O. R. & N. Fighting Limitation on Hauling Livestock.

PLANS TO APPEAL CASE

Railroad Alleges Three Separate Grounds on Which 28-Hour Statute Is Unconstitutional. Sealed Verdict Ready.

The constitutionality of the Federal statute restricting the time that stock may be carried on railway trains to 28 consecutive hours without rest, food and water, was raised in the Federal Court by the O. R. & N. Company yesterday with the purpose, it is believed, of testing the law in the United States Sue case was the first one brought in district for violation of the 28-hour law. This act, adopted by Congress in 1906, requires railroad companies to un-load stock in suitable pens, after having been on transit not to exceed 28 hours. for a rest of not less than five hours and for feeding and watering. The law stains the provision that upon writte request from the owner or agent the stock may be kept in the cars not to exceed 26 hours. Proceedings brought upon violations of the law are quasi-criminal but a fine only may be imposed of not less than $100 nor more than $500.

Company Admits Guilt.

the suit tried yesterday the O. R. & N. Coupany was accused of keeping a carload of hogs, shipped by Henry Irvin, from Payette. Idaho, to Portland, en route for 29 hours. Instead of being unloaded for rest, food and water at Pendleton or La Grande the hogs were taken to Cayuse. The company admitted that the stock was en route more than to Cayuse. The company admitted that the stock was en route more than 28 hours and in addition to attacking fea-tures of the law maintained that an un-avoidable delay resulted from the breakig of a draw pin, and the parting of the

It is insisted by the railroad company that the provision giving the owner of the stock the right to say whether it shall be kept in the cars more than 28 hours is a delegation of legislative authority and therefore unconstitutional. This point had been previously overfuled on demurrer. The act was also attacked on the ground that it contraverts amendments 5 and 7 to the United States (Constitution. The former provides against the taking of property without due process of law and the latter preserves the case of It is insisted by the railroad, company right of trial by jury when the amount in controversy exceeds $20. While there was a jury in this case it was maintained that the law did not give the jury the right to assess the amount of the line and that therefore the right of trial by jury was abrogated.

Question of Authority.

Whether the trial judge or the jury shall fix the damages in such cases is a somewhat mooted question in the Federal Couris. In California, Judge De Haven has ruled that the jury shall decide if the defendant is guilty and that the court shall fix the penalty in case of conviction. In Colorado, Judge Putnam has ruled that the jury may fix the amount of damages in the event the verdict is "guilty." verdict is "guilty."

Judge R. S. Bean, yesterday, instructed the jury that in the event it found the defendant guilty it should fix the penalty at not less than $100 nor more than $500. It is thought that this ruling may upset the plans of the railroad company in its intended test of the act in the higher courts if the case goes against it, as Judge Bean has ruled that the law makes provision for the very thing that the railroad claims is omitted. The railroad company attorneys also objected yesterday to the admission of testimony from its own train dispatcher, insisting that as the proceeding was quasi-criminal it could not be compelled to produce evidence tending to incriminate itself. The objection was overruled. The jury was ready to report at 5 o'clock yes-terday but court had adjourned and a terday but court had adjourned and a sealed verdict will be submitted this torning.

A similar case is now on trial with the Southern Pacific as defendant. In this case the railroad company is charged with unloading the stock into an unsuitable pen at Junction City, with the result that the stock did not obtain the needed rest.

Fish Taken at Oregon City Falls

Worth $45,000.

The amount of salmon taken at the Oregon City falls this year, according to J. W. Kelly, who runs the launch Bonnie, exceeded the take of fermer years. Mr. Kelly brought down to a Portland fish company 150 tons of salmon, valued at $21,000. Mr. Kelly estimates the entire catch this year between April 16 and catch this year, between April 16 and May 31, at $45,000. Mr. Kelly says that the fish ladder worked well and thousands of salmon went above the falls. He favors keeping all hatcheries out of the Upper Willamette and says that with the clear water in the early Spring there will be plenty of salmon.

Senator Bourne, who says:

I cannot promise, but I believe (if we can make a good showing regarding the population of Portland and probable increase) that I may get a $1.000,000 appropriation for the Postoffice. I am working in my own way persistently in this direction. I shall be greatly disappointed if I do not get at least $1.500,000, and then we will have done better than any city of similar size in the country.

Have a table carefully prepared and send me showing exactly what the growth of Portland in business and population has been in the last 10 years, with the estimated probable growth during the next 10 years. Let the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations work on this. You prepare a table containing information concerning the Postoffice. I want both tables and briefs as soon as possible so as to submit them to the supervising architect and committee on public buildings and grounds, hoping to secure favorable reports from both at the beginning of the Docember term of Congress.

the proposed Federal building.

This marble is located at Ketchikan, Alaska. It is asserted that steamers can be loaded directly from the ledge and the marble laid down in Portland at a cost of 50 cents a ton for transportation. Mr. Clarno proposes that the Government, if it accepts the offer, get out the material itself and leave the derricks and other machinery on the property when the work is completed, when the work is completed he to pay the Government 50 per cent of the cost thereof. It is said the transportation charges on the Wyoming marble, of which the City Hall is con-structed, were $7.50 a ton.

Another body blow was struck at speed maniacs yesterday forenoon when Municipal Judge Van Zante advanced the penalty for fast driving from $15 to $25 and $50. MRS. W. J. HONEYMAN TALKS TO OREGON CONSUMERS' LEAGUE.

Miss Mary Montgomery Presides at Open Meeting-Rev. J. H. Talbot Speaks.

An open meeting of the Oregon Conumers' League was held yesterday afernoon in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium Miss Mary Montgomery presiding. An interesting address was given by Mrs. W. J. Honeyman on "The Unequipped Young Woman in Industrial Life" wherein she gave the result of considerable investigation into the conditions of wage-earning women in department stores, factories and domestic employments. Mrs. Honeyman said in part: "The well-trained, capable young woman in any line of work is always in demand; the difficulty is with the rank and file. Under present conditions it is only the exceptional girl who has a chance to gain any technical knowledge which is at all worth while. The general opinion of employers in all parts of the country seems to be that the majority of girls who come directly from the public schools have no idea of real work, are irresponsible, incompetent and unreliable. In consequence they are given very low wages, become dissatisfied, and drift from place to place, either gradually picking up enough knowledge to secure something better, or becoming shiftless and a burden to society. "Secondly, opportunity must be given for women who are obliged to become wage-earners at an early age to receive training which will enable them to enter some specific industry where continued development is possible."

The speaker told of schoo's in New York and Boston where private philanthropy is endeavoring to meet the latter problem. As "an entering wedge," she urged the systematic study of the questions of industrial education by all members of the league.

The Rev. J. H. Taibot, rector of St. David's Episcopal Church, and formerly a member of the New York Consumers' League, gave an able summary of the work and methods of this organization.

"The Consumers' League's gospel," he said, is that the consumer is as responsible for bad conditions as the producing employer; that the way we spend our money presents as much of a moral question as the means by which we obtain it. The forces at our command
