

WILL CONTEST IS FOR $160,000

Stubblefield Heirs Renew Hot Fight at Pendleton With Increased Bitterness.

GREAT ESTATE INVOLVED

Wealthy Farmer Left Money to Home for Widows and Orphans, Giving Relatives Only $40,000 of His Fortune.

PENDLETON, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—With $160,000 and the existence of the Stubblefield home at Walla Walla at stake, the heirs of the late John L. Stubblefield renewed their fight at Pendleton this afternoon.

A petition for a construction of the will and an order declaring the clause providing for the establishment of the home void, filed by Mrs. Stubblefield prior to her death, was renewed by her heirs, acting through Attorney C. E. Cochran, of La Grande, and District Attorney G. W. Phelps, of this city. As a result of the renewing of this petition, Judge Gilliland this afternoon appointed George G. Cochran, of La Grande, administrator of Mrs. Stubblefield's estate, and made an order requiring the trustees of the home to come into court by July 15 and show cause why the clause creating the home should not be declared void.

Stubblefield, a wealthy resident of the east end of Umatilla county, died in the fall of 1892, leaving an estate in this county valued at $300,000. His will provided that about $40,000 of this should go to relatives and the residue of $160,000 into a trust fund for the maintenance of a home for indigent widows and orphans.

The home was to be either in Walla Walla or Pendleton, whichever city would donate $10,000 for the purchase of a site and erection of a building. Walla Walla secured the money, but the home was established there in 1906.

NEW PEST DEATH FOUND

Sagebrush Boiled in Water Is Excellent Extirminator.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., June 21.—(Special.)—It has been found that a liquor made by boiling sagebrush in water is a most effective extirminator of tree pests. Ed Hartman, foreman on the Pat Mullin ranch, six miles out of the city, made the discovery. He has been using this solution for some time and says he has found it more effective than any other spray he used. The discovery was made by noticing that none of the common pests ever attacked sagebrush. He then made the solution and tried it on his orchard with the result that all the ordinary pests were killed. In addition to this spray being effective, its chief advantage is the fact that it costs nothing and can be manufactured at any time in any quantity. Mr. Hartman withheld the announcement of his discovery until he had thoroughly tested it by repeated applications in his own orchard.

During that week the creamery paid the dairymen nearly $20 in cash. Their checks for May totalled more than $1200.

HID AMONG HERD OF COWS

Man Wanted for Hindu Hold-up Adopts Novel Dodging Method.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 21.—(Special.)—Started out, a man giving his name as John Brown, who was connected with Charles Dempsey in the hold-up of the Hindu, Nicca Roma, Sunday morning, came out from his hiding place about 4 o'clock this afternoon and was arrested 300 yards below the big railway bridge by J. Garrett, a fisherman, who had been stationed there by Sheriff Sappington.

Brown had nothing to eat since the Hindu cooked him three eggs yesterday morning, and hunger drove him from cover. He says he had been lying in the long grass below town ever since the officers started to hunt for him. When the posse was searching yesterday afternoon he lay close to the ground and watched them, and he says more than once an eagle came within a few feet of him. From Grasp, the policeman who first started in pursuit, Brown says he hid for a long time behind some cows.

HIGHER DEGREES GIVEN

TITLES FOR PROFESSOR CARSON AND DR. FRANK STRONG.

University of Oregon Faculty Makes Recommendations to Board of Regents.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—Professor Luella Clay Carson and Professor Frank Strong were today unanimously recommended by the faculty of the university for LL. D. degrees. Professor Carson is president-elect of Mills Seminary, California, and for 23 years has been head of the English department at the University of Oregon. For a number of years she has also been dean of women. Professor Frank Strong is now Chancellor of the University of Kansas, but formerly was president of the University of Oregon.

These recommendations will be presented to the Board of Regents at their meeting next Wednesday. The excellent reputation which Professor Carson has gained as an educator, through the books that she has written and through the men and women that she has trained, has given the University of Oregon recognition among the large institutions of the country. Because of the impetus which the custom and policies of and the university itself have given Professor Carson's strong character, her handiwork is seen in a material way in the pictures and statues which ornament the halls of the university. She has also helped with the architecture and arrangement of the newer buildings on the campus. Professor Carson's lecture room in the Library Building is hung with portraits and ornamented with busts of famous authors and statesmen. These decorations she will leave intact to the university, on the condition that the pictures and busts always hang in the English composition room. She has also given to the university a number of pictures which are now hanging in Willard Hall. This list includes portraits of Bryant, Longfellow, Whitler, Holmes, Emerson, Hawthorne, Lowell, Enghaus, Leonardo da Vinci and Michael Angelo; life-sized casts and pedestals of Lincoln, Shakespeare, Apollo, and a cast of the Choir Boys, and copies of the Sistine Madonna by Raphael, Transfiguration, by Raphael; Immaculate Conception, by Murillo; The Last Supper, by Da Vinci, and Moses, by Michael Angelo.

