HAY REPORTED TO WIN WET SENATOR

Brewers Stirred Over Rumor of Renewal of Fight for County Local Option.

WHITNEY SAID TO GO OVER

Flood of Bills Threatened as Retaliation for Governor's Advocacy of Meigs for Speaker—All Senators Have Ax to Grind.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 16.—(Special.)—The brewery and liquor interests of the state are much exercised over well-confirmed reports which have come to them to the effect that Governor Hay and the Anti-Saloon League will renew the fight at the coming special session of the State Legislature for a county local option measure. The report is to the effect that Governor Hay has succeeded in breaking into the liquor forces in the Senate with the result that he believes he has suffncient votes to put through the measure for which the Anti-Saloon forces have been fighting and which was defeated by the Senate during the last session of the Legislature.

The Senator who is believed to have been won over by Governor Hay is E. C. Whitney, of Spokane County, who was lined up strongly with the faction of the Senate which brought about the passage of the present local option law and defeated the measure favored by the Anti-Saloon League, including Governor Hay. Senator Whitney is one of the best-known of the East-of-the-mountains Senators, and it is undoubtedly true he was largely responsible for defeat of the county local option law.

Whitney's Defection Stirs Brewers.

Whitney voted at all times against it and refused to stand for any amendments to the local option measure suggested or favored by the Anti-Saloon League leaders. The league's bill with its amendments, was defeated in the Senate by a very close vote, the Senators voting 21 to 21, and the President deciding the tie.

Senator Whitney, during the session, was credited with having made the statement that Governor Hay had offered him inducements in the way of a fat office for his brother if he would join forces with the Anti-Saloon League. This he refused to do and throughout the fight he was lined up with what were termed the "wet Senators."

Now comes the report that Senator Whitney has undergone a change of sentiment, and at the coming special session he will support Governor Hay's policy.

His reported change of heart has thrown a bomb into the camp of the brewery and liquor interests, and they have been busy for a week lining up their forces to fight the Hay programme.

Last Friday a secret meeting of the brewery interests was held in Seattle and the Whitney report discussed in detail. It was reported today the Senators who are opposed to Governor Hay will hold a meeting in Portland next Monday. Some of the local Senators, it is said, will go to Portland Saturday or Sunday to take part in the meeting.

Flood of Bills Promised.

Retaliation in the shape of a flood of legislation, declare local supporters of J. W. Slayden, candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives, may be taken when the Legislature convenes June 23 if Governor Hay persists in bringing pressure to bear on certain solons in an attempt to force them to support the executive's favorite, Leonard Meigs, of Yakima.

While confident that their candidate has votes to spare, Slayden men are annoyed at the reports that two men counted safe are showing signs of defection. Frank C. Jackson, who is managing Meigs' West Side campaign, has announced that Representative F. H. Tonkin, of King County, has signified his intention of voting for the Eastern Washington man and it is understood Representative George Ward, of Kitsap County, is also likely to go against Slayden.

Then there is a host of bills, for every member of the Legislature has an axe to grind. Saloonmen want the anti-screen law repealed. Cigarette smokers are said to be up in arms against the act outlawing the cigarette and the waiters are vexed at the anti-tipping law. The King County Commissioners declare the present method of treating tuberculosis patients is bankrupting the county, and they are expected to fight again for Dr. J. A. Ghent's bill, creating a State Tuberculosis Hospital.

Probe Bills May Be Held Up.

Governor Hay faces the possibility of having the extra session of the Legislature refuse to allow the bills presented by his pet investigating committee for their expenses in traveling over the state on a probe junket. Among those who strongly condemn the liberties taken by the committee, and believe that its members would have no just cause for complaint if they were forced to dig down in their pockets and pay their own expenses, is Representative E. B. Palmer.

"Joint resolution No. 16," said Representative Palmer this morning, expressly stipulates that all investigations must be conducted in open session, and that the place for such sessions was to be the chamber of the House or Representatives. Notwithstanding the committee saw fit to make the rounds of the principal cities of the state and enjoyed a fine trip at the expense of the state."

HIS OWN RIFLE IS FATAL

Fred Westinghiser Is Accidentally Killed Shortly Before Wedding.

ROSEBURG, Or., June 16.—(Special.)—The lifeless body of Fred Westinghiser, a member of one of the oldest and most respected families in this county, was found beside the county road near the home of his mother, about five miles southeast of Yoncalla, late last evening, an ugly bullet wound in the neck. A discharged Winchester rifle nearby furnished mute evidence of the tragedy.

