CORDWOOD AFIRE; LOSS NOW $28,000

Lebanon Paper Mills Threatened With $62,000 Loss Until Fire Is Checked.

SALEM AND ALBANY AID

Fire Departments Send Engines and Hose-After Eleven Hours, 200 Men Succeed in Saving

10,000 Cords.

LEBANON, Or., May 29 .- (Special.)-Fire which broke out at 2 o'clock yes-terday afternoon and threatened for a time destruction of 18,000 cords of wood belonging to the Lebanon Paper Mills Company, and valued at $54,000, was practically under control at 1 o'clock this morning with a loss of $28,000. The loss includes a wood hoist

Fire equipment, brought here from Albany and Salem, assisted in subduing the flames after a stubborn fight of nearly 12 hours. Two hundred men helped in fighting the flames, and shortly after midnight they succeeded in tearing away a hole near the middle of the great pile of cordwood, thus checking the spread of the flames.

Nine Streams of Water Turned On-Nine streams of water were kent play-men were able, because of the intense heat, to high side several thousand cords of wood, and confine the fire within a 200-foot area. Dynamite had been brought here from Albany for use in case head-way could not be made with water. The work of the steam engine sent here by the Salem Fire Department made it possible to win the battle with the fire

The pile of cordwood in which the fire started was 500 feet long, 150 feet wide and 50 feet high. About 300 feet of this pile has been destroyed, a hole having been made in the wood about 300 feet from the point where the fire broke out.

Mill Was Threatened.

Four hundred yards distant from the pile of wood stands the mills of the Lebanon Paper Company, valued at $1,000,000.

A strawstack stands half way distant between the wood and the mills, and every effort was made to keep sparks from igniting the straw and thus endangering the mills. The mills are heavily insured, but I D. Roude manuage of the mills. but H. D. Boudy, manager of the mills, states that no insurance was carried on states that no insurance was carried on the cordwood.

The fire started in the pile of wood adjoining the engine-room of the woodholst, and the alarm was sounded by Olin Morris, the engineer. A strong southwest wind soon carried the flames to the big pile of dry wood, which in a few minutes was a seething furnace. The mills are beyond reach of the city fire system, but the mills have a fire system of their own, and with the assistance of of their own, and with the assista the city fire department and all the city hose, there were soon three streams play-ing on the mass of flames.

Special Engines Arrive.

This had no apparent effect, and Albany was called on for assistance. She responded by sending one of her engines and several firemen headed by W. R. Hand, chief of the ...bany department. They added two more streams and for a time it looked as if they had the fire un-der control. About 7 o'clock the wind be-came stronger, and with the great heat the flames again got beyond control. Salem was called on for an engine, and she sent up one of her fire engines, which arrived at 10 o'clock.

The O. R. & N. Company is harassed in this particular because of the railroad bridge across the Clearwater River at Lewiston and the fact that the draw-span in this bridge is not in River at Lewiston and the fact that the draw-span in this bridge is not in working order. The necessary rollers for operating the draw were installed at the time the bridge was constructed, but because steamers have not ascended the river for many years it was suggested at that time that the draw was little more than a subterfuge to keep within bounds of the permit issued by the War Department. In any event the draw was not even tested when the bridge was built, and in laying the railroad steel the track crew paid no attention to the draw joints and the rails were laid continuously across the big structure.

The railroad company is now in a position of either dealing with the Open River Transportation Company upon whatever terms that company may dictate or will be compelled to put the draw-span in condition for operation. The boat company, without knowledge of the bridge condition, made definite arrangements for ascending the Clearwater and receiving a cargo of brick for Asstin, and unless the shipper will rescind the order the boat company in justice to its business interests will be compelled to demand passage through the draw-span.

BOISEL Idaho, May 35.—(Special.)—The late Spring spells floods in Southern Idaho to those who have made a practice of watching such things from year to year. Last Winter the snow fall was heavier than usual. While there are no official measurements it is stated by people living in Southeastern Idaho that the fall in the mountains was a third heavier than for many years past. Comparatively little of this snow has melted. A few days of warm weather in the mountains only served to pack it more solid. DEMAND INCREASE IN PAY

Mill Owners Blame William Haywood for Labor Trouble-Refuse to Grant Wage Increase and Decide to "Stand Pat."

ABERDEEN, Wash., May 38-Five hun-

ABERDEEN, Wash., May R.—Five hunfired mill hands are on strike tonight, and while the number has not been greatly augmented during the afternoon, it is predicted that the strikers will be largely increased when the mills attempt to resume work in the morning.

The strikers demand an increase in wages, and the millmen at a meeting late this afternoon refused to meet the demand and concluded to "stand pat."

At the conclusion of the meeting, a statement was issued saying among other things that "this strike was started by W. D. Haywood."

The ex-president of the Western Pedcration of Miners delivered a labor lecture hers Wednesday night. The strike, however, began Wednesday morning with a walk-out at the Slade mill.

Though the streets of the down-town
section were filled all day with marching men, comparative quiet reigns tenight.
No disorder of a serious nature has occurred. The nearest disturbance came when strikers approached the West mill.
They were met there by A. J. West, who lighted a cigar, ast down on the railroad track, laid a shotgun across his knees
and invited the marchers to "come on."

The next threat of trouble occurred at the Anderson & Middleton plant, which was approached by a large meb. There the workers at the sorting table quit, and the plant was compelled to suspend operations during the afternoon. Mayor E. B.
Benn ordered the men to disperse. They

EXPECT AVERAGE YIELD

CROPS ABOUT WALLA WALLA ARE DOING NICELY.

At Garfield, in Palouse Section. Prospects Are for Largest Crop for Years.

WALLA WALLA. Wash, May E.— (Special.)—Information furnished by promfront wheatgrowers, buyers and shippers
of Walla Walla County place the yield for the coming season in this county at about 5,00,000 bushels, or practically the sums as last year. Although expected at the opening of the season that the yield
would be heavier, this is not likely,
owing to the lack of melature and the cold weather and in spite of the fact that grain has shouled to an unusual state, caused by a backward Spring. The stand is now reported to be in the best of condition, but all signs of the bumper crop that have been heraided are rapidly

disappearing.
The crop of barley and oats, which ras hast year to 425,285 hushels for barley and 12,500 for oats, will be the same this season, as the same amount of ground is seeded and the weather conditions are almost similar.

Romething like 30,000 acres are sowed in this county each year and by far the greater part of this is in Fall cereals. This fact is unusually important this year, as Spring grain is abowing up but poorly and it is not expected that even a general average for the past several seasons will be sustained. It is practically assured, however, that the general yield will average 25 husbels to the acre. Although this valley suffered one of the endest periods it has ever undergoes, very little resceding is reported, owing to the great amount of snow that protected the growing grain. Soom few cases are known, however, but these are principally from farmers who resceeded because their grain was rotted. Many farmers have seeded their ground to bluestern. almost similar.

Should a good rainfall occur within the next ten days, a splendid, average crop of fine-grade wheat will be obtained.

No smut is reported.