Last Summer Professor Carson spent a great deal of time in selecting the furniture for the Mary Spiller House, the new girls' dormitory.

NEGRO OBJECTS TO CAMERA

Porter Who Shot Railroad Officials Photographed at The Dalles.

THE DALLES, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—E. R. Brooks, the negro Pullman porter who shot the railroad officials at the Dalles, Illinois Central officials, at Port Shanhiko, was apprehended in record time, considering the territory covered by Sheriff

E. R. Brooks, Held at The Dalles for Shooting Portland Railroad Men.

Mr. Crisman and his deputies. Shanhiko is 90 miles from The Dalles by rail and 65 miles distant across country.

The Wasco County Sheriff started in pursuit of the fugitive immediately on being notified of the shooting, and the negro was a prisoner in the County Jail within 40 hours.

Brooks claims Chicago as his home. When sitting for his photograph he said he never before had one taken, and objected at first to sitting before the camera. He will be given a preliminary hearing as soon as his two victims are able to appear against him. In the event of his being bound over to the grand jury he will be tried at the November term of Circuit Court.

There is no evidence of the rough treatment the negro claims he received.

TO USE ELECTRICITY

North Coast Building Power Plant on Cowlitz.

GRADING CONTRACT LET

Strahora Road Will Enter Rich Zealand Park Fruit Section of Yakima Valley—Right of Way Is Costly.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 21.—(Special.)—The North Coast Railway will be electrified over the summit of the Cascades, and work has been started on a big power plant on the Cowlitz River to generate electricity for this purpose.

By running about eight miles of flume lines from the two principal forks of the Cowlitz River a little west of the summit of the Cascades and concentrating them at a common point the company will secure an 800-foot fall, developing approximately 30,000 horsepower. This power will be used to transfer the heavy iron by electric motors over the summit, a process of transportation being adopted by the Milwaukee and Great Northern roads.

President Robert E. Strahorn announces that a contract has been let for 10 miles of grading through the Zealand Park fruit districts, one of the choicest fruit regions of the Yakima Valley, to Case Ebbbach, a Washington grading and track laying contractor. The right of way alone through this great belt is costing between $3000 and $10,000 a mile, and it is estimated that all the remaining expenses to the grading and track laying will cost fully $20,000 a mile. This territory is believed to be one of the best shipping districts on the line. Many of the fruit farms ship from 200 to 300 cars of fruit each season.

Depositions Will Be Taken at Walla Walla on Friday.

Depositions of witnesses at a distance are now being taken, and Friday the contest hearing will be resumed at Walla Walla before Court Reporter J. S. Beckwith as referee. The contestants have not rested, it is believed they will do so Friday morning, and that all the remaining witnesses to be examined will be introduced by Mrs. Warner in rebuttal. As she has nearly 100 witnesses, there is no indication of an early end to the case.

GRIZZLED VETERANS MARCH

Large Attendance at Grand Army Encampment at Tacoma.

TACOMA, Wash., June 21.—Thousands of people lined the streets today and cheered the grand parade of the grizzled veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic as they marched down Pacific avenue.

Department Commander Boardman, in his annual report praised the administration of affairs at the Soldiers' Home at Orting under Commander Tibbitts. The Home is overcrowded, but the Legislature has made provision at Port Orchard, which, it is hoped, will relieve the congestion.

For the first time the department exceeds 3300 members. The work of the W. R. C. and the Ladies of the G. A. R. was splendid. The gain this year gives the department one more delegate, or eight in all, to the National encampment.

Tonight there was a great campfire in the Tacoma Theater, with addresses by Mayor Linek and others.

HOME NOW OUT IN STREET

McLoughlin Building Again Subject of Court Injunction.

OREGON CITY, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—The historic home of Dr. John McLoughlin is again temporarily held up and Contractor Baker was today instructed to refrain from attempting to move the building further until the dissolution of the temporary restraining order granted this morning by Circuit Judge Eakin. The structure will therefore remain for at least 24 hours on Tenth street, near the Southern Pacific tracks, which must be crossed before the building can be moved up Singer Hill to the public square, where it is intended to give it a permanent home.

It is probable that tomorrow a motion will be filed to dissolve the temporary injunction and this matter will be argued in the Circuit Court. Dr. M. C. Strickland, John W. Loder and M. D. Phillips gave a bond for $500 to guarantee the association and the contractor against loss in case the temporary injunction is made permanent.