Westinghiser left his home early yesterday morning for a hunt, expecting to return by noon. Failing in this, his mother instituted a search, resulting in the recovery of the remains late in the evening. From the position of the body and the gun it is conceded death was of an accidental nature. It is presumed he was seated on a log and, in an attempt to arise, discharged the gun. The bullet entered his neck, ranging upward and penetrating the brain. Westinghiser was 30 years old and was well off. He was engaged to Miss Cassie Cowan, of Yoncalla, and would have been married in September. No inquest was held.

RAILROAD STILL MYSTERY

Strahorn on Stand Evades Betraying Ownership of Road.

SPOKANE, June 16.—Robert E. Strahorn, president of the mysterious North Coast Road, again skillfully evaded betraying its ownership in spite of close questioning in court during condemnation proceedings. He testified that the New York banking house of Harvey Fisk & Sons held the entire stock of the North Coast and puts up the money for it. Asked if he did not know this money was provided by the Canadian Pacific, he replied:

"I don't know it."

"Was your understanding with the fellows putting up this money oral or written?"

"Oral, with the bankinghouse and also with the trustees."

McCrea Going After Bell.

SEATTLE, June 16.—President James McCrea, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has been appointed agent of the fair in the negotiations with the City Council of Philadelphia for loan of the famous Liberty Bell as an exhibit. There has been opposition in Philadelphia to letting the bell leave the city. Mr. McCrea, who was greatly impressed by the Exposition, has promised to use all his influence and will take personal charge of the negotiations.

DESIRE ST. DENNIS' SONS TO CONTEST

Allege Father Was Made Drunk by Fourth Wife When Will Was Drawn.

LARGE ESTATE AT STAKE

Beneficiary Was Nurse to Third Wife and Married Husband Three Days After Funeral—Two Days After Will Signed Man Dies.

PENDLETON, Or., June 16.—(Special.)—Declaring their father was intoxicated when he signed his last will, and that he had been made intoxicated by his wife for the purpose of securing his signature to the document which leaves her all of his estate, three sons of Desire St. Dennis have filed a contest against the will. They are Joe, Jeremiah and Nelson St. Dennis, all sons by former marriages.

Desire St. Dennis, known to everyone as "Jerry" St. Dennis, was one of the well-to-do and best-known grain-growers on the reservation. At the time of his death he had been married four times, each of his first three wives being allottees on the reservation, and most of his property having been acquired by these marriages. His last wife, and the one to whom all of his valuable estate is left by the terms of the will now on probate, was a nurse in a Walla Walla hospital. As such she cared for Mrs. St. Dennis, the third, during her last illness. She not only nursed the woman, but within a week after she was buried she married the bereaved widower of many years and numerous wives.

This occurred last Fall. They took up their residence in Walla Walla. In April of this year St. Dennis made a will giving all his property to his new wife. Two days later he was a corpse, death being ascribed to alcoholism. By this last will his three sons and the three children of his deceased daughter are cut off with one dollar each.

If the heirs fail to break the will as a result of the contest filed today, an effort will be made to secure their portion of their mothers' property, title to which still reposes in the United States Government. They hold that since patent had never been issued to their mother, the title could not have passed to their father, and therefore could not be disposed of by him in his will.

The estate consists for the most part of valuable wheat land on the Umatilla Reservation, though he did own some town property in Walla Walla, and had personal property to the value of several thousand dollars. The case gives promise of being one of the hardest-fought ever tried in the courts of Umatilla County.

FORMER DAYS RECALLED

Pacific College Closes With Fun and Merriment.

NEWBERG, Or., June 16.—(Special.)—With the various functions incident to commencement this has been a busy week for Pacific College people. The annual baseball game between the Alumni and the college, which has become a special feature, was played Monday afternoon before a big crowd. The alumni made a great effort this year to go against a team of seasoned youngsters, but they went down to defeat, the score being 7 to 15.

Class day exercises have been an enjoyable feature, the Seniors holding theirs Monday night and the Alumni following Tuesday night. The latter, instead of having a public address at their annual meeting, as usual, had each class reproduce some feature of its class day exercises. Many appeared, dressed in the same clothes they wore on the former occasion. An unusually large number of the Alumni were present and the gymnasium was crowded.

On Tuesday afternoon the graduating exercises of the Academy class were held in Friends Church, the address to the class being delivered by Rev. A. J. Weaver, pastor of Friends Church, and the presentation of diplomas was made by the president, W. Irving Kelsey. The members of the class were Melvin Elliott and the Misses Florence Mills, Lilly Hagmann and Erma Heacock.

