BY W. J. PETRAIN.

Aberdeen's winning streak, which embraced seven straight victories over the Vancouver Northwestern League champions, was temporarily, at least, stopped by Tom Seaton's Colts yesterday, for Tom Seaton occupied the mound for the home guard and held the Black Cats runless until the ninth, when he made the runner one run was scored against seven for Portland.

Despite the sloppy condition of the field, the game was fast and snappy, both teams working hard all of the time. Seaton, however, outpitched Conroy Starkell, the ex-New York American League pitcher, and who once pitched for Portland.

Casey's single to right in the first inning was converted into a run when Starkell's sacrifice play to Seaton, which was a "boy" manager, tried all the way home, while Phil brought up at third. Conroy was tossed out at the plate trying to score on an infield hit.

Adams walked in the second, and Sheehan's sacrifice, passed by Seaton, and infield hit Casey and Conroy, scored another for Portland in the second.

Seaton Puzzles Cats.
Jerry Sheehan opened the fourth with a two-bagger to left. Seaton sacrificed, sending Jerry to third. Casey popped a fly, but Conroy beat it out a slow one to Moore on which Sheehan scored. The same runner when Basseley hit to center, Conroy registered. Basseley was out between first and second attempting to advance on the throw.

In the meantime Tom Seaton was pitching great ball. He had the heavy hitters of the Aberdeen squad completely mystified, and while a few of them managed to scrape out a hit now and then, the following batters found that the youngster had tightened up worse than Hetty Green and her pocketbook.

In the eighth inning Portland again got busy with the offerings of Starkell. O'Brien's error put Garry on as the first main up, and when Carr dropped Starkell's throw to second on Station's bunt, both runners scored. Garry stole second and scored on O'Brien's bad throw, and at the same time Station stole second. Adams singled to right, where Sheehan touched one off Carr's shin, Station scored. Adams was caught off third, but Casey's two-bagger to left registered the big catcher.

Aberdeen Gets Lonely Run.
In the ninth Seaton eased up. Streib hit to right, and Howard advanced him to second. Moore was passed, and O'Brien's hit, which came from Seaton to Casey, hitting Moore, gave Streib the opportunity to score. Garry stole second and scored on O'Brien's bad throw, and at the same time Station stole second. Adams singled to right, where Sheehan touched one off Carr's shin, Station scored. Adams was caught off third, but Casey's two-bagger to left registered the big catcher.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 17.—(Special.)—McCredie and his bunch of ball players put over a bad joke on the locals this afternoon, by beating Vernon 8 to 1, after the fans had yelled themselves hoarse and couldn't do a thing.

Vernon managed to sneak in a run in the first inning before the Portland players warmed up. When Stovall crossed the plate the fans thought they saw victory, and commenced yelling. For three innings they kept the Chutes Park at concert pitch and when the fourth opened they could only whisper. McCredie thought they had had enough, so he piled up five runs then and rested until the ninth, when he added three more without allowing Happy Hogan's bunch of goats to cross the plate after the first.

The fatal fourth opened with Ryan at bat. He sent an easy one to Haley, who fumbled, but recovered in time to nail the runner at first. Olson made a pretty bun toward third and started by hitting off Mott's foot to catch him, but threw wild to first, and Olson stopped for refreshments at second, while they found the ball. Then the fun began.

FIND-AM AT RANDOM

MANAGER Casey's bunch got away with good advantage that fast-going Aberdeen team, and indications are that Portland may take the series.

Mike Donlin intends to look the Colts over this afternoon. He is much smitten with Duggdale's team, but if Portland will play like yesterday, the ex-Giant may realize there is another team.

After a short meeting with Donlin, Fleider Jones left yesterday for an extended trip through Southern Oregon on business. His attention has been called to some choice properties, and he is not going to pass up any chances for investment.

This big blond youngster in right field for Aberdeen, whose name is Campbell, appears to be the most likely member of the Black Cat squad.

Julie Streib, who is credited with being three weeks older than Kid Mohler, is playing just as good ball as he ever did, and Julie always was some ballplayer.

Charley Moore, the Portland boy who is playing second base for the Black Cats, was given a rousing hand by the few hopefuls who assembled yesterday. The manager, Charley, is a member of the champion Portland team of 1908.

The fans are not yet aware that the Northwestern League plays on Mondays, and a number would have been on hand had they been cognizant of the new arrangement.

It seems funny to see Ralph Frary in an umpire's uniform, for the Portland fans remember him as one of the best catchers who ever played here. However, Ralph is there as an umpire, and don't forget it. He used excellent judgment yesterday.

