BY W. J. PETRAIN.

Old Jupe Pluvius put one over on that chesty Seattle bunch yesterday, for the old sport up above managed to deluge the vicinity of Twenty-fourth and Vaughn streets with enough of the white ribbon wet goods to prevent Casey's Colts from hooking up with Dugdale's Turks, formerly known as the Siwashes, on their first appearance in Portland this season.

However, the doughty little manager of the Colts, backed up by Will G. Mac Rae, the business manager, says the Dugdale outfit is due for a trimming today. In view of the respective standing of the two clubs, there is room for some skepticism in receiving the statements of Messrs. Casey and Mac Rae. Still the loyal Portland fans are hoping they make good with a vengeance. The Seattle team is something of a team, despite the fact that the writer christened it a two-man affair sometime ago, yet Casey's bunch is not altogether a hopeless lot, and Dug, together with his major domo, Michael Angelo Lynch, otherwise known as the "Bull," may find it out before the week is over.

Players Glad of Day Off.

Jupe's interference yesterday was welcomed by the players, for they have been the goody-goody kids for sometime insofar as they have had few chances to take a day off and buzz a bit about past and present performances on the ball field. Players delight in fanning among themselves, but when the unsophisticated outsider butts in, the subject changes immediately. They don't like to buzz with the bugs.

The presence in town yesterday of the Seattle club, accompanied by the genial and rotund magnate, D. E. Dugdale, naturally stirred up the fans to a greater degree than for several weeks past, and there were many in evidence who were considerably disappointed at not being able to see the teams in action, but were satisfied that the ball grounds would not permit of a classy exhibition and took the postponement of yesterday's game in good part.

During the afternoon when it became known that there would be no game, Mike Lynch challenged Casey to a game of billiards, but Casey having put one over on the big pilot of the Siwashes, her pardon, the Turks, on two occasions at Seattle, declared that a third game was not necessary and forced Mike to look on while he proceeded to engage Umpire Ralph Frary in a contest of skill. The "umpe" was the king pin, just as he is when acting as autocrat of the diamond, and Casey was defeated, though the score was close enough to warrant a return game which may be played later in the week.

The Seattle club, league leaders and all that, comprise a husky bunch. Dugdale is especially proud of them because of their having trimmed Spokane last week, for Spokane is the club Seattle feared the most at the start of the season, and now that two successive series have been won by the "Turks," Seattle is quite chesty over the ability of Lynch's stalwarts.

Glad to Get Good Grounds.

Dugdale has 16 players with his club in Portland and Casey says he'll need more before the week is over. However, Mike Lynch is not worried and really admits that he likes the idea of getting on a real ball ground. Of course Mike admitted this when Dug was not around, but says he does not care to have it generally known. He says his team can beat any other team, even though the games are played in somebody's back yard.

Big Eddie Kinsella will pitch for Portland today, providing the weather man permits the affray, while Seattle will depend on Joe Seaton or "Little Rock" Allen.

SPOKANE WINS ON WET FIELD

Takes First Game of Series From Visiting Tacomans.

SPOKANE, July 6.—On a field so heavy that the runners wallowed from base to base and the fielders had every advantage, Spokane won the first game of the series with Tacoma, 2 to 0.

The Tigers looked dangerous in the second, but Holm retured the third man on a sharp grounder. James opened the Indians' half of the second with a shot that caromed off Newlin's shin. Clynes advanced him with a sacrifice and he took third on Stevens' infield out. Burnett smashed the first pitched ball between Coleman and Bresino and James trotted in. Tacoma threatened again in the third, filling the bases, with two out, by a hit, a fielder's choice and a pass, but Holm fanned Bender to retire the side. Bender's muff and Stevens' long double gave the Indians another in the sixth. Score:

NEW UMPIRE SELECTED FOR NORTHWESTERN LEAGUE

KIRBY J. DRENNAN.

As the Northwestern League season of 1909 has advanced to a stage where the teams are now fighting in mid-season form, President Lucas has added another umpire to his staff. The new man is Kirby J. Drennan, better known as Jack, and one of the best-liked ball players who ever wore a uniform in the Northwest. Umpire Drennan will be detailed to work with Umpires Flynn, Carruthers and Frary alternately and thereby relieve each of these officials of the strain occasionally.

