BY W. J. PETRAIN.

Because Lee Samuels was audacious enough to walk Swalm in the tenth inning of yesterday's game, filling the sacks with two out, Sheldon Lejeune became so angry at the apparent affront at his batting ability that he slammed the ball over the left field fence for a home run, scoring three runs besides his own, and making Aberdeen's total five, while the best Portland could do with Starkell was to score a lone run in the fourth inning.

A home run in the last inning is always exciting, but to occur with the bases populated is extremely so, though the excitement yesterday was principally confined to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Macfarlane and one or two feminine fans who hail from the home town of the Black Cats. Lejeune's wallop was a most healthy one, for it sailed far over the left garden wall and was the first hit of that kind here this season. Homers have been rapped over the right field inclosure by the Coast League teams, but this is the first for the Northwestern League.

Aberdeen hit Samuels hard during the game, but aside from Campbell's triple and Swalm's double, which registered one in the first inning, the Portland twirler got away easy until he made the mistake of passing Swalm to get Lejeune in the tenth. "Red" Kreitz was the first man up in the tenth, and was walked. Starkell bunted and was safe because Staton failed to field the ball. Streib went out, Cooney to Kennedy, and Campbell flew to Garry. Then Samuels got stage fright at Swalm and deliberately passed him to take a chance with Lejeune. The big outfielder was not at all pleased at this slight to his batting prowess, and he took sweet revenge by breaking up the game.

Portland's run was the result of a daring piece of baserunning by Adams in the fourth inning. Cooney had filed to right, and Bassey walked. Adams singled to center, sending Bassey to third, and he promptly stole second. Kennedy walked, filling the bases. Garry hit down the alley to Starkell, who threw Bassey out at the plate, and while Kreitz was relaying the ball to Streib Adams dashed home.

Portland's base hit column is evidence of how often the home team had a chance to win, though Charley Moore robbed us of the game in the ninth. Kennedy had beaten out an infield tap, which was the second hit allowed by Starkell, and was sacrificed to second by Garry. Staton fouled out, and Casey then batted for Hannah. Pearl hit sharply over Starkell's head and Moore made a pretty stop and throw to first, retiring the side.

Chenault and Ovitz will oppose each other today. The official score follows:

TIGERS WIN SIX STRAIGHT

Defeat Vancouver in Good Fielding Game by Score 4-3.

TACOMA, Wash., June 30.—The Tigers made it six straight today by winning an interesting 11-inning game from Vancouver, 4 to 3. Hensling, the Vernon recruit, outpitched Engle. The batting of Schafer, Tacoma's new outfielder, and the sensational fielding of Scharnweber were features. Score:

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—(Special.)—Tonneson had so much the better of Garrett in the pitchers' argument this afternoon at Recreation Park that after the first inning it was an Oakland victory all the way, the score closing 5 to 1 in favor of the Commuters. The Oaks outhit their Northern competitors three to one in the game, and what is more to the point, they bunched their hits where they counted.

Garrett was wild, also, at critical moments, and two of his walks were converted into tallies. Although the Beavers got off in front with a run that came when Olson opened the game with a three-bagger that got by the center fielder, there was nothing more doing for them. Garrett was accorded corking good support, and after the first inning the McCredieites never looked dangerous.

Olson broke the ice in the first inning when he hit to center. The ball took a bad bounce just as Carroll was about to gather it in, and Olson went to third. Breen walked, but Ryan flew to second. McCredie hit to Hogan, and while the manager was being retired, Olson scored. The ball was dropped back to third in time, however, to get Breen, the double play retiring the Beavers.

The Portland lead was short. In the very next inning Murphy walked, was advanced to second when Duffy Lewis was hit by Garrett, took third on a fielder's choice, and with two out was scored when Regan hit to right.

The second was also a good inning for the tailenders. With Regan out, Carl Lewis hit a hard one to second; Tonneson singled to left, and Murphy bunted the ball safely. The bases being full, Carroll squeezed Carl Lewis home. Then, with two out, came Duffy Lewis' two-bagger. It looked for a moment as if McCredie would gather it in, but the ball hit the fence just above his outstretched hands, and two more runs were scored.

