LUMBER NOT TO BE FREE All Signs Point to Duty, for Aldrich

Is Sure to Know. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 7.-Evidence accumulates to substantiate the belief that lumber will not be placed on the free list. A few days ago Senator Simmons, of North, Carolina, was making a speech in advo-cacy of a duty on lumber, when Senator Aldrich interrupted. This is what he Aldrich interrupted. This is what he said:

"A large majority of the Senators upon the Republican side are in favor of keeping the duty on lumber as a protective duty. A considerable portion, I think a majority on that side of the aisle are in favor of a duty on lumber as a revenue dity. Now, let us agree that so far as this bill is concerned we shall waive the question of names. We are both for the same thing under different names."

Which led Senator Beveridge parenthetically to quote: "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet." And be added: "It does not make any difference whether this duty is for protection or for revenue."

for revenue."

The significance of the incident lies in the fact that Sensior Aldrich, in charge of the tariff bill, comes pretty near knowing how the Senate is going to vote, and his knowledge is almost as socurate regarding Democrats as Republicans. When he publicly declares that the duty on lumber will be retained, it may be set down for a certainty that the advocates of free lumber are facing Conductor Lowe backed the train and the unconscious boy was found beside the track. He was burried to Portland and conveyed in an ambulance from the Central Stables to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where surgeons worked over him most of the night in an effort to save him. The boy is the son of Henry Johnson, a fisherman living in Astoria and had been committed to the Reform School yesterday by the court. Grave doubts were expressed by the surgeons who dressed his wounds last night as to his recovery.

Frank Peterson Then Gives Chase and Makes Capture.

BADLY BEATEN WITH GUN

Contractor, 54 Years Old, Although Bleeding From Wounds, Keeps Up Pursuit and John Mills Is Arrested.

Held up at the muzzle of a revolver at Third and College streets last night by two young thurs. Frank Peterson, a contractor, 54 years old, who lives at 55 Sixth street, put the highwaymen to rout with his bare fists. After having been knocked down and beaten over the head with a revolver butt, he arose and gave chase to the footpads, finally succeeding in capturing one of them several blocks away. The chase was witnessed by a number of people, who would not lend assistance for fear of the robbebr with the gun.

number of people, who would not lend assistance for fear of the robbebr with the gun.

John Mills, a curly-haired youth of 17, one of the robbers, was caught at Fifth and Montgomery streets and held antil the arrival of the police. All the tricks of the "third degree" falled to ellcit any information regarding his antecedents. The other thug jumped the fence at the house of Dr. George Strowbridge, 265 Fifth street, and made good his escripe.

Portland's police annals do not contain a more remarkable record of bravery and persistence than displayed last night by Mr. Peterson. He had left his own house to take a few articles of ciothing to the home of his sister, who lives on the East Side. With a suitcase in his hand, he walked to Fifth street to take a car. Finding none there, he went on to Third street to eath a car there.

Peterson was walking across College street when he encountered the two robbers coming toward him. Both were young, well dressed and nothing in their appearance excited his suspicion. When they reached him they suddenly separated. The one who later escaped pressed a revolver quickly to his heart and said, "Keep quiet now and give right up or I'll blow your head off. We want your money."

With this Mills threw his arms about

I'll blow your head off. We want your money."
With this Mills threw his arms about the old man to prevent his movement. As he did so the doughty contractor let fly with his fists. Grabbing the arm of the man wielding the weapon the elderly man clung to it with one hand while he rained blows upon his assaliants with the other. In the struggle the thug wrenched his gun free from the victim's hold and struck him down. Not for one instant did Peterson give up. How after blow came down on his head but he fought with redoubled efforts.

At last the thugs fled, but Peterson rose and, although bleeding freely, ran after them. Three times they circled the block bounded by Hall, College, Third and Fourth streets. The gray-haired man exhibited as remarkable prowess as a runner as he had as a fighter and the young fellows were unable to shake him off.

After three times around the block an

After three times around the block an unknown passerby joined Peterson and the two robbers then ran north on Third to Montgomery, where they turned west to Fifth. Here they were overtaken by their pursuers and Mills was caught, while his companion got away.

The man who escaped is described as being a Mexican, anout 21 years old, dressed in a dark suit and a black slouch hat, creased in the middle. He was the only one of the two who was armed. The description of this pair corresponds exactly with that of the robbers who held up a citizen a short time ago at Fourteenth and Montgomery streets.

WOMEN FIGHT, CRY FORGIVE

Mrs. Susan Pallay Arrested at Instance of Mrs. E. S. Johnson.

Mrs. Susan Pallay, of 626 Fifth street, was arrested last night on a warrant charging assault and battery. The complainant is Mrs. E. S. Johnson, the next-door neighbor of Mrs. Pallay.

The two women, according to their own statements, have been the best of friends for years, Mrs. Johnson nursing Mrs. Pallay when she was recently very ill, but yesterday morning when Mrs. Pallay called on Mrs. Johnson a fight started because one accused the other of being sarcastic.

Sarcastic.

Versions of the affair differ, but from all accounts Mrs. Pallay emerged from the fray victorious. Mrs. Johnson, with her face scratched and her hair awry, repaired immediately to the office of the City Attorney, and Deputy City Attorney R. A. Sullyan made out a complaint for her. Mrs. Pailay secured her release last night on $20 ball.

It was said last night that the two friends had cried and forgiven each other and that neither would appear in court today when the case is called.

A Final Word to the Voters of the Tenth Ward

The following are some points in my political creed:

First of all, I wear nobody's collar or chain.

Second—I don't believe in spending $600 for a $300 job; being a stranger to the art of grafting, it would be a dead loss to me.

I believe that a man who can make an honest success of his private business can attend to the business of the city in the same way. I believe that the Councilman of any ward should meet at stated times the people of every precinct in that ward to discuss in open meeting the needs of the precincts.

I believe that any man or company cincts.

I believe that any man or company who performs any service to the city is entitled to pay as soon as it is shown that such service has been conscientiously performed.

Finally—If you expect me to support any corporation or public utility to the disadvantage or exclusion of any other corporation or utility, don't vote for me. And, he ye all well assured, I will shed no tears over my defeat.

BOSTON, May 7.—(Special.)—Arthur L. Campbell, alias A. L. Chase, lawyer, promoter and "financial wisard." of Portland, Or., returned to Boston today to stand trial on an old indictment charging him with fraudulent use of the malle

In view of the manner in which the name of Mrs. Choate, wife of George Warren Choate, of Boston, has been connected with Campbell's, and the declaration of Mrs. Choate's husband that he would seek divorce, Campbell, it is believed, will do everything possible to prevent Mrs. Choate being dragged into the case.

Although it is reported that Mrs. Choate, who was last heard of in Portland, would accompany Campbell to Boston, she did not appear. It is believed she remained in Portland with her mother, Mrs. Bartlett H. Hardy.
