

CAMPAIGN'S CLOSE UNUSUALLY QUIET

Aspirants for Mayorality Have Not Appeared in Public to Promote Candidacies.

SIMON EXPECTED TO WIN

With West Side Conceded to the Choice of Assembly, East Side Is Believed Also to Be in Favor of Him.

With the municipal primary nominating election only 48 hours distant, there is no more activity on the part of the various candidates than at the beginning of the campaign. Not one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for Mayor has held what properly might be called a public meeting. The same is true of the candidates for the other nominations. The campaign, which will end with Saturday's election, will be recorded as the least exciting of any that has been held in this city under the direct primary law.

Simon Makes Big Gains.

It is very generally believed that the chances of Simon have improved greatly during the last week. Some of Rushlight's friends, while they will not admit it, are known to be apprehensive of the result. Supporters of McDonnell, however, will not concede Rushlight better than third place, and even assert that their candidate will head the ticket. Bailey is conducting his campaign without any great demonstration and visits the baseball park. At the same time, he professes to be entirely satisfied with the situation and says that when the votes are counted he will furnish the opposition with a surprise.

Members of the Kentucky Klirk are doing their best to arouse interest among Democratic voters in support of Judge M. G. Munly for the nomination for Mayor. Should Judge Munly receive his party's nomination, it is the intention of those behind his candidacy to conduct an aggressive campaign against the Republican nominee in the general election in June.

Situation on East Side.

The indications are that on the East Side Simon will hold his own against Rushlight in spite of the fact the latter's home is in that part of the city. In the Seventh Ward, the home of Mr. Rushlight, it might be supposed that he would carry a strong vote, yet the endorsement of the Sellwood Republican Club, the only straight-out Republican club on the East Side taking part in the campaign, is for the assembly candidates, and Mr. Simon in particular may cut down Rushlight's vote. The Sellwood Republican club voted unanimously to endorse Mr. Simon for the nomination, and the club is working for the assembly ticket.

Leaders in Tenth Ward.

In the Tenth Ward there is hardly a question but Mr. Simon will have a large vote, mainly for the reason Mr. Rushlight voted against the street railway franchise, which the people of the Peninsula want very badly. They fear the hold-up of the franchise may prevent the construction of the branch to the Swift plant.

J. H. Nolte, a Peninsula booster, said yesterday that if the referendum holds up the franchise and stops the building of the branch line to the Swift plant and Monarch sawmill, he will hire a band and hold public meetings every night on the Peninsula against Rushlight, provided he is nominated. Mr. Nolte holds the Mayor and Rushlight responsible for the referendum.

"Rushlight is the Mayor's candidate in the Republican primaries," said Mr. Nolte, "but in case Rushlight is not nominated, I look for Mayor Lane to come out as an independent."

In the Eighth and Ninth Wards there is great indifference as to the Mayoralty. The Eighth Ward is the home of Dan Kellaher, ex-Councilman, who is busy sawing wood and saying nothing. In the windows of his store on Grand avenue, the picture of A. G. Rushlight, candidate for Mayor, is displayed conspicuously. It is thought Simon will carry the larger precincts in Central East Portland. In this ward, but may lose at Mount Tabor and Montavilla. In the Eighth Ward, Republicans will close in the regular ticket than in the other East Side wards, and it is thought the assembly recommendations will have weight with them.

Rushlight Lacking in Experience.

"I have no objection to Mr. Rushlight personally," said an old-line Republican, "but he is altogether too young a man for so responsible a place as Mayor. He has had fair measure of success in making a few successful real estate deals and has been in the Council two terms. That is all, except that he has stood pretty close to Mayor Lane in most things. Not even Mr. Rushlight's friends will say he is a man of large affairs. There may come a time when he will show he is a man of large affairs, but compared to Mr. Simon in this respect he does not stand well.

"Millions of money will be spent the next few years in Portland. We shall erect a second Bull Run pipe line. Two bridges probably will be built across the Willamette River. Vast reservoirs are to be built. Millions will be spent in sewers and street improvements. Delicate questions of law points must be passed on requiring technical knowledge. Mr. Rushlight is a good plumber, a good citizen and successful real estate judge, but it will not be claimed for him that he could pass on these questions of law. He would have to depend on the opinion of the City Attorney on every point."

The friends of McDonnell and Bailey are at work all through the East Side, but with what success cannot well be estimated at this time. Judge M. G. Munly is strong on the East Side and may be nominated by the Democrats. It is believed that, next to the Mayor, Judge Munly is the strongest Democrat that could be put forward. His connection with the East Side civic clubs has given him considerable prominence the past two years.

Recall Movement Still Alive.

