

EASTMAN BURIED IN LONELY GRAVE

Wife Remains Away From His Funeral and Will Go Back to Stage.

MRS. WOODILL DRUGGED?

Theory Advanced "Lame Bob" Eastman Lured Woman to His Half-Completed Bungalow and Held Her Against Her Will.

ST. MICHAELS, Md., June 27.—The theory that Edith May Woodill was lured to "Lame Bob" Eastman's lonely bungalow without knowledge of where she was going and that she was drugged and detained there against her will, was advanced today when a further search of the shack revealed a small bottle that contained a mixture of narcotic drugs.

Lonely Funeral Held. In a grave not 50 feet from the scene of the crime, Eastman's body was laid away today. The undertakers and their assistants, several newspaper men and a few morbid persons were the only ones at the grave.

Bystanders Repeat Prayer. When the hearse had drawn up alongside the grave, four men lifted the casket from the vehicle and placed it temporarily on two planks stretched across the grave into which a pine box had already been lowered.

Woman Going Back to Stage. Sutton hesitated for a moment, then, asking all to join with him, repeated the Lord's prayer.

It was hinted tonight that one or more arrests may be made. It was further intimated that the arrest would be at St. Michaels or Baltimore. Mrs. Eastman, widow of the alleged murderer, says she will return to the stage to earn a living for herself and child.

NOT GOING ON STAGE

Refuses Offer of $1000 Week From Vaudeville Circuit and Says She Will Worry Along—Plans to Sell Jewels and Furs.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(Special.)—Although Mrs. Howard Gould was not exactly pleased with the verdict which allowed her $36,000 alimony from her millionaire husband, she is not at all down-hearted and will make the best of her opportunities.

"How are you going to worry along on that sum?" Mrs. Gould was asked. "Perhaps I shall farm it," she said with a smile. "Perhaps I shall raise onions and potatoes on my Virginia farm."

"But you are not allowed to work without risking an application by your husband for court permission to cut your alimony," she was reminded. "I can't go back on the stage, to be sure," she went on briskly. "But I don't think even Howard Gould would ask for a discount for my farm earnings. The chance to return to the stage came quickly enough on the heels of the decision. It was not dark before an agent for a theatrical firm came along with an offer."

Mrs. Gould showed a written proposal that she go on the vaudeville stage for 46 weeks at $1000 a week, cash in advance. "You are not going to take it?" was asked. "I have already declined, although $1000 a week would come in handy in helping out a poverty-stricken alimony wife like myself. No, I would not go into vaudeville for anything. There can say that I have no present intention of returning to the stage in any capacity. I shall economize."

"In a year or two, when Howard pays the bills, I will probably have a windfall in the shape of $50,000 worth of jewels and my outfit of furs, which is now held in Paris for charge. There is one sable coat among the furs which cost $8000. I'll probably never have another, but I won't mind wearing that one out."

"I never was excessively fond of jewels, and I won't need so many, now that I have but a $1000 a month to spend. I'm going to sell part of them when the opportunity comes, and go on with my plan for a training school for orphan boys at the Blue Gap farm."

BIG DITCH READY SOON

Grants Pass Farmers Will Use Water for This Year's Crops.

GRANTS PASS, Or., June 27.—(Special.)—Work on the irrigation project is moving along with all the speed available. Several miles of pipe arrived this week from Sacramento and have been hauled up to the dam. The large pump has been coupled up with the 200-foot ditch on the north side of the river and all is now ready for the dry season. Farmers and berry-growers along this ditch are preparing to use the water as soon as lateral can be installed.

On the south side of the river the highland ditch into Fruitdale is being finished as quickly as possible. Pipe to be laid from the pumping plant is being hauled to the south side of this week, and will be placed into position this week.

Along the ditch there remain a few places where the water will have to be flumed across the canyons, but this will not take long, as the lumber is now being hauled where needed.

The use of water at this time of year will produce two crops of strawberries, and will be the means of marketing much larger garden produce.

COPPER QUEEN IS SUEED

Heirs of R. J. Winders Want Large Amount From Mine.

EL PASO, Tex., June 27.—Suit has been filed at Tombstone, Ariz., against the Copper Queen Mining Company by Arizona by Dr. Thomas Winders, administrator of the estate of his father, R. J. Winders, for $1,250,000, one-fourth of the entire production of the mine, and for a one-fourth interest in the mine itself.

The suit was filed in behalf of the heirs of the elder Winders. The complainant alleges that his father originally located the mine and never signed a deed although his wife deeded the property in 1902 to persons from whom the present company acquired it.

TWO SENATE VOTES NEEDED

House Not Rushing Impeachment Proceedings in Hope That Senate Will Pass Palmer Bill and Wind Up Session.

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 27.—(Special.)—There is small prospect of the Legislature accomplishing much of anything when it meets tomorrow afternoon. Administration desires seen centered on passing the Palmer bill abolishing the office of the Insurance Commissioner.

In the Senate, but in the face of things they are two votes shy, with one more temporarily gone, for Senator Paulhamus' father-in-law died this morning, and the Senator will not return to the Capitol until Wednesday.

Hence there is nothing for the Senate to do save to wait for the impeachment articles to arrive from the House, and it is safe to say that the administration forces, controlling the House, will not let those articles go over until hope of passing the Palmer bill has been practically abandoned.

Speaker Meigs is holding off the appointment of his committee of seven to draft the articles. He says he will not announce the committee until tomorrow. Then no one can legitimately object to the committee taking two or three days to draw up the articles, for they must be prepared with the care of an indictment. In the meantime, it is hoped by the administration that a change of heart and come in to pass the Palmer bill and adjourn. The administration is not particular which two it gets. At this stage all votes look alike to those who are trying to get

Australian Rider Wins.

NEWARK, N. J., June 27.—Jackie Clark, the Australian rider, defeated Floyd Krebs at the Velodrome track today in a special match race, one-mile heats. Joe Fogler, of Brooklyn, captured the ten-mile open professional in a sensational finish, beating Floyd McFarlane, the San Jose, Cal., rider on the tape. Frank A. Kramer, the National champion, won the one-mile handicap, riding from scratch.
