate to 60,000 bales.

BUYERS AND SELLERS ARE APART.

Not Much Trading in the Wheat Market.
Foreign Shipments.

Buyers and sellers in the wheat market find difficulty in getting together. Prices offered and asked yesterday were too far apart to permit of much business. Club wheat was on the market at $1.20 to $1.25, but buyers were not disposed to go over $1.15. A sale of blue-stem was made at $1.20.

The Merchants Exchange reported foreign wheat shipments for the week as follows: Argentine shipments, 1,770,000 bushels; last week, 2,900,000 bushels; last year, 3,544,000 bushels; Australia shipments, 1,000,000 bushels; last week, 765,000 bushels; last year, 60,000 bushels; India shipments, 365,000 bushels; last week, 344,000 bushels; last year, none.

EASTERN BOG MARKETS STRONGER.

Prices Advanced a Full Cent Because of Stormy Weather.

The most interesting development in the egg trade yesterday was the news that the Eastern markets had suddenly advanced a full cent. Where prices were quoted weak in the East Thursday, they were decidedly strong yesterday. The weather was responsible for the change. The Eastern bulge naturally stiffened the views of some of the weak local holders and they were not as ready to unload at concession as on the preceding day. Good eggs readily commanded 25 cents. No orders from the South were reported.

The poultry market was steady, with a fair supply offered. A small shipment of those arrived from Tillamook, and was sold almost as soon as unloaded at the old price.

STRAWBERRY RECEIPTS SHORT.

Local Trade Could Have Used Much Larger Quantity.

About a third of a car of Los Angeles strawberries was sold yesterday. They were in good shape and sold well at $1.50 per crate. A full car could easily have been disposed of. Receipts of Florida berries were light and the best of them sold at $1.75. There was a lively demand for oranges.

Two cars of cabbage arrived from the South. Asparagus was still plentiful. Local hot-house lettuce was a drag on the market. California wax beans were offered at 50 cents a pound.

Stronger Feeling in Potato Trade.

The tone of the potato market was bullish yesterday. There were rumors that better than $1.75 had been paid in the country, but they could not be confirmed. The high prices have had the effect of bringing out offerings from some sections where no potatoes were known to exist. Eastern potatoes have been offered to the trade laid down here at $2.50.

Decline in Lard Oil.

A decline of 1 cent in lard oil was announced yesterday. Raw oil in cases is now quoted at 69 cents and lard oil in cases at 71 cents.

Bank Clearings.

Clearings of the North-eastern cities yesterday were as follows:

Portland.....$ 920,414
Seattle.....$ 1,100,000
Tacoma.....$ 1,000,000
Spokane.....$ 1,000,000
Portland clearings for April were $33,500,000, compared with $25,700,000 in April last year.

PORTLAND MARKETS.

Grain, Flour, Feed, Etc.

WHEAT.—Track prices: American milling, $1.20; foreign, $1.20; Turkey red, $1.20; Valparaiso, $1.20; 40-day, $1.20; red, $1.20.

WHEAT TURNS WEAK

After a Strong Opening,
Prices Break Badly.

GOOD DEMAND AT START

Weather News Is Favorable to the Bulls.—In the Later Selling
All the Gain Is Lost.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Unfavorable weather advices from the Northwest were the chief reasons for a strong opening in the wheat market. Snow storms, accompanied by a drop in temperature, were reported in the Canadian Northwest, while across the border line equally unfavorable weather for seeding prevailed, although it was warmer.

There was a good general demand at the start and opening prices were unchanged to 1/2 cent higher, compared with the previous close. July opened at $1.11 1/2 to $1.12 1/2. After the first hour, demand was less urgent and sentiment gradually became bearish. From $1.12 1/2, July dropped to $1.10 1/2. May held relatively more steady than the more distant months and sold between $1.23 1/2 and $1.24 1/2. The close was at $1.11 1/2 and May at $1.23 1/2.

The corn market was a choppy affair nearly all day and finally turned weak in sympathy with wheat. The market closed weak at almost the bottom, with May 1/2 to 3/4 lower at 70 1/2.

Barley brought out by continued cold weather in the West and Northwest caused moderate advances in the price of oats early in the day, but all of the gain was lost on selling, based on the slump in other lines. At the close prices were unchanged to 1/2 cent lower compared with yesterday's close, May being at 55 1/2.

Cattle in provisions were quiet, but a moderately firm tone prevailed. Prices at the close were unchanged to 5/8 cent higher.

FLURRY IN POTATOES

SUPPLY AT SEATTLE SAID TO BE VERY LOW.

Fancy Prices Paid for California
Strawberries.—Canadian Oats Firmer.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 30.—(Special)—There was a sharp flurry in potatoes here today, as a result of which the local market for the best Western stock potatoes was bid as high as $1.25 for the best Yakima stock. Receipts from the East have been light, and when a rumor was started on the street this morning that there were only 15 cars in the city, dealers hastily put prices up and sent rush orders to the country.

Good strawberries were in brisk demand at fancy prices. The receipts are below the demand, but dealers are afraid to take chances on bringing heavy stock from the South. Until local berries commence to arrive on this market, stocks are likely to be scarce.

Wheat moved freely at 27 cents. Eggs were not as firm and some price cutting was done.

Veal was short and sold as high as 12 cents. Owing to competition of Eastern buyers, local lambs have stiffened there and here.

QUOTATIONS AT SAN FRANCISCO.
