SECOND TRIAL IS BEGUN
 Man Charged With Dynamiting Train May Die in Jail.

BUTTE, Mont., May 6.—Louis Ferris, charged with dynamiting a Northern Pacific train within the city limits of Butte in April, 1908, today appeared in court for a second trial, having been acquitted on the first murder charge. The case will begin May 17. Three men were killed in the wreck which Ferris is accused of causing, and under the Montana statute he may be tried three times, and in addition, a fourth trial for train wrecking, for which the penalty in this state is death, may be had.

Notwithstanding a previous acquittal, Ferris has been in jail a year today, and as his health is poor, his attorneys today stated unless the matter is speedily settled, Ferris, even if innocent, will be illegally executed, since he will die in jail.
