President Declares Champlain Memorial to Be Unique and Rejoices at Good Relations With Canada.

BURLINGTON, July 8.—President Taft's participation in the Lake Champlain terentenary celebration ended today and he left here at 11 o'clock tonight for Washington, where tomorrow afternoon he will ington, where tomorrow arternoon he wan confer with House and Senate lenders on the tariff bill, which is about to enter its final stages. The President declared in his speech here today that the Champiain celebration would fill a unique place in history as the memorial of a renewed expression of amity between Great Britisin.
France and the United States. During the afternoon Mr. Tart saw the Indian pageant of Hiawatha given on floats near the yacht club wharf. Tonight he was a guest at a banquet.

Mr. Taft; after paying compliments to he State of Vermont in his speech at City Hall Park, said:

Most Unique Memorial.

"My friends, this celebration is a most nique and many-sided memorial. We We meet to celebrate an event and a man on whose life and on the acts of whose life turned, in a way which he little expected, the whole settlement of this country. We meet here to celebrate his virtues and to congratulate France, his country, as one that could produce such a heart that could produce such a here.

"But the feature of this memorial that I think is so unique is the gathering here In amity, in peace and in a union that cannot be torn apart, of three great powers, England, France and the United States, and with England's fairest daughter, the Dominion of Canada. I ask you where in all the history of memorials can you find one which in that respect will match this?"

Like the President, Ambassador Jusserand, of France, and Ambassador Bryce, of Great Britain, spoke again of the hope of enduring peace.

Break Up Both Sections.

At the gymnasium building of the University of Vermont, Mr. Taft, in his ban-quet speech tonight expressed his appre-ciation of this state's hospitality. He then discussed the political situation in

"I have been a good deal interested," the President said, "in trying to break up in a sense—not exactly in a political sense—but in a sense that you will understand, that of feeling and sentiment-the solid South. And when I have sug-gested that, the irreverent Southern politician has suggested that it is about time to break up the solid North and referetices are made to the fact that Vermont is just about as solid as Alabama and what the effect on Vermont "Well, what the effect on Vermont would be if the South were really to break up and some of those states become Republican, perhaps we cannot say. It is my own theory that Vermont and many another Northern state has been made solidly Republican because there was a solid South and one of the benefits of breaking up a solid South would be of breaking up a solid South would be that there would be no solidity anywhere

Relations With Canada.

"We have discussed at considerable length the effect of this memorial upon length the effect of this memorial upon our international relations. It cannot but be good. It is, as I said this morning, a memorial that in this regard you cannot match, the world over. But what I am especially glad to welcome is the intimacy of relation that such memorials as this are any to increase between this as this are apt to increase between this country and Canada. They have 9,000,000 of people, but the country is still hardly scratched; it is still undeveloped.

"Now, they are going on; they are building railroads; they are exercising great discretion and they are taking from us many of our best farmers who are in search of rich wheat fields. All these search of rich wheat fields. All these things, if we adopted a short-sighted policy, would perhaps arouse in us a jealousy and a desire to prevent a growth jealousy and a desire to prevent a growth on their part into what we might regard as a competitor of ours. That, I think, is a most short-sighted policy. They cannot have a prosperity that we cannot and must not share. And we cannot have a prosperity on our side that they will not derive a benefit from.

Bring Union of Feeling.

"Therefore, each may look upon the growth of the other with entire complacency and with an earnest desire that the ideals and ambitions that they have formed may be considered. formed may be carried to fruition, and I am slad that these celebrations, these memorials, are permanent steps forward in bringing about that union of feeling and sentiment and neighborhood effect that ought to be encouraged between those two great powers on the North American continent."

Colombian Uprising May Result in Division of Republic Into Sections.

Report That Dissolution of Present Nation Is Planned Causes Peaceful Citizens Much Nervousness and Worry.

PANAMA, July 8.-Mail advices reelved from Colombia report a critical condition of affairs in that republic. As e result of the departure of President Reyes for Europe, the various political parties, which a few months ago seemed to be united, are now completely disorganized and there are indications that ombia is on the verge of a great revo-

The movement on July 4 at Barranquilla was successful, the revolutionists capturing the forts, the Magdalena River boats and the custom-houses. About 89 percent of the importations into Colombia pass through Barranquilla, so that the revolutionists will not lack for funds. At first it was believed that the move-nent was headed by a coalition of Con-servatives and Liberals, but it is now learned that the Liberals refused to join in the rising, which was engineered by the ultra-Conservatives. No advices have been received here as to how the move-ment has been accepted by the rest of Colombia, but there are rumors that a serious situation exists at Bogota.

There is a rumor, also, that certain influential Colombians are publicly in favor of following Panama's example and con-stituting a new republic, to be formed of the departments of Cauca and Antio-quia and a part of Belivar. Fears are entertained by Colombians who are inclined to peace that the situation will get beyond the control of the President-Designate, General Holguin, who is, however, considered an able statesman statesman. It is considered probable that Congress will not be convened on July 20, as in-tended, as it would be liable to elect a successor to President Reyes, who under the existing circumstances will not be likely to satisfy all parties. The desire of President Holguin and his advisers is to do nothing that would serve further to develop political pas-

.... Miss Lizzie Hudson Collier Mr. Robert Smith, the Drainman RogersBen Field

PORTRAYING the stinging rebuke of the spirit of truth, the spirit of true Socialism, the idea of brotherhood, the Christ, the superman, whatever you may please to call it, upon the sham, the hypocrisy, the spirit of this world, a great play, "The Servant in the House," was given at the Bungalow last night. A problem play, truly, is this, full of symbolism, with a tendency to the mys-ticism, not of Maeterlinck, but rather of Shaw, yet with a more definite spirit-liked here. His part is not overdrawn, and as the embodiment of the grasping, purse-proud churchman, his acting is consistent at all times. Charles Dalton as the drainman occupies a pivotal posi-tion as the man who sees the light and who is changed. His climax is well done. Ben Field, a page boy, makes the most of his opportunities.

"The Servant in the House" will be repeated at the Bungalow tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. Runs Away From Detention Home.

Margaret Merrill, a 14-year-old charge of the Detention Home, 231 Rosemont avenue, ran way from the institution at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and search for her was made in vain last night. The girl, whose mother is an actress, was placed in the home several months ago, and this is the second time she has run away. ticism, not of Maeterlinck, but rather of Shaw, yet with a more definite spiritual trend than Shaw is capable of. Well acted is it, too, by a company of convincing men and women, the Henry Miller Associated players.

Into a house of turmoil, with cross purposes rampant through the worldly love of a woman for her husband, enters the servant who is the master. Quietly he servant who is the master. Quietly he goes about his work of making straight the paths of right and duty in this house, guiding the immates along the right way, teaching how to discern the true from the fulse and showing at the end how human endeavor may bring the truth into daily life.

All the members of the cast are good. Wilfred Roser, as Manson, the servant, made up after pictures of the Christ, has dignity and power. He moves through the action with love for all his brothers, but heavy rebuke for sham and dogmatism. Milton Sills, the vicar, is conwincing as the man who turns from worldly religion to the true, not only learning himself the emptiness of the material, but teaching his wife as well that her love has been tainted with the material, but teaching his wife as well that her love has been tainted with the desires of unreality. Miss Lizzle Hudsoff Coiller, the vicar's wife, makes her love for her husband very real, and ries to heights of good acting in the little touches that convey her idea of love. Miss Gwladys Wynne, Mary the niece, uses Judgment and poise in her part and is likeable as a sweet English girl. The Bishop of Lancashire is excellently done by George W. Wilson, who is known and
