AEROPLANE MAKES TWO GOOD FLIGHTS

After Coming to Ground Second Time, Machine Strikes Tree and Is Damaged.

REPAIRS BY NEXT TUESDAY

Wright Brothers' Machine Behaves Better Than on Former Trials

WASHINGTON, July 2 .- After making two successful flights late today. the Wright aeroplane met with a slight mishap which will delay further tests until next week. The machine, with Orville Wright at the helm, was on its way around the Fort Myer drillgrounds for the ninth time in its second flight when the motor stopped suddenly 60 feet above the earth.

The great bird-like machine came to a standstill, then glided to the earth with-out injury to its occupants, landing exactly at the same spot where the fatal accident occurred last September. In gliding to a stop the machine struck a tree and was swerved around with such orce that the skids were broken and the right wing badly ripped.

No Flight Till Tuesday

After the mishap Orville said he would not be ready for another flight before Tuesday at the earliest. The motor on the aeroplane had been missing explosions for some time before stopped. Evidently some change had been made either in the sparker or the motor, as it was developing more power than on the previous day's trial.

Despite the mishap, the two flights today were the most successful that Ortille Wright has made at Fort Myer since his return to complete the Government trials. ernment trials.

Makes Good Speed.

On the first attempt he flew about the field 12 times in 11 minutes and 50 sec-onds, and on the second trial he had gone around eight and one-half times when the flight was terminated. Dur-ing both flights Mr. Wright went higher and faster than in the trials of the two previous days. It was estimated that his speed was about 37 miles an hour on an average, although the machine prob-ably exceeded 40 miles when flying with Orville Wright got away in splendid shape on the first trial, the machine traveling with greater steadiness than formerly. Orville, on the first flight, landed within 200 feet of the starting tower, and the acroplane came down "as light as a feather."

TEST COURSE DIFFICULT ONE

Orville Wright May Attain Height of 500 Feet From Ground in Flight. WASHINGTON, July 2.—"I would rather fly over that country in our aeroplane than ride over it in your automobile," said Wilbur Wright yesterday to a scouting party, preparing to traverse the dusty red Virginia roads between Fort Myer and Alexandria along the course over which his brother is soon to fly.

The automobile did puncture a tire

The automobile did puncture a tire, and the stifling heat along the clay bottoms and through the woods was all but intolerable.

the official flight for which the Wrights are preparing begins at Fort Myer, across the river from Washington on a high plateau, and extends somewhat east of south, five miles to the turning point on a hill west of Alexandria, which will be made visible from Fort Myer by a small, bright yellow balloon, marking its location. The low balloon, marking its location. The country between is broken and rather heavily wooded, but at intervals there are open fields offering landing places in case of emergency.

This will be the first flight across broken country in heavier-than-air machines. Last evening's flight over the open level parade ground at Fort Myer exhibited curious effects of bulldings and foliage upon the atmospheric ings and foliage upon the atmospheric currents, and the conditions over the currents, and the conditions over the extensive and diversified area will be studied by the Wrights and the Army signal corps officers.

The highest altitude yet negotiated by the Wrights is 364 feet—Wilbur Wright making that height for a prize in France—but at one point in the Virginia course, if he maintains a level flight, he will be fully 500 feet above the ground. The test is expected to demonstrate the value of an aeroplane in military service.

demonstrate the value of an aeroplane in military service.

If Orville Wright can fly a level course, he will be practically safe from the attack of imaginary troops in the valley of Four-Mile Run, which flows across the middle of the course. But if he follows the varying hills he will lose much headway, and may fall of the 36 miles speed required. He has three chances to "make good" in official trials. cial trials.

There are comparatively few dwellings along the course and most of those are negro cabins, but the farmers who live between Fort Myer and "Shutter Hill," the turning point, are filled with expectancy and view the event with varying emotions.

"When is the airship going to fly?" is the question flung at the signal officers at every opertunity. "Will it hunt my house if it lands on the roof?" is another of the anxious questions. And one gray bearded farmer who grumbled yesterday about "new fangled contraptions that couldn't let poor folks who mind their own business have any rest." declared that he would make trouble if his new field of corn was damaged by the blamed thing dropping into it."

Battleships, Torpedo-Boats and Submarines to Engage in Difficult Practices During the Entire Summer.

BOSTON, July 2-A tentative pro-ramme for the maneuvers of the great battleship fleet that will assemble at Provincetown next week for the Summer drill was announced today by Rear-Ad-miral Seaton Schroeder, who will command the largest and strongest aggrega-tion of warships that has ever assembled in American waters. There are to be 17 battleships, 6 auxiliarles, the torpedo flotilla of 12 boats, the submarine flotilla of boats and 3 scout cruisers. From July until late in August the fleet will engage a elaborate tactical maneuvers.

