advantage the straight, clean cut lines of the fashionable figure. The new models are style leaders, every one, with new points of distinction and advantage.

They have soft front extensions at the bottom to preserve an unbroken linea comfort feature as well as one of style. The extra fine, extra strong new corset fabric, No. 111 Batiste, is proof

Gossard Corsets have the special ELECTRO-BONE steels—and not whale-bone. They are guaranteed not to warp, break, rust or set to the figure.

Indian Witness Admits Hiding Evidence in Murder Case.

LOOKS DARK FOR LOGSDON

Uncle of Siletz Buck Accused of Crime Tells of Taking Away Guns and of Hearing Nephew Admit Killing White.

Testifying that his wife persuaded him o conceal during the Coroner's inquest ome of the facts in his possession con-erning the murder of Grover Cleveland White, a Siletz Indian, George Wilbur, an uncle by marriage of Carl Logsdon, the Indian youth accused of the crime, gave important testingony in the trial of Logsdon in the Federal Court yesterday

Wilbur's testimony, which was a sur-prise to the defense, changes the charac-ter of the evidence in the case from wholly circumstantial to semi-direct. wholly circumstantial to semi-direct. White, a youth of 22, was found dead by the roadside near Logsdon's house on the Siletz Reservation in Lincoln County, July 28, 1908, with a bullet wound through his chest. According to the testimony given by Indians at the Coroner's inquest and before the grand jury, Logsdon was the last one seen with White while the latter was alive. In the early part of the trial yesterday this evidence was produced by the Government and an attempt was made to prove that the bullet

Mrs. Logsdon, he said, gave him a rifle and asked him to take it away. He did so, he says, and secured two other guns from her. Then he put young Logsdon to bed. The Indian was in an intoxicated condition and when aroused said: "That you, Grover? What you doing here? I thought I killed you." Wilbur testified that the next morning

Wilbur says he advised his nephew not to talk that way, as he might be accused of the murder if White had been killed. Wilbur testified that his wife had persuaded him to say nothing of these occurrences at the Coroner's inquest.

In this case Peter Muggins, one of the witnesses yesterday, was for setting under itnesses yesterday, was for setime under uspicion of having committed the mur-er. He had had trouble with White time prior to the crime when both drunk. On the day of the shooting he went to Toledo to get some whisky that was coming to him by express from Portland and testified to drinking with friends on the way home. He teld of being in company with Evans and of seeing Logsdon and White sitting by the road drinking. road drinking.

Muggins said he and Evans went on to the latter's house and stopped at the gate and had another big drink. From then on he remembered nothing until the next morning, when he awoke in Evans' house and asked for the whisky bottle. He said he was drunk all next day. Muggins, on cross-examination, denied that he had been in the habit of carrying a revolver or that he had one with him the day of the murder. He also denied having made threats against White and insisted that they were good friends at the time of the murder.

SLEUTHS NAB SUPPOSED PICK-POCKETS ON CAR.

Men Caught in Evident Attempt to Jostle Crowds and Booked as Vagrants.

Suspected of being members of the band of Eastern pickpockets who have been operating freely here during the Rose Festival, three young men of re-fined appearance and well-clad were arrested by the police last night and placed in the City Jall after they had been frus-trated in what was believed to be an at-tempt to "go through" a number of crowded streetcars on Morrison street. Detectives Tichnor and Howell and Patrolman J. F. Manion from the central station, San Francisco, who is here on special duty this week, made the arrests The men were seen to jump on and off several cars at the west approach to the Morrison-street bridge last night after the parade when people were returning to the East Side in throngs. The detectives and patrolman followed, and after board-ing a Mount Tabor car the suspects were seen in what their captors terms an at-tempt to jostle the passengers. The men were at once taken into custody. They gave the names of John Williams, age 28; Charles Fisher, age 26, and Edward Burdette, age 29.
