The expression "Clean-Up Sale" is used in many senses. Sometimes it is a term of reproach; at other times it is applied as an encomium. We describe this sale by it in order to convey the idea of "THOROUGHNESS."

Lipman-Wolfe & Co

Friday-Saturday, Immense Vals. Offered in "Clean-Up Sale"

During the past two months we have held a series of suit sales. Day after day our sales have mounted up, carrying away the sales of last year. The values and styles offered appealed to the public; the prices made them sell rapidly. The first task we set for ourselves in these suit sales was to secure reliable qualities. The markets always abound with rubbish—things that at first view always have a look of merit. This class of merchandise we always avoid. Our buyers are forbidden to purchase, no matter what the price inducement may be.

WRIGHT'S AIRSHIP FLIES PERFECTLY

Orville Makes Three Flights, Encircling Grounds and Landing at Will.

REACHES 40 FEET HEIGHT

Aeroplane Soars, Curves and Lands at Owner's Pleasure—Full Power of Motor Not Used—Speed Is Over 36 Miles an Hour.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Calm and confident, Orville Wright, late of Dayton, Ohio, circled the Fort Myer drill-grounds time after time in his aeroplane in three separate flights. He was seen by thousands.
 Shortly before a o'clock the aeroplane was wheeled from its shed to the starting track. Previously the field has been cleared by a troop of cavalry. After the motor had been tested, the propellers were cranked and Orville turned on the motor and released the machine. As it neared the end of the starting rail, Orville turned up the forward horizontal rudder and the machine arose into the air. It was a beautiful sight.

Curves Gracefully at Will.

Down the field the aeroplane sailed, curved gracefully about the lower end and back up the east side of the field along the edge of Arlington Cemetery. The first round was made in 56 seconds. Five times the machine circled the field, attaining a height that varied from 15 to 30 feet. On the sixth round Mr. Wright came to earth within 100 feet of the starting point, completing the flight in exactly five minutes.
 The landing was perfect, the machine sweeping down in successive glides until within a few feet of the earth, when Orville pulled the string that stops his motor and the aeroplane glided smoothly over the grass on its skids until it came to a stop. Again the aeroplane was placed in position on the starting rail, the motor was tested and again the machine encircled the field with ease and grace. Mr. Wright approached dangerously near the starting tower and flew within a few feet of the cables that line the field. It was noticed that at times the motor skipped out, but this seemed to have no effect on operating the aeroplane.

Nine Rounds in Eight Minutes.

In his second flight Orville made nine rounds of the field in a few seconds less than eight minutes. In a third flight he was in the air a few seconds more than nine minutes and encircled the field nine and a half times. For one complete round he flew very close to the ground, evidently preparing to land. This he did within 200 feet of the aeroplane shed. During this last flight he reached a height of 40 feet. After the flight Wright said:
 "We did not make any changes in the motor for today's trial. We only advanced the spark somewhat. We are not using the full power of our motor is capable of developing."

Speed 36 to 38 Miles an Hour.

Major Squire expressed the opinion that the rounds of the first flight were approximately half a mile in length. As the machine made these rounds in 50 seconds, it probably was traveling at a speed of from 36 to 38 miles per hour.

Young Charles Taft, who has been almost a daily visitor, violated nearly all the rules set down by the Wrights for the restriction of photographers. He was greatly pleased.
 A. M. Herring was to have complete official trials of his machine today and was to receive $20,000 for an aeroplane capable of fulfilling the same requirements as those specified of the Wright aeroplane, but payment of his $20,000 bond will not be demanded.

WHITE HOUSE TOO SMALL

Changes to Be Made in Building Under Taft's Orders.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Destruction of the far-famed White House court, where the so-called "Roosevelt tennis cabinet" played, to make room for the additional working quarters for the executive clerical staff, began today. This is the beginning of the renovation of the White House and the further improvements ordered by President Taft. Mrs. Taft and the young people will leave Saturday evening for the summer quarters at Beverly.
 President Taft will expend not more than $10,000 for extraordinary improvements in the main building and $40,000 in increasing the size of offices. It was this enlargement that doomed the tennis court. The remodeling during the Roosevelt term will be accepted by the new administration unaltered. Both in the White House proper and in the new offices, no attempt at grandeur will be essayed. Provision will be made, however, for better accommodations for the scores that flock to the White House daily to see the President. The President's efforts at public economy are shared cheerfully, it is said, by Mrs. Taft, whose present intention is not to add herself to the customary privilege of purchasing china of new designs to be handed down to posterity as the "Taft set."

CHDHALLS, Wash., July 1.—(Special.)—For the past three or four days wagon loads after wagon loads of Indians have been passing through Chdhalls headed for the Klickitat prairie country, near Mossyrock.

The incident is attracting considerable attention and will be the biggest event pulled off in this section of the state by the native sons and daughters for many years.

WOMEN RALLY TO ELLA GINGLES' AID

Pretty Irish Girl Says White Slavers Tried to Lure Her to Their Dens.

