TAGGART CLEARED OF ALL CHARGES

Voluntarily Testifies and Is Exonerated by Ella Gingles' Lawyer.

SAYS HE NEVER KNEW GIRL

Knew Agnes Barrette as Manicurist at French Lick-State Hurts Own Case in Effort to Clear Taggart's Name.

CHICAGO, July 9 .- (Special.)-The deat? CHICAGO, July 9.—(Special.)—The death of a brother of Juror Rudolph Williams interrupted the Ella Gingles trial today after "Tom" Taggart, the Indiana politician and hotel-keeper had appeared as a voluntary witness and told that he did not know the meaning of the phrase "white slave trade," and declared that he had no knowledge of any effort that might have been made to sell the Gingles girl into a life of shame at French Lick girl into a life of shame at French Lick Springs. Because of Mr. Williams' bereavement the case was adjourned to next Monday morning.

The effort of Attorney P. H. O'Donnell to show, upon his cross-examination of Mr. Taggart, that it was Attorney Eugene O. Best, of 38 Jackson boulevard, who first made public the name of Mr. Tag-gart in connection with the Gingles case was met with stout denial by Mr. Best.

State Hurts Own Case.

The denial of Mr. Best, while placing Mr. O'Donnell in the light of attempting to clear himself of the publication charge by shifting the burden of blame to the shoulders of another man, worked also the other way and completely knocked the prope from under the allegation of the state that the name of Mr. Taggart was put into the mouth of Elia Gingles by Mr. O'Donnell or some one else interested in her defense. And it went a long way toward breaking the contention of the state that the Gingles girl lied when she said that she first heard the name of Mr. Taggart in Agnes Barrette's room in the Wellington Hotel on the night of January 4, just before Miss Barrette and Mrs. Cecilis Kenyon began their alleged abuse

Taggart Knew Miss Barrette.

Mr. Taggart stated that he had lived in Indiana for 36 years and that he was married and had been in the hotel busi-ness at French Lick Springs for a great many years. He had been Mayor of In-dianapolis and chairman of the National

He got acquainted with Miss Barrette when she worked as a manieure for a man named Gibson, at French Lick. Gibson sold out to her and the witness re-rented the apartments in one of his

His evidence was here interrupted by a His evidence was here interrupted by a wrangle between attorneys which closed with this statement from Mr. O'Donnell: "I want it distinctly understood that Mr. Taggert's name was brought into this case over my protest. We have proof that Miss Gingles was never acquainted with Mr. Taggert and his name was mentioned only indirectly to her. It might have been any one of 10,000 names of wealthy men, but it happened to be Mr. Taggert and in this particular, Mr. Taggert is unfortunate."

Did Not Know Ella Gingles.

Mr. Taggert then denied knowing Miss Gingles, whose eyes were glued on the witness as he spoke. She took in every detail of his light suit, his low shoes and witness as he spoke. She took in every detail of his light suit, his low shoes and the diamond which sparkled on his cravat. "Did you ever hear of Miss Gingles before this case?" continued Mr. Short, before this case?" continued Mr. Short, some body brought me a paper containing the name of Miss Gingles and Miss Barrette." "You were not subpensed here by the state, were you?"

"I was not subpensed by anybody. I heard that my name was being used, and as a man of family, came to clear my name from the shadow that must have been thrown over it."

Mr. O'Donnell here emphasized his statement exongrating Mr. Tagger had statement exonerating Mr. Taggert, but was accused by Mr. Short of having given the newspapers statements menning Mr. Taggert's name. Mr. O'Don-Il denied this, saying: 'I am not an assassin.'

Girl Hysterical, but Not Drugged.

Dr. H. A. Wafson, house physician of the Wellington Hotel, testified that on the night of the outrage he found Ella Gin-gos fied to a bathtub, her hands tied to-

"She was hysterical, but not uncon-scious. The pupils of her eyes showed that she had not been drugged. I asked her name and she told me, and asked me to send for Mr. O'Donnell and Chief of Detectives O'Brien. Then she screamed: 'I won't go into that cab; I won't drink any more wine; they threw pepper into my eyes.' I examined her, but found no evidences of an attack, save a few slight "You say there was blood on her leg?"

AERIAL ARTISTS IN CIRCUS

Greatest Performing Troupes Carried by Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows.

In the serial branch of circus art the really star performers possess the most thrilling interest for everybody and are pre-eminently strong with the Hagen-beck-Wallace Shows which exhibit here beck-Wallace Shows which exhibit here next Monday and Tuesday. They present an unparalleled number of the greatest and most venturesome and original male and female midair trapeze, horizontal bar, floating ring, invisible wire and funambulistic experts in the strongest and most startling and stupendous flights, dives evolutions, catches and combinations.

