By W. J. PETRAIN.

Pearl Casey's Colts, somewhat crippled by the absence of the manager, but partially strengthened by the addition of Ed Kennedy at first, returned home yesterday for a four weeks' series on the home lot, and as a starter they dropped the opening game to the Vancouver Champions by the score of 1 to 0.

There were not many spectacular features to the contest, though it was played in much faster time than has ever been dreamed of by the Pacific Coast League, for the game was finished in less than an hour and a half, something unheard of in the other organization.

Kinsella virtuelly lost by ganization.

Kinsella virtually lost his own game, for he butted in with an error on Scharnweber's well-intended sacrifice, and instead of having one out, there were two on and none down. The following batsman, Mahon, forced Scharnweber at second, but Davis, who had opened the inning with a single, went to third, and scored on Quigley's fly to Garry, which would have made the third out had Kinsella fielded that bunt properly.

Aside from this unethical break. Kinsy pitched a remarkable game, allowing but two hits in the entire time innings. In addition, he fanned six and walked only one man. Opposed to kinsella was Warren, "Rusty" Hall, the ex-Angel twirler who was a familiar figure to Portland fans in the days of 1803-4 and 5. Hall was in a most stingy mood, and enjoying one of his good days he had hardly any trouble in disposing of the Portlanders without runs resulting. However, Rusty had more or less luck, if that is what you wish to call it, with him, for the Colts were too over-anxious on the paths, and two of them were tossed out at the plate while trying to score on infield taps.

The first dashing individual to get

The first dashing individual to get the ax at the plate was John Bassey, who had walked and been sacrificed to second. Garry shot one at Ole Snyder, who fielded somewhat slowly, failing to get Garry at first, but Nordyke, with that trusty wing of his, shot the ball to Catcher Brooks yards the state of the same weeks ago.

Each team has won a game, and this morning's battle will decide which is the ball to Catcher Brooks yards a ball to Catcher Brooks yards yar with that trusty wing of his, shot the ball to Catcher Brooks yards ahead of the "Count," who attempted to tally from second on the maneuver. In things No. 8 P. Cooney, acting captain of the equine brigade, got the home-plate fever developed badly and tried to register from second. He was out like his "Brudda Sylvest" predecessor.

Gough or Tom Seaton will heave for Casey today, while Hickey or Errickson will do the honors for Dickson's men. The official score of vesterday's engagement is as follows:

A petition should be circulated to prevent the Seattle team from count-ing the games likely to be won this week. It is a shame to boost the av-erage at the expense of the dubs.

Dode Brinker went crazy yesterday. That is, he hit like a crazy Piute on the warpath. Naturally, such sticking helped Spokane win a decision over the newly-arrived Mr. Ovitz.

Les Samuels, the ex-Tacoman, is a former student of the University of Idaho. And Lee is some pitcher when he is right. He is tickled immensely at getting a berth with Portland.

"Smiley" Gough is likely to heave for Casey today, and the lad with the pleasant gleam should bring home a victory. Gough broke even in the games he pitched abroad, but should be a winner at home. That chunky outfielder, Ben Davis while bearing no resemblance to the apple of that name, nor has be been charged with being a horticulturist, is a "peach" of a ball player. Dickson sure picked a live one in him.

Some fresh mark attempted to get gay with Phil Cooney while the little shortstop was en route to the ball park yesterday morning. Phil replied sharply and the fellow invited Cooney off the car, and the shortstop responded altogether too promptly, for the fellow will be in no hurry to invite anyone else off a car. He is said to have been taken to a hospital after Phil finished with him.