MISS BARRETT IN FEAR

Girl's Accuser Accused of Being Slaver's Agent and Exposure of Men High in Society and Business Threatens.

CHICAGO, July 1.—(Special.)—Unusual interest attaches to the trial, which began today, of Ella Gingles, the pretty Irish lacemaker, who was found bound, gagged and bearing marks of torture, in a bath-room at the Wellington Hotel several months ago. Agnes Barrett, proprietor of a lace store, accuses the girl of robbing her and says the injuries were self-inflicted. Miss Gingles says her accuser is the agent of a keeper of a resort in Indiana; that Miss Barrett tried to sell her into white slavery and was overpowered, dragged into the bath-room and mistreated.

Women Take Up Fight.

The following clubs have interested themselves in the girl's behalf, all of them having investigated her story: Women's Christian Temperance Union, Daughters of the Confederacy, Social Economics Society, Irish Choral Society, Frances Willard Hospital, Catholic Women's League, Woodlawn Woman's Club, Children's Day Association, Socialist Women of the United States, Evanston W. C. T. U., Frances Hagen Aid Association. Representatives of all these and other societies are attending the trial. Many prominent women will testify.
 It is said men high in the social and business world will be involved and an organized society for the purpose of supplying "white slaves" will be exposed during this trial.

Great Sensation in Store.

The jury was completed this afternoon and Miss Barrett began her testimony. She plainly was under great stress and there is an unusually tense feeling on the part of everyone concerned that some tremendous sensation is coming in the case.

Mrs. Cecilia Kenyon, one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution, died rather mysteriously in a rooming house about a week ago, thus adding to the interest in the affair. The state, while prosecuting the girl on the charge of theft, desires every avenue open to testimony showing the existence of the "white slavers" and proposes to punish all so exposed.

PLOT AGAINST CZAR FOUND

Anarchists Had Planned Ruler's Death During Recent Trip.

STOCKHOLM, July 1.—Further evidence of a plot to assassinate the Emperor of Russia some time during his approaching European trip was unearthed here today.

Adolf Vang, the Swede who last week shot and killed Major-General Beckman, chief of the coast artillery, and then committed suicide, belonged to a group of anarchists who have been plotting the death of the Russian ruler. Eight Russian anarchists were arrested previous to the killing of General Beckman, but their apprehension was kept secret. Two of them were found hiding in the palace. Vang left a letter saying that inasmuch as his Russian comrades had been arrested it was impossible for him alone to kill the Emperor, and consequently he assassinated the first high official he met.

MAY END KANSAS STRIKE

Miners' Trouble May Be Settled at Joint Meeting.

KANSAS CITY, July 1.—Several officers of the United Mineworkers of the Southwest, in addition to Edwin Perry, National secretary of the Mineworkers of America, are seeking a conference with the Southwestern coal operators with a hope of reaching an agreement to end the strike of 800 miners in the Kansas fields. Alexander Howett, president of the Kansas district, said today:
 "If the operators refuse to restore the check-off system, the discontinuance of which caused the Kansas strike, forty thousand coal miners in districts twenty-one and twenty-five, involving Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas, will probably be called out by the National Miners' Board." C. S. Keith, president of the Southwestern Coal Operators' Association, has telegraphed President Lewis, requesting a conference between the Miners' Board and his association. The operators declare the miners of the Southwest have violated their contract.

300 MINERS IN NEVADA STRIKE

Trouble Over Wages Causes Walk-out at Veteran Mine.

ELY, Nev., July 1.—Four hundred miners employed at the Veteran mine of the Cumberland-Ely Company, struck today for an increase of wages. The demand is for $3.50 a day for miners and $4 for underground foremen for wet shaft work. The men have been working under the contract system and it is said could not make ordinary wages. Plans for a settlement have been set on foot today.

EIGHT MORE MINES AFFECTED

Practically Every One of Kansas Workings Now Closed.

PITTSBURG, Kan., July 1.—Eight additional mines, employing about 200 men, were closed today, when the miners struck. Practically every mine in the district is now idle. The statement was made at the miners' headquarters here today that no general strike order calling out other Southwest miners would be issued until after a conference between the Southwestern coal operators and the executive board of the United Mineworkers of America, which will be held in Indianapolis within two weeks. In the meantime, the Kansas miners now on strike, being without orders from the National Miners' Board, probably will be ordered by the local officers to return to work.

SHOOTS MAN AFTER TRIAL

William Wright Thought Driven Insane by Fear of Gang.

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—William Wright, acquitted yesterday of complicity in the murder of Constable Young in a political feud several months ago, shot and fatally wounded Charles Toxler early today. Wright is believed to have been driven insane by fear that "the gang," which supported Young, would "get" him.

Sells Fireworks Without License.

A. O. Higgins, a grocer at 415 Twenty-third street, was arrested last night by Patrolman Williams for selling fireworks without a license. Higgins was unable to deny the charge, but pleaded his ignorance of the city ordinances relating to this restriction. He was required to put up $10 bail to answer for his mistake today before Judge Bennett in the Municipal Court.