The famous flying act known as the Seven Flying Lloyds is eminently prominent because of sensational achievements that that have given it world-wide fame, They have appeared in every capital in every country on the Continent of Europe and are now completing a tour of the world, embracing one season in this country with the Hagenbeck-Waliace Shows.
This company comprises men with the forms of an Adonis and the aerial skill of a Mercury, and the women each a flying Venus would be but a mild description.

They are not alone in the field of aerial exploit with the Hagenbeck Wallace Shows, for there are scores of other com-panies and individuals who participate in the midair circus. The famous De Koch Trio, whose feats on an apparently in-visible wire stretched high beneath the dome of the tent, would be considered marvelous, even if performed on the ground. No equilibristic performance of any time has equalled this in sensationalism. There are troupes of aerial artists high horizontal bar performers and sensational diving somersaulters who are the acknowledged champions of their class, all of whom help to conjure up a mind pleture of the miraculous performances in the air at these great shows. Never be fore has such a large and astonishing ag gregation of aerialists been gathered to gether under canvas with any show

AGREES TO PLEAD GUILTY. THEN CHANGES MIND.

Officials Believe Offense Charged of Setting Fire to Timber Only Technical.

Charles Page, so he said afterwards, "lost his head" when he was taken before Judge Bean of the Federal Court, yesterday, after he had told the United States District Attorney he would plead guilty to a charge of setting fire to Government timber.

Page had previously pleaded "not guilty," but within the last few days an understanding was reached whereby the District Attorney was to move the dismissal of one of two indictments against Page if he would plead guilty to the other.

Relying on Page's promise, Deputy District Attorney Wyatt yesterday made a strong recommendation to Judge Bean for clemency, and recommended that the minimum fine be imposed. posed.

"Is the defendant in court?" asked Judge Bean.

Judge Bean.

Page arose, and when asked by Judge Bean if he desired to change his plea to one of "guilty," replied:
"No. I am not guilty, Judge."

Page was advised to consult his attorney, Claude Strahan, who had previously been appointed by the court to defend him, and the matter will be taken up again today.

Page is about 65 years old, and is somewhat eccentric. He has a placer claim in the Siskiyou forest reserve, and after the indictments were found. and after the indictments were found against him was permitted to return to his claim without bail. About the first of the month he was notified to appear for trial July 8. Page started to walk the entire distance to Portland, which is about 450 miles. After he had traveled afoot for nearly 100 miles he encountered an old friend, who, on hearing his story, provided the old man with a token to Portland. old man with a ticket to Portland.

Page asserts that the indictments have been brought against him as the result of a conspiracy to gain posses-sion of his gravel bed. He at one time leased the claim to S. A. Deardoff, D. W. Jackson and William Harkness, and these are the complaining witnesses. For an exhibit in the trial the District Attorney has a photograph of a large Attorney has a photograph of a large tree which has a burned-out hole in the trunk. GRAIN THIEVES CAPTURED

Officers Catch Them Trying to Sell Their Loot.

Two boxcar thieves were captured by Detectives Craddock and Mallett last night at 9 o'clock and were landed in the City Jall after virtually being caught in the act. The men are ac-cused of stealing two sacks of grain from a car at the foot of Johnson street. They gave the names of Wil-liam Cains, 63 years old, and James Dunn, 55 years old. Both men look like hardened criminals.

The officers were attracted to the men through hearing them bargaining for the sale of the grain. They followed the suspects and confronted them as they were about to remove the grain from where it was secreted in the grass near the railroad tracks. The offlicers investigated and found the car had been broken into. The men were unable to explain how they came by the grain, so were placed under arrest. neither prisoner is known to the Port-

Entire Stock of the CrawfordShoeStore

To Be Sacrificed Without Reference to Cost or Profit

Impressed by the progressive spirit and business possibilities of Portland, C. H. Baker-who has built up a wonderful shoe business in California on the simple basis of giving his patrons more for the money than they could get at other stores-has bought stock, fixtures and lease of the "Crawford" Shoe Store, and will extend his admirable shoe-selling system to this city just as soon as the "Crawford" stock is disposed of.

The "Crawford" is one of the newest shoe enterprises of this City. The stock is all new and reflects every whim and fancy of ultra shoe fashion, but Baker wishes to introduce his California system in its entirety; no one line of shoemaking is comprehensive enough for the Baker programme of serving all the people. He draws on ALL of the leading brands and adds new ones trequently.

Don't confound this offering with any ordinary "shoe sale"; its promises are not exaggerated—they mean just what they say.

"Crawford" prices are stamped on the shoes before they leave the factory; they are determined absolutely by what goes into the shoes. These reduced prices mean a sacrifice of more than ordinary profits.
