HELMS SET TRAP

Invited Offers of Bribe From Emissaries of Defense to Help Heney.

LAWYERS STORM ALL DAY

Defense Strives to Shut Out Evidence Counteracting Monroe's Story. Effort to Implicate Calhoun in Thefts.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28 -- A torrent of legal eloquence was turned loose in the trial of Patrick Calhoun today when John Helms, once a detective in the employ of the United Rail-roads, was called upon to relate the details of an alleged attempt to prevent his appearance as a witness against Calhoun. During a period of two hours the courtroom echoed with the spirited arguments of prosecution and defense, and at times the personal equation entered so strongly into the debate that the intervention of Judge William P. Lawlor was necessary to restore the customary decorum of the proceedings.

Helms, who was under examination, had told of visits made to his ranch in Trinity County by two men who are alleged to have been emissaries of the defense, and Mr. Hency attempted to show that Helms, with the authorization of the District Attorney of this county, had invited the offer of a bribe for the purpose of entraping any one making much an attempt Attornet making such an attempt. Alexander King, Stanley Moore and John J. Barrett, attorneys for the defense, interposed many objections to the testimony of Heims.

Mr. Heney's questions brought out

Set Trap for Calhoun's Men.

Mr. Heney's questions brought out that Heims had conferred with District Attorney W. H. Langdon and with G.
Burns, special agent of the prosecution.
Early in the day Alonzo J. Munroe, an attorney of Eureka, had testified that he sent Winfield S. Lamb, a ranheer, to Helms' residence to carry out instructions transmitted to Munroe by W.
H. Metson, an attorney who has represented officials of the United Railways in recent proceedings connected with sented officials of the United Railways in recent proceedings connected with the Calhoun, case. Mr. Heney, in the effort to establish the theory of a conspiracy, to which Calhoun and William M. Abbott are alleged to have been parties, then reviewed a large portion of the testimony, declaring that reports stolen from the offices of an agent of the District Attorney had been placed in the defendant's hands through intermediaries.

Defied to Implicate Calhoun.

Alexander King and Stanley Moore, of counsel for the defense, challenged Mr. Hency to produce any testimony to that effect, and the prosecutor promised to do so. Mr. King objected to many constructions placed on testimony by Mr. Hency, declaring that the packages introduced in additional to describe the description. rieday, declaring that the packages in-troduved in evidence contained no docu-ments stolen from the office of W. J. Burns; that Calhoun had nover received a stolen report from any agent of the defense; that there was not a line of defense; that there was not a line of evidence tending to connect the defendant with lelms, and that there was nothing before the jury in the nature of a charge against W. H. Metson.
"Further." said Mr. King. "If the District Attorney had in possession anything relating to the prejudices of jurors he was bound by his sworn duty to furnish the defendant with copies of those reports."

Anything to Escape Prison.

"If society is to be at the mercy of men who have enough meney and who are willing to take chances," said Heney, "then let us diepense with our pretense of laws. Experience has shown that, when a defendant is facing the pentrentiary, he does not hesitate at the bribery of jurors or witnesses who may be in position to assist him to liberty."

Judge Lawlor finally deferred for future decision the question involving Helms' further testimony and the trial was adjourned until next Tuesday.

Munroe, in his testimony, said he understood that Helms was under arrest on his ranch in connection with some forestry matters and was being taken to Eurska under arrest, and that he was requested to see that Helms was advised of his rights, legally defended and not "sweated." He denied that Mr. Metson ever suggested that he should do anything hegal or suppress testimony. He denied knowledge that Winfield S. Lamb had been concerned in the murder of Erickson. "If society is to be at the mercy of

Talk of Facile Swearers.

While evidence was being taken as to the raids on the United Baliroads' offices, Mr. Heney made a remark about Earl Rogers' conduct on those occasions, which provoked Mr. Rogers to say: "You cannot prove that, even by your facile swearers."

"They cannot be any more facile in swearing than you have been through your Luther Brown," retorted Mr.

Later Mr. Hency objected that Mr. Rogers was attempting to make a farce of the trial by laughing and jesting with witnesses.

Hugh O'Neill, the attorney, who is alleged to have interviewed Helms and who disappeared, has been subpensed by the