Advocates of the proposed recall on seven hold-over members of the City Council declared they have not abandoned their determination of forcing these Councilmen to go before the voters for a further endorsement if they are to retain their offices. Another conference was held yesterday, when the selection of men to oppose the Councilmen to be recalled was considered further. H. D. Wagon, one of the prominent workers in the "recall" movement, said yesterday that his associates were proceeding deliberately and would not make any definite announcement of their plans until the seven candidates had been selected. It is understood that sufficient funds have been subscribed to meet all expenses incidental to bringing out a "recall" ticket.

CUT OFF LICENSE MONEY

LOWER RIVER FISHERMEN GET EVEN WITH OREGON.

State Will Lose Several Thousand Dollars From Their Retailatory Measures, Says McAllister.

Oregon this year will lose several thousand dollars in fishing licenses, according to the report of Master Fish Warden McAllister, which has been filed with the State Board of Fish Commissioners at Salem. This is due to the fact that many of the fishermen on the Lower Columbia river are taking out their licenses in the State of Washington, instead of paying the money into the treasury of this state, as in the past. This action on the part of down-river fishermen is attributed by Mr. McAllister to the fact that they became dissatisfied because the recent Legislature failed to provide the same closed season for the Willamette and Clackamas rivers as was provided for the Columbia. In consequence fishermen on the tributaries of the Columbia were permitted to fish for salmon beginning April 15, while on the lower Columbia the season did not open until May 1.

After reviewing the litigation that was resorted to in determining the controversy as to the rights of the Willamette and Clackamas river fishermen, Mr. McAllister, on the subject of hatcheries, has the following to say:

The quantity of fish taken from the Willamette and Clackamas for the past 15 days has been approximately 90 tons, but notwithstanding this great slaughter, thousands of salmon have passed over the highway at the Oregon City Falls, and I am satisfied that our egg take above will be far greater this season than ever before. In addition to operating the hatchery on the McKenzie River, we have made arrangements to stock the Santiam River, where I am advised we can secure a large amount of eggs which can be eyed in temporary troughs and shipped to the central hatchery that will be in readiness to receive them when the time arrives.

During the month I visited Westport and Knappa, and investigated the streams and hatcheries connected with the central hatchery, provided for by the last Legislature. I found that the supply of water to be much too small to operate successfully a hatchery of the size and this location had to be abandoned. At Knappa the stream known as Egg Creek and rearing ponds cannot be secured. Another feature which confronts me at this time is the arguments used for and against the liberating of young salmon in such close proximity to salt water, some authorities contending that it does not make a particle of difference others claiming the fry being turned loose to shift for themselves in or near tide water would not thoroughly acclimated before reaching salt water, with the result that they would all die. I have written to George M. Howes, United States Fish Commissioner, for advice, and until I hear from him will hold the matter in abeyance.

Before definitely deciding on a location, I have made up my mind to be absolutely sure of my ground, as I realize that the future welfare of the salmon industry depends upon hatchery work. Therefore, when the best site is located, I want it to be successful.

Receipts for the month aggregated $9,527.90 from fines and licenses. During the 30 days, licenses were issued as follows: Gill nets, 254; set nets, 163; fish dealers' licenses, 232. The disbursements for the month were $2,399.74.

WANTS NEW OFFICE

Young to Appeal to Congress for Postal Building.

CLUBS ARE ASKED TO HELP

Commercial Organizations Expected to Unite in Movement to Secure $2,000,000 Federal Structure. Present Office Is Inspected.

All commercial bodies in Portland are to be requested by Postmaster Young to unite in an appeal to the Oregon delegation at Washington for an appropriation of about $2,000,000 for a new Post-office building at Portland. The building now occupied is entirely inadequate for present needs of the local postal service to say nothing of the increased congestion which is resulting daily from a constantly increasing population. The delegation will be urged to take up the matter of such a Federal building when Congress convenes next winter.

In the meantime, Postmaster Young has applied to the department for special concessions in the interest of an improved postal service in this city. Action on these applications is being taken. H. B. Hall, assistant superintendent of salaries and allowances, stationed at San Francisco, and A. H. Baldwin, of the Postoffice Department at Washington, were in the city yesterday inquiring into the needs of the local Postoffice. Primarily they are here responsive to the application of Postmaster Young for 25 additional carriers and 11 additional clerks, for service beginning July 1 next.

McDonnell Crosses to West Side.

C. E. McDonnell and his friends are more optimistic so far as the East Side is concerned than are the friends of any sues Railroad for Stolen Jewels.

Mrs. Lella C. Maxwell wants the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad Company to pay her $340 for articles which were stolen from her trunk. She had the trunk shipped at Clatskanie station, and testimony introduced yesterday was that she wanted it taken from the depot on the night it arrived, but that the night removal charges were about four times what they would be the next day.

Mrs. Maxwell says that when the trunk arrived valuable jewelry was missing. Carey & Kerr and G. C. Spencer appear for her, while Attorneys A. E. Clark and J. H. Middleton represent the railroad company. The case is on trial before a jury in Judge Cleland's department of the Circuit Court.