In the sixth the Oaks added their fifth and last run. Tonneson walked, went to second on Murphy's right field hit, and scored on Carroll's two-bagger into center.

The Beavers had their men on the bases after the first inning, but the hits were too scarce to permit of their working their way around the cushions. The score:

FAST OREGON HORSES ENTERED IN THREE-DAY MEET.

Purses Hung Up by Riverside Driving Association Draw to Portland Classy Steeds.

Lovers of horseflesh are to be furnished a treat in the three-day meet of the Riverside Driving Club, which will begin Friday afternoon at the track of the Portland Fair and Livestock Association. The entries listed for the regular and special races give promise of some classy events.

All entries have been received for the harness events, and the respective owners listed are already boasting of what their favorites will do. As all of the entries are owned in Oregon, the interest in the races is much keener than were the horses outsiders. The best known Portland whips have entered their pacers and trotters, and this alone should draw big crowds to the track on the three days of the meet, July 2, 3 and 5.

Friday's programme will consist of a 2:35 trot, a 2:25 pace and a special trotting event, as well as a running race. The entries, with owners, for the entire three days are as follows:

Friday.

2:35 trot, purse $150—Dottie Dimple, T. H. Howitt; Rastus, W. A. Laidlaw; Hallis C., J. S. Crane; Padishah, Henry M. Tillman; Alice Jones, A. O. Hall.

2:25 pace, purse $150—Blue Jacket, L. W. Watts; Miss Altelena, O. J. Brown; Sadie P., E. A. Herman; Lady Lovelace, J. F. Shea.

Special 2:17 trot for set harness—Red Skin, A. C. Lohmire; Deltoka, J. J. Kadderly; Starlight, Billy Smith; Blacksmith, H. G. Cox.

Running, five-eighths-mile dash, weight for age, purse $100.

Boys' pony race, one-fourth mile, for pony 14 hands and under, rider 75 pounds and under, purse $10.

Derby Day.

Special pace—Oregon Patch, Paul Wessinger; Dick Hal, Harry Osmon; Cora Patch, Fred Seehtem.

The Riverside Driving Club yesterday secured the services of C. S. Wood, a well-known turfman of Cleveland, O., to act as starter in the three days' meet which commences tomorrow. Starter Wood is now in Seattle, where he has been visiting the fair, but will come to Portland today.

The purse of the special race on Monday between Charles A. Shea's Lady Lovelace and Lew Watts' Blue Jacket has been raised to $500, and both drivers are wagering on the chances of their entries.

WHAT a doleful tale the Portland fans had to relate yesterday. Both teams stung, and by the same score.

* * *

It doesn't pay to monkey with this Lejeune boy. At any rate, Samuels found such to be a fact yesterday. My, what a wallop!

* * *

It was a reminder of Ote Johnson's clean-up swat in the ninth against Los Angeles a few weeks back.

* * *

Charley Moore deserves credit for saving the game for Aberdeen. It was his stop of Casey's grounder which sent Portland into the field in the ninth.

* * *

And Jesse Garrett was handled roughly by Oakland. It really was an off day for Portland all around.

* * *

McCredie's bunch is not having such a good time of it with the supposed easy teams as the tail manager imagined.

* * *

"Spider" Baum seems to have the Seals' goat, for the tall Senator has beaten the Long-Ewing outfit several times.

* * *

Another slaughter for Seattle at the hands of Spokane! However, Dug's bunch may return the compliment today.

* * *

Six straight wins for Tacoma would lead one to believe that Schreeder's team may yet get into the race.

* * *

And three Pacific Coast League castoff pitchers figured prominently in three of them. How about this, Shorty?

* * *

Tacoma has a new outfielder who was signed at the instance of George Huff. Schaefer is his name and according to the score he got a good start.

* * *

Judging by the hitting being done by Casey's team, the McCredies would not make a mistake by importing one or two players themselves. That is, if they want to be in the race.

* * *

If Julie Streib only had a few more inches of height attached to his anatomy he would not have a peer as a fielding first baseman. The little fellow takes all kinds of throws neatly and cleanly.

* * *

And to think that that Seattle team is coming here next week. It's a pity to relate what Casey will do to them—if Lynch does not beat Casey to it. The if is used advisedly.