WORK TRAINS COLLIDE

Accident at Fort Stevens Piles Up Laborers in Heap.

FORT STEVENS, Or., June 16.—(Special.)—Two work trains drawn by engines, used by the United States Engineer Department, collided on a sharp curve on a track laid between Point Adams and the Engineer yards. One of the cars was crowded with laborers, together with pickaxes, shovels, etc., and when the accident occurred they were piled together in a heterogenous mass. Much surprise is manifested that there were no permanent injuries sustained.

Mr. Wettemore, in charge of this work, was riding in the cab of one of the engines, and, though he succeeded in jumping clear, the shock sustained in the fall will incapacitate him for several days. A more serious accident was probably averted by the prompt action of Engineer Butter in reversing his engine. Cowcatchers, drawheads, etc., were torn from the engines. Otherwise the damage was slight.

BABY SEA LIONS CAUGHT

New Arrivals at Seaside Being Brought Up on Bottle.

SEASIDE, Or., June 16.—(Special.)—One of the newest attractions at the Hotel Moore is a pair of baby sea lions, caught yesterday at Elk Creek by some fishermen. They are kept in an enclosure near the bath-houses, where salt water is run into a tank for their benefit. Their food is fish and milk, fed from the latest patent nursing bottle. They are tended by Sam Lee, the Seaside clamdigger, and when they begin to cry for their mama he talks to them in a language they seem to appreciate, and hands them their nursing bottle, when they fall to and go to sleep.

RECORD IS FIERY

Man Held for Arson Has Won Much by Insurance.

HAS CONFIDENCE OF CITY

Many Prominent Business Men Go on Bealey's Bond in Aberdeen and He May Be Victim of Circumstances.

ABERDEEN, Wash., June 16.—(Special.)—Charles Bealey, colored, was held to Superior Court for trial on the charge of arson in the second degree, after a preliminary examination lasting two days, before Justice Bush. A big fight was put up by the Bealey attorneys to secure his freedom.

Bealey's bail was placed at $2000 and his bonds were signed by Samuel Benn, N. J. G. Kaufman, George Fisher and Fred Taylor, all prominent business men, which indicates, say Bealey's friends, faith in his innocence. Bealey came to Aberdeen prior to the big conflagration of 1903. It is recalled that six days after that fire the Commercial building, occupying a full block on Market street, was destroyed by what was supposed to have been an incendiary. Bealey had rooms in the block.

Bealey's Cottage Burned.

In August last Bealey occupied a cottage on Market street, adjoining two others, the central one being occupied by George Simpson, whose wife was in California. Simpson slept in the house and boarded down town. He alleged no fire had been started in the house since his wife left. Early one morning a fire broke out in the Simpson house and, with the contents, it was burned. Simpson was sick in a hospital at the time. Bealey's house and furniture were burned. There was good insurance.

Still later Bealey started a fine bathhouse and fitted it up without sparing expense. It was burned shortly after it was opened to the public. The insurance was ample. In fact, by the two fires Bealey received $5500 in insurance. On the morning of the Zelasko fire Bealey's place, which was across the alley, was found to be on fire in two rooms and the doors all closed.

Victim of Circumstances?

There were indications the fire was of incendiary origin, according to the emphatic statements of Chief Schneider, of the fire department, and of Deputy Sheriff Birmingham. The insurance carried was $6900, or, according to the insurance men, $2600 more than the value of the property. They assert that misrepresentations as to the value of the contents were made. After the fire all policies were canceled.

Notwithstanding all these circumstances and peculiar incidents, Bealey, who has always been a sober, hard-working man, is believed by many persons to be a victim of circumstances. He has incurred the enmity of certain colored men who have worked with him and it is suggested his enemies have sought to ruin him. It is predicted he cannot be convicted.

Mr. Simpson's plant is situated at First and Ferry streets.

People of State Want to See Battleship at A.-Y.-P. Fair.

SEATTLE, June 16.—Governor James H. Brady, of Idaho, who returned home last night after a visit to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, has requested the Navy Department to send the battleship Idaho here on Idaho day at the fair to receive the silver service the Intermountain state will present.

Representations have been made to the Navy Department by the Idaho Congressional delegation that if the battleship is at anchor in Seattle harbor, not less than 25,000 people will come from that state to see the ship, take part in the celebration of Idaho day and show the appreciation of the general Government's action in naming the warship.

The influence brought to bear by the Idaho men will be supplemented by requests from the Senators and Congressmen of the Pacific Slope.