An important fact in connection with the reassembling of the Atlantic fieet is the addition of several new ships, and the almost complete change in the fleet and division commanders. The new ships are the New Hampshire, Idaho, Wiscon-sin and Mississippi. These replace the Illinois, Kentucky and Kearsarge.

The work laid out for the fleet will occupy every day and some of the nights, and includes fleet, squadron and division evolutions, offense and defense against torpedoboats and submarines, anchoring and getting under way in all classes of Workmen Caught in Trench 60 Feet Deep at Accident on Alexandria Canal Work.

NEWPORT, Monmouthshire, England, -It is estimated that 20 mer perished today by the sudden collapse of the west wall of the new lock at the entrance to the Alexandria dock. The extension of the dock work has been in progress for some time. Fifty men were working in a trench 60 feet deep, preparing for the laying of 60 feet deep, preparing for the laying of a concrete foundation, when the heavy shoring timbers suddenly gave way in the middle and the entire structure collapsed and carried down with it thousands of tons of earth, the railway lines on both sides of the trench, many cars and four traveling cranes.

The men at the bottom of the trench had no chance to escape, but many of them working nearer the surface were uninjured. Three men were taken out

ASSASSIN'S DEED STIRS UP BRITONS

Public Indignation Aroused Against Agitators for India Reform.

MORLEY CLOSELY GUARDED

Documents Found on Prisoner Express Desire to Kill Official and Call Englishmen Tyrants. Wyllie Friend of India.

LONDON, July 2.- The murder of Lieutenant-Colonel Sir William Hutt Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Cawas Lalcaca of Shanghai by Madar Lelof Dhinagri, an Indian student, Thursday night at the Imperial Institute has stirred England in a man-ner unknown since the Phoenix Park murders. It had been a subject for selfcongratulation by Englishmen that Great Britain was immune from political crimes of this nature.

Great sympathy is felti for Viscount Morley, Secretary of State for India, the difficulties of whose position are daily increased by the murder. Strong feeling has been aroused against certain members of the House of Commons and others who have encouraged the aritation others who have encouraged the agitation against the government. It is under-stood that Scotland Yard already has detailed detectives to follow Lord Morley and others connected with the Indian

Ambition to Kill "Tyrant."

Two documents were found on Dhinagri. One was a confession of a desire to take the life of a high official because he was dissatisfied with the British rule in India, and the other a sort of political creed referring to Englishmen as tyrants and having a suggestion of reward in heave for any one getting rid of prominer Britishers.

The assassin's family is said to be well-known at Amritsar, in the Punjab, where his father is a municipal leader, gives his age as 26.

Assassin Drunk With Bhang.

One of Madar's acquaintances makes the statement in the Chronicle that the assassin was drunk with bhang (an In-dian intoxicant). He contends that Madar visited some extremist club before going to the Imperial Institute, had his mind poisoned by a gang of conspirators to the point of committing murder and then was drugged with bhang and weapons placed in his pockets. The Daily Express calls loudly upon he government for measures to suppress he India house agitation in London, of ich Krishnavarma is the leading spirit. is now residing in Paris.

harged with willful murder In the dock the prisoner appeared quite nconcerned. He stood with his hands his pockets and shook his head nega-vely when asked if he wished to say anything. Subsequently, however, he said that he had not willfully killed Dr.

"As he advanced he caught hold of me, fired in self-defense," he declared. The Hindu prisoner was removed to jail under a strong guard. At the India office the murder of Colonel Wyllie, who was a political aide-de-camp to Lord Morley, Secretary of State for India, is declared to be entirely political. Colonel Wyllie, so far as is known, had had no personal dealings with Dhinagri, and the India office view is that the outrage was due to some imaginary grievance against the British Meeting in Interest of India.

The National India Association, under whose auspices the gathering at the Im-perial Institute was held, was formed for the purpose of establishing friendly relations between the peoples of Great Britalb and India. Sir Alfred and Lady Willett and the guests, who numbered 300 Anglo-Indian retired officers and members of the In-dian service, Indian officers, officials and students, were present. The scene was a brilliant one. There were present nany native Indians and women turesque native costumes, and, with the exception of the assassin, every one was evening dress.

Dhinagri was attired in ordinary morning dress and wore a turban. The to the function were placed with care, in order that they might fall only into the hands of reliable persons.
Lieutenant-Colonel Wyllie had spent his entire life working for the welfare of India.

Agitators Touring Over Country Speaking Against British.

He is preach-ing that the "Flat of God has gone out to the Indian nation to unite and to be free and great."