Umpire Drennan has had considerable experience in this line, for he has umpired during the past two seasons and has given satisfaction. He did not enter the lists earlier this season because he was interested in a business venture.

TINY BONE BROKEN

Ketchel Really 'Wounded' in Fight With Papke.

WILL SURELY MEET BLACK

Johnson and Langford Schedules to Be Carried Out After Young Fighter Gets Rest and New Course of Training.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—(Special.)—With his hands swathed in bandages and a black ring around his left eye, Stanley Ketchel strolled through the corridor of the St. Francis lobby last night, explaining to those he met how he injured his hands and why he failed to knock out Papke. It is said that an examination showed he broke the os magnum, which happens to be one of the smallest bones in the wrist. The sporting fraternity has not placed much credence in the fractured-hand story, and is rather inclined to believe that Ketchel has paid too much attention during his training life to women and wine. He certainly is not the old Ketchel.

Both Ketchel and Britt declare that the contract to fight Jack Johnson in October will be carried out, and Britt says that if any one will offer a good purse for a Langford fight, the Boston middleweight will be given a chance. It is generally the opinion, however, that there was much lacking in Ketchel's work on Monday, and that he would have little chance against the heavyweight champion.

If Coffroth is agreeable, however, the original programme will be carried out. Ketchel will leave for the mountains in a few days to take a thorough rest.

The receipts of the fight were $18,700. Ketchel received something like $8000, while Papke's loser's share was $2600. Ketchel, however, bet $2500 that he would win inside of 12 rounds.

PAPKE SIGNS UP FOR FLYNN

Will Take Ketchel's Place, as That Fighter's Hands Are Bad.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Billy Papke, who lost by decision to Stanley Ketchel in their 20-round fight yesterday, signed articles today for a 10-round match with Jim Flynn, of Colorado, at Los Angeles, July 17.

The match was originally arranged for Ketchel and Flynn, but the former would not sign up, stating that "his injured hands would need more time to heal."

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 6.—Fifty thousand dollars changed hands as the result of wagers on last night's Fourth of July Marathon race. Jerry Sullivan, of Nome, won; Arthur Hyde, second; Justin H. Jorth, third. Time, 2:50. The purse was divided, $1500, $500 and $200.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 6.—(Special.)—With the score tied and two men out in the last half of the ninth inning, Truck Egan smashed a single past second base and sent Brashear across the plate with the winning run, making the score of the Vernon-Portland game here today 4 to 3, with Portland taking the short end.

But a small crowd attended this, the opening game of the Vernon-Portland series at the South Side Park. Egan's hit was timely in every sense of the word. The small crowd of fans had been squirming about the bleachers over two hours, waiting for something that looked like real, sure-enough baseball, and the prospect of any extra innings was anything but pleasing to them.

Home Runs Liven Game.

Two smashing home runs, one by Fisher over the center field fence, and the other over right field wall by Bernard, livened things a little for the time being, and gave the bugs something to howl about, but the "between drinks" was long. The interludes in M-minor, furnished by Hogan, who gave several selections on the mouth-organ in reply to a couple of decisions by the umpire, helped some, too.

What looked like some doings happened in the fourth, all the players taking a hand in the side show. No one on the benches seemed to know what the trouble was, and for that reason held aloof until the affair was over. After Haley struck out, McCredie sent Garrett to relieve Druhot, who was not rapidly recovering from his early wildness. Coy was walking to bat when Hogan saw the pitcher going in; he recalled Coy and sent Willets to the plate.

Changes in Box.

Then McCredie, noticing the change in the batting order, decided to let Druhot stay awhile in the box, and Hogan changed his mind likewise. Jimmy Toman got into the game with both feet, wanting to know what was what and who was going to do it. The jawing lasted some little time before the game went on.

George Van Haltren made his first appearance here as umpire, and the fans gave him one rousing welcome.

"The Malleable"

"THE RANGE INDESTRUCTIBLE"

—the range that appeals to common sense, through its severely plain lines and elegant finish and by its easily demonstrated practical perfection in cooking efficiency and fuel economy. It is the range that possesses every quality to fully meet every demand —the range that combines the sterling malleable construction with the best modern improvements. Riveted throughout, like a boiler, "The Malleable" will, with proper care, last a lifetime. It is the product of experienced range-builders, and it is by them that all parts are assembled—all fitting points accurately brought together—all drafts carefully adjusted. The tops of these ranges are of polished malleable iron—very smooth—and there is no blacking required to keep it looking bright and new. "The Malleable" is the range that we will guarantee in every way—and the one that with proper care will last a lifetime.