Little Giant Jesse Garrett

Little Giant Jesse Garrett was again the hero of a Portland victory in the Coast League. Jesse had the Vernones on his staff, and McCredie's bunch got an even break with the locals.

Today McCredie's team mixes it with the Angel band, and this series will be fought for only a matter of days.

Portland's team will try conclusions with the Mohlerites.

The Vancouver team slipped one over on the Dugaldian leaders yesterday, and if Nordyke's team can only do this repeatedly this week, the Northwestern League race will soon be well bounded.

Phil Cooney made a great running catch in the seventh inning of yesterday's game and after clutching the ball, it was all Phil could do to keep from falling flat. Casey pulled off a nice stop and throw in the ninth.

Bobby Groom lost another game with Washington yesterday, but it was hardly his fault, as the Washington team only made two hits behind him, and St. Louis scored a shut-out.

Keats Auto Team Wants Games.

The Keats Auto Company team desires to arrange for future games this season. The team wishes to play club games, including parks, and would prefer the Salem independent. The Sherwood "White Sox," Canby Colts, Seio, Rosewood, Cottage Grove and also teams are also figured as possible opponents. All these teams are requested to write to A. J. Dickerman, manager, 125 Tenth street.

DONLIN MAY GO BACK

MIKE WILL PLAY BALL NEXT SEASON, PERHAPS THIS.

Present Thesman Likes Portland and Intends to Look Over Casey's Ball Team Today.

BY W. J. PETRAIN.
Michael J. Donlin, actor, is in Portland, and his presence here, accompanied by his vivacious and charming wife, Mabel Hill, is anything but soothing news to the fans of New York, for Mike is on the Oregon circuit and won't play ball for the Chutes at least until the present.

Sir Michael is delighted with Portland. He says he is almost as tickled to be here as though he were back at the Polo Grounds receiving the plaudits of the multitude for rapping out a base hit now and then. Mike has enjoyed two pleasant experiences since his arrival here yesterday morning. The first was a friendly call on the part of Fleider A. Jones, last year manager of the Chicago American League team, which, like Donlin's New York club, lost the championship in the last game of the season. Detroit beating Chicago, Chicago beating Seattle. The two leaders of the rival runners-up talked baseball for half an hour. They would probably be talking yet had Jones, not been compelled to catch a train to Southern Oregon, and Donlin to appear in his sketch, "Stealing Home."

The second pleasing surprise to Sir Michael was a little card handed him bearing the following inscription:
This automobile is at the disposal of myself and wife during my stay in Portland. With kind remembrance from your old pal, WALTER McCREDIE.

"I think that was just bully of Mac," said Donlin in referring to McCredie's courtesy. "I tell you there is one of the best-hearted chaps in the world, and I am glad he is doing so well in Portland. I hope he wins both pennants, but I think his Northwestern club will have to travel some to beat Seattle. I haven't seen Casey's team work yet, but will do so tomorrow. I want to see Casey and Conroy work around that second bag. They've been telling me so much about them in Spokane and Seattle, that they must be there with the goods, so Mabel and I will go out and look 'em over Tuesday."

Mike was delighted with the accounts Fleider Jones gave of Oregon and its opportunities, and in commenting on his chat with Fleider, said: "Don't be surprised if you heard of the firm of Patten & Hite buying something out here. I always did like the Pacific Coast, anyway, and some day we may move out here for good. That is, maybe we will when I am a has-been and Mabel gets the stage."

This remark brought forth the question, which, by the way, is first at Donlin all over the country. "Are you going to join the Giants?"
"Maybe," replied Mike. "I'd like to go back now I don't believe John T. Brush and that bunch used me right. I have not asked for anything unreasonable, for there are other players getting more than I received last season. Still I'd go back this year, and may do so yet, if Brush will pay me what I received last year. I'd do this simply to please my friends in New York."

Mabel Hill was asked whether she would care to permit her husband to rejoin the Giants. "Sure," was the reply. "I am one of the biggest 'bugs,' as you call them, in New York. Mike can't stay if they do the right thing by him. If not, we'll go to Europe in July."

Champions, and May Get Cup.

LONDON, May 17.—The Meadowbrook Long Island polo team today defeated a team made up of Great Britain's best at Hurlingham, 5 to 4, and as a result English players are fearful of the outcome of the contest in which the Americans are to compete next month for the American cup, a trophy that has been held by the Hurlingham Club since 1886.

The Americans played a wonderful game. M. Waterbury and L. E. Stoddard each scored the two goals, while H. P. Whitney and L. Waterbury scored no goal each.
