Pressure Brought to Bear to Have Prosecutor Drop Spokane Charges.

DAUGHTER TO GET PLACE

Will Be Given State Position if Her Father Resigns, Is Report—Official Explains Grounds on Which He Asks Acquittal.

Spokane, Wash., July 5.—(Special.)—Pressure is being brought to bear on prosecuting Attorney Fitch, of Spokane county, to secure dismissal of indictments returned by the grand jury here, charging insurance Commissioner Schvly with embezzlement and perjury in connection with the Pacific Livestock Company.

The object of the dismissal is to open the way for Schvly to resign his state office and to choke off any further proceedings against him. Schvly has been assured that his daughter will be retained in a good position in a state office if he resigns.

If the impeachment charges come to trial before the Senate, acquittal will be asked on three grounds. The first is that Schvly is accused as State Insurance Commissioner of crimes alleged to have occurred while he was simply Deputy Commissioner, and that as Commissioner, he cannot now be held in jeopardy of his office for things that transpired before he occupied that office.

The second is that as Schvly was not a public official, but merely a deputy, and that his superior could have been legally answerable for the offenses.

The third argument for acquittal is that Schvly has not deprived the state of a single dollar it was legally entitled to.

Schvly's right to appeal to the Supreme Court if impeached, has aroused discussion. Some attorneys hold that he has the right, while others maintain that the Senate is the sole trial body in such cases.

Were Schvly's office abolished, however, it is held that he would have the right of appeal on the ground that he had been deprived of an office to which he was regularly elected without due process of law.

Schvly's friends are urging the dismissal of the indictments and retirement of Schvly as the best way out of the trouble. The indictment counts are incorporated in the charges to be brought before the Senate. Advocates of this course hold that in view of the heavy cost the impeachment proceedings must entail, Spokane county authorities could find it expedient to drop further prosecution.

EARHEART IS DEFIANT

INSISTS ONE PEOPLE INTENDED TO MURDER HIM.

Shooting Begins as Result of Man's Jealousy and Attempt to Choke Woman Friend.

HEPPNER, Or., July 5.—(Special.)—Charles Earheart, in jail here for shooting up the town of Ione Friday night, still insists that the people of that town wanted to murder him, and that he had not been drinking. He is awaiting an investigation of the affair by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Woodson.

Frank Geiger, brother of the shooting. It is said that Earheart filled up on bad whiskey during the afternoon, and in the evening went to the hotel conducted by Mrs. Geinger. Earheart made the demand because of jealousy.

Mrs. Geinger refused his demand, whereupon he grabbed her and began choking her.

Frank Wait, traveling auditor for the Wind River Lumber Company, was present, and forced Earheart to release his grip on the woman. This made Earheart furious, and he threatened to "get them all."

Earheart then left the hotel, followed by Mrs. Geinger. His next stop was Clark. Mrs. Geinger's son-in-law, drew a knife on Clark and threatened to kill him. Clark pulled out his revolver, and began firing. Mrs. Geinger grabbed with Clark and the five shots went wild. Earheart then went into the Pastime saloon and started to raise a disturbance. Here he threatened to "get" several people of the town, and to clean up the whole Geinger-Clark family.

Leaving the Pastime saloon, Earhart broke into the Walker & Tate hardware store, secured a shotgun and some shells, and entering the street from the rear, met with Clark, a brother of Henry's, in company with Charles Sperry. Earheart ordered the men to climb over the fence, and while complying with his request he opened fire on Clark, the shot taking effect in Clark's shoulder.

Citizens began gathering, and seeing Cashier Cronin and Ed Ball entering the bank, Earheart opened fire on the bank window. Cronin and Ball returned the fire, and were joined by other citizens also armed with shotguns, and half a hundred shots were sent flying in Earheart's direction. Earheart was badly wounded. Earheart took refuge under a tree, and later surrendered. He was slightly wounded, as were several other Ione citizens.

CHEHALIS, Wash., July 5.—(Special.)—This morning at 4 o'clock the McCormick Lumber Company plant, about 20 miles from here, on the South Bend branch road, was totally destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of about $200,000. The blaze, when first discovered, was a small one, in the boiler-house. There was not enough steam up at the time, however, to start the pumps going. Only a residence and small shingle mill were saved.

The McCormick plant employed about 200 men and was one of the best-equipped and largest mills in this section.

Telegraphic communication with McCormick having been cut off, it was impossible yesterday to learn the extent of the loss to the McCormick Lumber Company's property. J. E. Wheeler and owners of this city, are the principal owners of the property, which was purchased 18 months ago from Harry McCormick.

Mr. Wheeler said last night that he did not believe the loss would exceed $100,000, all of which was covered by insurance.

WOMAN BADLY BEATEN

DRUNKEN FARMHAND MAKES ASSAULT ON EMPLOYER.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fields, Living Near Stevenson, Removed to Hospital in Serious State.

STEVENSON, Wash., July 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Fields, a widow living with her son, Edward Fields, on a ranch three miles from Stevenson, was terribly beaten about the head yesterday by Jack Donovan, a farmhand, who had just returned from a Fourth of July spree, and is now lying in the local hospital, hovering between life and death. Donovan was taken prisoner today after an all-night chase by the Sheriff, and is locked up in the County Jail, awaiting the outcome of the woman's injuries.

According to the story pieced together by the Sheriff, Mrs. Fields' son went to Kalama yesterday to spend the Fourth with friends, leaving his mother and the farmhand alone on the ranch. Donovan asked permission to come to this town to see an acquaintance, and left the Fields place early in the morning. He spent the day here in rather jovial company, and started for the ranch late in the afternoon, much under the influence of liquor.

Mrs. Fields had meanwhile gone out to pick blackberries and was returning to her home just as Donovan came along the road. She is supposed to have rebuked him for his condition, and the man, angered at her words, beat her unmercifully over the head and shoulders with a Winchester rifle that he carried. After clubbing the woman into unconsciousness, he left her lying in the roadway, made his way to the ranch, and taking another gun, disappeared in the underbrush.

Parties passing along the road found Mrs. Fields lying in a pool of blood, with a broken rifle stuck nearby, and the bent barrel a little further off. She was brought to Stevenson, as were the clues to the crime. The woman was hurried to the hospital, and the Sheriff notified. He recognized the remains of the gun as the one he had seen Donovan often carry, and at once left in his pursuit with a couple of deputies.

The Sheriff came up with Donovan in the brush this afternoon. Donovan hesitated a minute, and then gave himself up without any struggle.
