FACTIONS TO CLASH

Estacada Election Tomorrow Will Be Bitter Contest.

POLITICAL FEUD AT HEIGHT

Result of Recent Recall Election Will Be Battle Royal Between Heylman and Reid Forces in Regular Balloting.

Rival political factions in the mountain town of Estacada will settle their differences at the polls tomorrow in the regular biennial municipal election. One faction, headed by Mayor W. A. Heylman, is seeking reelection. This ticket will be opposed by another, whose candidate for Mayor is J. W. Reid, ex-Mayor of the municipality. So intensely bitter has the contest become that every one of the 120 legal voters of the city has lined up with one side or the other, with the result that a full vote will mark the most exciting election since the city assumed corporate shape about four years ago.

The situation at Estacada is unusual in the history of Oregon towns. There has been continuous wrangling between the two factions ever since the town was incorporated. Business rivalry probably is more responsible than any other one consideration for the origin of the trouble which has divided the city almost evenly against itself. This chaotic condition continued under the regime of Mayor Heylman and culminated about a month ago when Recorder A. N. Johnson, a member of the Reid faction, officially called a special recall election.

Mayor Heylman and the other members of his administration ignored this election and refused to participate therein, with the result that about 60 votes were cast, almost unanimously for Reid for Mayor and the following five menbers of the City Council on the Reid ticket: L. E. Belfis, A. E. Sparks, Al Lindsey, Charles Shutter and W. D. Henthorn. The deposed members of the Heylman council were: C. F. Howe, A. Havens, William Dale, B. O. Boswell and J. F. Lovelace. In tomorrow's election these men will be arrayed against each other.

Following the recall election the Reid forces instituted a suit in the State Circuit Court at Oregon City to compel the Heylman administration officially to can-

THE ROSE IN POETRY AND SONG

Fair dewy roses brush against our faces
And flowering laurels spring from diamond vases.
JOHN KEATS.

Like the first rose of Summer, her dimpled cheek burns.
MRS. S. J. HALE.

Queen rose of the rose-bud garden of girls,
Come hither! the dances are done;
In glows of satin and glimmer of pearls,
Queen lily and rose in one;
Shine out, little head, sunning over with curls,
To the flowers, and be their sun.

There has fallen a splendid tear
From the passion-flower at the gate,
She is coming, my dove, my dear;
She is coming, my life, my fate!
The red rose cries, "She is near, she is near";
And the white rose weeps, "She is late";
The larkspur laments, "I hear, I hear";
And the lily whispers, "I wait."
ALFRED TENNYSON.

I will not have the mad Cyprian,
Whose head is turned by the sun;
The tulip is a courtly queen,
Whom, therefore, I will shun;
The cowslip is a country wench,
The violet is a nun;
But I will woo the dainty rose,
The queen of every one.

The pea is but a wanton witch,
In too much haste to wed,
And cleaves her rings on every hand;
The wolfbane I should dread;
Nor will I dresary rosemary.
That always mourns the dead;
But I will woo the dainty rose,
With her cheeks of tender red.

The lily is all in white, like a saint,
And so is no mate for me,
And the daisy's cheek is tipped with a blush,
She is of such low degree;
Jasmine is sweet, and has many loves;
And the broom's betrothed to the bee;
But I will plight with the dainty rose,
For fairest of all is she.

But friendship is the breathing rose,
With sweets in every fold. ANON.

There is a garden in her face,
Where roses and white lilies blow;
RICHARD ALISON.

Your lips—but I have no words, Janette—
They were fresh as the twitter of birds—
my pet.
When the Spring is young, and roses are wet,
With the dew-drops in each red bosom set,
And they suited your gold-brown hair—
my pet.
CHARLES GRAHAM HALPINE.

Soft on the sunset sky
Bright daylight closes,
Leaving when light doth die,
Faint hues that mirroring lie—
Ashes of Roses.

When love's warm sun is set,
Love's brightness closes;
Eyes with hot tears are wet,
In hearts there linger yet
Ashes of Roses.

"FIGHTING THE BEEF TRUST"

We respectfully ask everybody to trade at a Smith Market in preference to any other. If you should come to our Alder-Street Market, be sure that Smith's name and "Fighting the Beef Trust" are over the door, and then you'll know you're in the right place. The Beef Trust has put markets all around us down there—but keep away from them and their ice-car cold-storage meats from other states.
