SOCIETY IS FOR YOUNG

DR. COLEMAN WOULD SEVER CONTROL FROM BISHOPS.

Epworth League Meets in International Convention at A.-Y.-P. Fair in Seattle.

SEATTLE, July 8.—The movement to make the Epworth League more democratic, to take it out of the hands of the bishops and dignitaries, found expression at this afternoon's session of the international convention when Rev. Dr. J. H. Coleman, of Albany, N. Y., speaking out upon the subject, of whom probably one-third were gray-haired, said:

"I don't like this audience. There are too many old persons—too many gray heads. The Epworth League should be for young people. The place of the mothers and fathers should be in the prayer meeting, in the church."

A great majority of the delegates are youthful, but these do not attend the convention, where there is nothing to be voted on, the board of control transacting all the business. The younger delegates are to be found at the world's fair grounds and otherwise sight-seeing.

Dr. Chown, of Toronto, discussing the social unrest, deprecated the trend to Socialism. He said:

"If adopted, socialism would necessitate a quasi-military system in industry. Every reform must have a religious basis. An industrial system with a secular foundation must fail. The doctrine that each man must look out for himself is atheism applied to business. The millionaire and the tramp are alike loafers in the sight of God, whose only way of making the desert bloom is by the sweat of his brow. He who corners the market, or in other ways takes advantage of his fellows, is a thief and robber."

This was the busiest day on the whole programme, there being morning, afternoon and night sessions, occupied by singing, optional exercises and addresses by leaders of the Methodist Church. Most of the flood-bound delegates have arrived and only a few hundred are yet to arrive. A party of 60 from New York City, who were in the Royal George blockade in Colorado.

The speakers tonight were Rev. Purley A. Baker, of Columbus, O., president of the National Anti-Slavery League and Rev. J. H. Sherman, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions.

The gavel used at today's sessions was presented by the Rev. W. H. Sheridan, Wyo. Its head is made of wood from the old Methodist Church at Girardeau, Mo., the first house of worship erected in that denomination west of the Mississippi River. The handle is of wood from the mast of the Spanish galleon Reina Christina, sunk by Admiral Dewey at Manila.

NORMAL FURNITURE SOLD

State Building at Weston Is Dis-mantled to Pay Claims.

WESTON, Or., July 8.—(Special.)—The dormitory furniture of the Weston Normal, including furniture of several rented cottages used by students who could not be enrolled at the school, is being shipped to Walla Walla, where nearly all of it was purchased by one firm of dealers. The shipments will aggregate 100 carloads or more, and include a number of pianos.

WILL INVOLVE POLITICIANS.

A tremendous sensation is promised when Miss Barrett takes the stand to deny Miss Gingles' story. Attorney O'Donnell, for Miss Gingles, is said to be in possession of a mass of evidence still more sensational than anything brought out, in which persons connected with this case are involved. It is said that, if an opening is presented, the names of highly prominent politicians and others will be brought out in connection with unpeppable orgies in a South Side resort, as the result of which a young girl died in fearful agony. It will be alleged, it is said, that the same persons who tried to make a white slave of Ella Gingles conducted this resort.

Crippled Scissor-Grinder at Colfax Meets Distressing Delay.

COLFAX, Wash., July 8.—L. W. Boggs, aged 53, a crippled scissor-grinder of Ellerton, and Mrs. Addie Keller, of Pullman, who is almost deaf and dumb, secured a marriage license at Colfax Monday, intending to be married at Pullman Wednesday. A certificate of Pullman issued by Dr. C. H. Russell, of Pullman, but Boggs missed the train at Colfax, and did not have the proper funds to reach Pullman and could not get a loan. Boggs offered only $4, which he refused. Boggs claimed to have 300 acres of land at Heppner, Or., and 800 acres at Livermore, Cal., but the wedding was postponed, and Keller has been advised to make diligent inquiry as to Boggs' property before the ceremony is performed.

The prospective bride and bridegroom formerly lived at Tangent, Or.

TEACHERS TO MEET ON PACIFIC COAST

Select San Francisco and Snub High School Frats and Suffragists.

ALSO SCHOOLBOOK TRUST

Discord Begins When Islanders Assert Claim to Independence, but Laughers Greet Cry "Votes for the Women."

DENVER, July 8.—San Francisco will be the next meeting-place of the National Educational Association. The board of directors of the association, breaking precedent in the respect that conventions heretofore never have been held either East or West twice in succession, decided to hold the next gathering on the Pacific Coast. There were two other strong bidders for the prize—Milwaukee and Boston.

Refurb to Book Trust.

The election of James Yadin Joyner, Superintendent of Public Instruction of North Carolina, as president of the National Educational Association, this afternoon, led up to a series of parliamentary situations that threatened for a time to rend the inner circle of the association. Mr. Joyner was elected on the second ballot, and his rise to the presidency was cause for gratification on the part of the enemies of the so-called "book trust."

Frown on High School Frats.

As soon as the result of the vote was announced the committee on resolutions reported. One section of the resolution referred to the "Democracy of the Schools," and maintained that to preserve this democracy in full vigor the high school fraternities should be abolished. Instantly there was a commotion in the outskirts of the meeting. But it did not last long, for the resolutions committee evidently knew what it was about and the anti-fraternity clause went through without debate. Henceforth the fraternities will meet with the official frowns in the high school.

Islanders Cry for Independence.

The militant spirit of independence burst forth. It was instigated by Edwin G. Dexter, Commissioner of Education for the Territory of Hawaii, who urged the resolution urging that Congress should confer citizenship upon the people of Porto Rico. He said this resolution would be the great aid to the islands, as it would be a glowing reward of merit to hold before the eyes of the Porto Rican to tell him he would become a citizen of the United States. But Mr. Dexter emphasized too strongly the word citizenship, for the resolution, as it stood, did not propose to confer citizenship upon the Filipino. He said they had been nurtured for 15 years under the flag, and that far the only civilizing influence they had felt was the water cure.

"Votes for Women—Ha Ha."

"Now if there is going to be any freedom advanced here," she said, "I want to make another amendment. If the savages of Porto Rico and of the Philippines are going to get support here I will give the vote of that nation to the women of the United States."

Election Is Peaceable.

The election altogether was more peaceful than was expected, though the tumult taken were close. Irwin Shepherd, of Winona, Minn., was re-elected secretary. A life honor already conferred, A. H. Chamberlain, of California, was re-elected treasurer and Lorenzo D. Harvey, the retiring president, was elected first vice-president. The report of the treasurer showed expenditures of $23,000 and a balance of $300.