"The Malleable" Combination

This range is a practical and convenient combination for cooking with gas, coal or wood—the range for all seasons. It embodies the same sterling constructive features as the regular range, having also complete gas equipment for cooking, baking and water heating. Besides the gas oven, "The Malleable" combination has five surface burners and top and bottom broilers. Nothing has been spared to make the combination range the crowning feature of range building and its construction and arrangement, combine for utility, economy, convenience and durability.

WHITE SOX REINFORCED

COMISKEY SIGNS UP TWO NEW PLAYERS TO AID TEAM.

Gandil Is' Secured From Pacific Coast League for Goodly Price After Tussle.

CHICAGO, July 6.—(Special.)—President Comiskey, of the White Sox, today started to check that sorely harrassed team in its mad dash for the cellar by signing two new players. The pair are Arnold Gandil and Eddie Stack. Gandil at present is playing first base for the Sacramento team in the Pacific Coast League. Stack is a local semi-pro.

There was some sprinting done by the magnates for Gandil. Both the Boston Nationals and Roger Bresnahan of the St. Louis Cardinals were after the Californian after Lou Heilbronner of Cincinnati had passed him up last Fall, while playing with Shreveport. After that Gandil went to join the Fresno outlaw club in California, and early this Spring Sacramento got him in the big raid on the outlaws.

It is understood that Comiskey has planked down $3000 for him.

CORBETT GETS HIS RELEASE

Pitcher, Famed Once, Tells Long He Isn't Worth His Price.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—(Special.)—Joe Corbett, the famous ex-Oriole pitcher, whose cunning a few years ago was the wonder and talk of the baseball world from ocean to ocean, was given his release by Manager D. W. Long, of the San Francisco club today. The release was brought about through an amicable understanding. Corbett has not been able to secure what he needed—control. He went to Long this afternoon and told the manager that he did not think he was able to give value received, and suggested that he be released. Long, while anxious to retain the twirler, agreed that he did not have the control necessary for a winning club, and let him go.

Corbett will likely not join any club at the present time, although he is a free agent. He still believes that more work will bring him into shape.

KOESTNER BOUGHT FOR EAST

Angel Pitcher Secured for Cleveland Nine Next Year.

CLEVELAND, July 6.—(Special.)—The Cleveland club purchased Pitcher Koestner of the Los Angeles club in the Pacific Coast League this evening. He will not report until next Spring.

Scout "Jim" McGuire recommended him to the Cleveland club. He is the most successful pitcher in the Pacific Coast League this season, standing six feet two inches tall and just 21 years of age. McGuire believes he should be a good man.

Seifert, in a Stoddard-Dayton, made two laps in 15 minutes an average of 67.2 miles an hour. Dingley in a Chalmers-Detroit car made three laps in 22 minutes, and Hanashue in the Apperson, reeled off one lap at a 70-mile clip.

Higgins Honors in Golf Go to Eastern Team in Final Play-Off.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The Higgins' trophy offered to teams of the Women's Western Golf Association went to the Midlothian Country Club, of Chicago, today by virtue of the play-off tie by that club and the Los Angeles club.

The Midlothian golfers finished 15 down on par (102 for women), while their Los Angeles rivals were 18 down. When the contest was held a week ago, Midlothian and Los Angeles were a tie, each being six down.

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—The women's team of the Los Angeles Country Golf Club, playing off the tie today with the Midlothian Club, of Chicago, in the tourney of the Western Golf Association for the Higgins' trophy, turned in a score of 18 down on par.

SEATTLE RACES DECLARED OFF

Harness Attractions Don't Draw Enough to Pay Expenses.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 6.—(Special.)—Because of the lack of patronage received by the Western Washington Fair Association since opening its programme, it has been decided at a meeting of the association to discontinue the races, although they have been advertised to take place for the next 10 days.

The association has put up one of the best programmes seen here, but the gate receipts were so small as not even to provide for the purses offered on the first day's races. To the fact that no pools have been sold is attributed the lack of interest in the game.
