FRUIT CANNING.

Every lover of ice cream and soda drinks has noticed the difference in the refreshing effects, though perhaps few know the reason why a drink of one fountain leaves a sweet and unsatisfied taste, while at another, ideally freshened, the principal reason is this: At most fountains the crushed fruit has been diluted with simple syrups, thus making what should be a quart of pure fruit go much further. In this way you lose much of the fruit flavor. At Pearce's you are served with pure crushed fruit and concentrated fruit juices; they have a natural process of preparing all kinds of fruit so as to retain the fruit flavor, they use the real fruit and fruit together as nature mixed them, for all their ice creams, candies, chocolate creams and fruit confections. Pearce's Soda Fountain and Candy Kitchen, the Royal Bakery, Washington-street store.
