Mayor Lane was threatened with bodily injury, H. M. Esterly, a member of the Executive Board, was called a "grafter" and "hold-up man" and un-printable language by the column was used during a general "rough house" in the Council chambers at the close of a meeting of the Evenution Board of 7 in the Council chambers at he close of a meeting of the Executive Board at 7 o'clock last night. No such scene has ever been witnessed at the City Hall. No blows were struck, but menacing gestures were made and epithets of de-faace hurled at the Mayor and members of the Board by Anton Glebisch, of the firm of Paquet, Glebisch & Joplin, build-ers of the Brooklyn sewer; by Assistant City Engineer Jesse Hannam and by Harry Gurr, an inspector in the En-gineer's department. Quiet was finally restored, no arrests being made, but the matter may have a sequel later, all of those engaging in the row being subject to arrest for disorderly conduct and pro-fane and abusive language.

to arrest for disorderly conduct and pro-fame and abusive language. Glebisch was wild with rage because the Mayor and members of the Execu-live Board have rejected the big Brook-lyn sewer, which is said to have taxed the financial capacity of the contracting firm to the limit. He shook his fist in Mr. Esterly's face, called him a vile name and dared him to leave the Coun-cil chamber, threatening him with phy-sical violence. Mr. Exterly conducted sical violence. Mr. Estarly conducted himself quietly, making no rough re-plies, but all the time endeavoring to show Mr. Glebisch that there is no use in making such a rumpus over the matter.

Turning to Mayor Lane, Mr. Gieblach charged that Mr. Esterly, before his ap-pointment to the Executive Board, "tried to hold me up for a piece of money, but I refused to give it, and now he is taking out his grudge on me. He is a grafter, a hold-up man and worse."

Mayor Tries to Calm Row.

Mayor Lane was engaged in an effort Mayor Lahe was engaged in an effort to quict the excited contractor and the inspectors employed on the sewer job, but with scarcely any success, and the din grew louder. Folloaman Carr, City Hall officer, had gone off duty two hours before and there was no patrol-man at hand, or, in all probability, some arrests would have resulted. All hands remained until they exhausted their vocabularies, after which they withdrew, vowing that they will have redress for their alleged wrongs. At one time it appeared as though Mayor Lane would be assaulted by the angry half-dozen men, who swarmed angry half-dozen men, who swarmed about him. When he was in a corner of the room, some one called out loudly:

ow, you've got him in a cornersoak him."

Now, you've got him in a corner-soak him." No one, however, acted upon this ad-vice, and the trouble passed without any physical violence being done. "I will not accept the Brooklyn sewer, with its rotten defects, if all the con-tractors and inspectors on earth threaten me." said Mayor Lane after the affair. "I have demanded the facts in connec-tion with this plece of work, and they have not been forthcoming from the office of the City Engineer; neither he nor his inspectors would either accept or reject the work. We have informa-tion that justifies the board in refusing to accept the sever, and it will not be accepted by me until it is put in proper shape." Mr. Esterly made no reply to the sen-sational charges hurled at him by Mr.

The warm Summer weather and a consequent fine food for dairy cows has had a bad effect on the dairymen, ac-cording to R. V. Williamson, chemist in the State Food and Dairy Commission-er's office. Six samples were recently taken into the office of the commis-sioner which showed a great percent-age of added water. Mr. Williamson said that the milk is so rich this weath-er that the dairymen can add a certain er that the dairymen can add a certain amount of water and still keep within the limits as required by law. Devlin, Who Is to Be Candidate for President of Body, Wanted Masters Named-Retiring Members Receive Bouquets.

By the election yesterday afternoon of Kasper K. Kubli, of 916 Belmont street, Sunnyside, to succeed Frank S. Bennett as Councilman from the Eighth Ward, the Deviln forces in the City Council were given a hard blow by the Rushlight-Baker faction. A struggle was on be-tween the two for supremacy, and both desired to name the man for the place. By a piece of strategy, Mr. Rushlight, who is now president of the Council, suc ceeded in lining up the vote for Mr. Kubil who was elected by nine votes, W. Y. Masters receiving two, Frank Motter one, and Joseph Beverage two. Mr. Kubli was elected on the first ballot.

elected on the first ballot Immediately after his election, Mr. Ku-bil appeared, was introduced to Mayor Lane and the members of the Council, was sworn in by City Auditor Barbur and at once took his seat. He delivered a brief speech, saying he will serve the city to the very best of his ability, and thanking the members of the Council for their kindness in selecting him for the place. It is understood that the Devin candidate was Mr. Masters, and that the place. It is understood that the Devlin candidate was Mr. Masters, and that the latter, in all probability, would have been chosen had the election gone over one session, as was attempted by the opposing faction. Mr. Devlin, who is not yet a member of the Council, but who was elected at-large three weeks ago, was present during the balloting.

Devlin vs. Baker.

Mr. Devlin, it is reported in official circles, aspires to be president of the next Council, and in Councilman Baker he has a strong opponent. Mr. Baker feels that he should be given the honor of serving in that capacity the next year, and in his ambition he has with him Mr. Rushight, who angineered the course of wething the who engineered the coup of yesterday afternoon. Mr. Rushlight conceived the idea of inviting the anti-Devila contin-gent to luncheon at the Commercial Club gent to luncheon at the Commercial Club at noon, and it was while there that a caucus was held, Mr. Rubli being selected for the vacancy. All efforts of the op-position to break the combination after the Council reconvened for the afternoon session failed, and Mr. Kubli was elected without a hitch. He is a prominent ENA, has held important offices in that order and is president of the Kubli-Miller Printing Company. Councilman Bennett, whose resignation
